AVERY SEEMS TO RUN WARD'S AFTER SEIZURE

Courts Apparently Will Decide Row.

FOES TELL POSITIONS. Statements by President Roosevelt and by Chairman Sewell L. Avery of Ward's on army seizure of plants are on page 7.

BY FRANK CIPRIANI.

(Pictures on pages 6 and 7 and back page.)

Who actually controls the Chicago properties of Montgomery Ward & Co., seized by the United States army yesterday under Presidential decree, last night was a question unanswered. Maj. Gen. Joseph W. Byron, named by the government as director of Ward establishments in Chicago and six other cities, had read the seizure order to the company officials. Sewell L. Avery, 70, chairman of Ward's, refused to recognize the legality of the seizure order and remained in his office.

At the close of the business day, Avery, to all outward appearances, was still the operating chief of Ward's. The military position, implied rather than expressed, was that authority to direct Ward's business rests with Gen. Byron—not with Avery. There were seemingly well authenticated reports that this time the matter will be threshed out in the courts.

Seizures in Six Other Cities.

Developments yesterday:

1. Ward stores and plants were taken over by the army, under Gen. Byron's name, in Detroit, Mich.; St. Paul, Minn.; Denver, Colo.; Jamaica, N. Y.; Portland, Ore., and San Rafael, Cal. No objections to the seizures were offered by Ward officials in any of those cities.

2. The federal government filed a petition in the United States District court in Chicago seeking judicial affirmation of its claimed right to seize and operate civilian plants because of war necessity.

3. Members of local 20 of the United Retail, Wholesale, and Department Store Employes' CIO union went out on a strike at 6 a. m. and called it off less than six hours later at the army's request after the military had entered the Ward offices.

4. Ward's filed suit for $50,000 damages in Detroit against local 332 of the union for loss allegedly caused by 50 pickets who rioted in Ward's store in Dearborn, Mich., two days ago.

Clash Over Powers of WLB.

Ward's conflict with the government grew out of the company's dispute with local 20 of the CIO union, certified employe bargaining agent. Ward's has refused to obey orders issued by the war labor board on the ground that the board's orders are merely advisory and not mandatory and on the further ground that they tend unconstitutionally to create a closed shop.

It was to enforce the WLB's orders that President Roosevelt instructed the army to take physical control of the mail order house's properties.

All day Avery remained in his private office and gave orders. At the close of the day he was asked by the army if officers today might use offices in the big office building at 618 Chicago av., and Avery said

Joe Mondo.

Joe Mondo, 33, accused of committing political violence on behalf of his uncle, State Rep. James J. Adduci in the 1942 campaign, was found shot to death last night in his automobile at 14th st. and Wolcott av.

The slaying bore all the aspects of a gangland assassination. Mondo, apparently driving east in 14th st., was shot twice in the head and his automobile was found rammed against a car parked at the curb.

Several hours later Joseph Kocurek, 28, of 1228 S. Wood st., found a .38 caliber revolver with two of its three cartridges fired in front of 1832 Washburne av., a few blocks from the murder scene. Police checked the number—324290—in an effort to trace the owner.

Police began a search for James Battaglia, Patsy Clementi, and Marshall Cafano, three west side gang figures, for questioning about the murder.

Shot Twice in Head.

Deputy Chief of Detectives John Warren said he believed two bullet holes in the right side of Mondo's head indicated he had been shot by some one within his car. The two bullets, whether fired from within or without the car, left holes in the glass window on the driver's side.

Mondo's body—he apparently had died instantly—was found by John McCarthy, 4708 Adams st., a surface lines supervisor. Police said they found no witnesses who might have seen a car from which the shots could have been fired at Mondo.

Warren, who also theorized that there were two slayers and that each fired once at Mondo—one from the seat alongside the driver, one from the rear seat—said he had not determined a motive.

Mondo, who had been arrested frequently, gave his occupation as "grocery clerk" and his address as 618 S. Kedzie av., when he was picked up Dec. 18 on an assault charge.

Owned Handbook, Widow Says.

Mondo's widow, Rose, 32, told Lt. Edward Calliopy her husband formery owned a handbok at Canal and Van Buren sts., but had worked as a grocery clerk recently. Yesterday he took their two sons, Robert, 12, and Joseph, 8, to an ice skating rink. When he left their home at 3245 Lexington st. at 8:30 p. m.—an hour before the slaying—he told her he was "going for a ride."

In the midst of Adduci's campaign for election in the 2d legislative district, a warrant was sworn out against Mondo, charging him with assault with intent to kill Adduci's opponent, Scott J. Vitell. Vitell, who accused Mondo of having been one of two men who clubbed him with baseball bats, rode in an armored truck when he came to the loop to file his petitions of candidacy against Adduci.

U. S. ARMIES PLACE $64,000,000 ORDER IN FRANCE, BELGIUM

SUPREME HDQ., ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, Paris, Dec. 28 [Reuters]. — The American armies have placed orders with French and Belgian factories for goods worth 64 million dollars to save shipping space and make use of industry's revival on the continent. The extent of the impetus given to the shattered industries of France and Belgium can be seen in the following list:

For France, a total of 36 million dollars, including 2,200 cinema projectors, 700,000 radio tubes, 250,000 identification panels, 600,000 electric fuses, 1,200 transformers, 2,500,000 flashlight bulbs, 20 very high frequency radio sets, and other signal equipment.

For Belgium, a total of 28 million dollars. Belgian factories already have supplied 5 million feet of 35 mm. film and thousands of cable rings and transportation brackets for the maintenance of communications.

CHICAGO YANK IS NO. 25,000 IN PARIS HOSPITAL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Dec. 15 [Delayed].—The United States general hospital, which since the liberation of Paris has operated a swank hospital exclusively for the use of wounded American soldiers, today received its 25,000th casualty. He was Corp. Herbert Bates, 7113 S. Racine av., Chicago. Later, while sitting on his bed, Bates told this story:

"I was an assistant driver of a tank on the Belgian-German border. The Germans were shelling us heavily, so we moved back. Then my pal and I got out to get some gasoline for our little stove. As we stood behind the tank, a piece of shrapnel from an artillery shell hit my left arm. It felt as if the whole arm had been torn off but I didn't lose consciousness.

"Later, the first aid hospital doctor said there was no fractured bone and that I'd be all right again in about a month."

Bates, formerly a painter with Martin & Lasker Co., general contractors of Chicago, displayed a bit of shrapnel extracted from his arm by the first aid doctor. Then he put it carefully in a wad of cotton wool.

When the attendant brought him clean pajamas and told him he would receive a shower before going to bed, Bates grinned and said: "The change from the battle front, where the fighting is terrific, to a wonderful hospital like this is like coming from hell to paradise."

"Tell my folks back home I'll be all right again soon and give them my love," he added.

Gallup Admits Altering Poll on His Guess

BY LAURENCE BURD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 28.—Dr. George Gallup, who has made a business of sampling public opinion for nine years, conceded today that his errors in predicting the results of the November election were caused in part by a refusal to trust the cold statistics gathered by his pollsters.

Dr. George Gallup.

Appearing before a house committee, he explained that in numerous instances the personal judgment of himself and his statisticians were used to change the actual poll results given to the public.

Errors in these judgments, Dr. Gallup explained, accounted to some extent for inaccurate forecasting of the extent of the Roosevelt victory by his American Institute of Public Opinion. The institute predicted a tight Roosevelt-Dewey race and underestimated Mr. Roosevelt's popular majority by about 1½ million votes. It also forecast that Dewey would carry New York state, which Roosevelt won handily.

Committee Baffled.

Members of the committee, which is investigating campaign expenditures and related matters, confessed themselves baffled at Dr. Gallup's procedure of taking presumably scientific surveys and then altering the figures on the basis of arbitrary personal guesswork.

Chairman Anderson [D., N. M.] charged Dr. Gallup with thus "artificially coloring" his figures for public consumption without confiding to the public that such changes were made.

"If a bottle of ketchup has artificial coloring, it must be stated on the bottle," said Anderson. "Why shouldn't public opinion polls abide by a similar rule?"

Claims Scientific Basis.

To this, the witness replied that the changes in the "raw data" were predicted on numerous factors, which he insisted had a scientific basis.

"If, in giving our poll results to the public, we published all the factors used, we should be accused of hedging all over the lot," Gallup said. "We still have a lot to learn about scientific polling, but we are improving all the time."

Anderson, an administration supporter, centered his questioning chiefly on two instances in Gallup's 1944 election poll. He asked why the poll, until only a few days before the election, took all its sample survey figures and raised them 2 per cent in favor of Dewey. Secondly, he inquired, why did Gallup predict Dewey would carry New York state, when a survey on the eve of the election indicated Roosevelt would get 52.5 per cent of the state's votes?

Expected Light Vote.

Gallup said the 2 per cent boost for Dewey was based on the theory of a light vote, which would work against Roosevelt's chances.

The institute, however, overestimated Dewey's prospective vote by a last minute change, he said, as the result of a "pin-point" survey in five states. This proved a mistake, Gallup said. He explained he made a similar mistake in his 1940 predictions by boosting Willkie's estimated vote after an 11th hour "telegraphic poll." The trouble with this poll, he added, was that it was taken Sunday morning instead of Saturday, but he did not explain further.

Dr. Gallup asserted he did not trust his own poll showing a 52.5 per cent margin for Roosevelt in New York state [which proved to be the actual majority], because it was a pin-point survey in a few districts, whereas other samples, such as secret ballots and interviews, showed a Dewey edge. Further, he said, the supervisor of his New York poll was of questionable caliber.

Gallup claimed his and other opinion polls came thru the late election with "flying colors," altho the Gallup poll missed the actual results in some states by as much as 7 per cent.

PARIS, Dec. 28 (AP).—Lt. Gen. Patton's United States 3d army was believed tonight to have broken the back of the German winter offensive and was battering back the enemy's southern flank on a 35 mile front.

Hammering out gains up to 16 miles in six days thru the wooded hills of Belgium and northern Luxemburg, Patton's powerful mobile army, punching up from the south, rescued the heroic American garrison at Bastogne. To the east the 3d army beat back two to 14 miles the German wave after it had swept within 13 miles of Luxemburg's capital.

Patton, America's No. 1 tank general, was given the job of stemming the enemy's surprise offensive three days after Von Rundstedt struck on Dec. 16.

1st Hits Back from North.

Simultaneously Lt. Gen. Hodges' 1st army hit back savagely from the north, carving out gains of almost a mile and a half in the northwest corner of the German salient pointed toward the fortress of Liege and the allied feeder highways to the port of Antwerp.

These twin developments presumably were up to noon yesterday, and subsequent developments shrouded in a security black-out may have marked up more gains.

Today, the 13th day since the Germans rolled out of the reich and thru the thinly held American lines in the Ardennes forest, was the first that no enemy gains were reported.

Long lines of German prisoners were being marched down roads on the 3d army front.

[A Reuters dispatch said the 3d army had captured 1,200 prisoners in 24 hours and left 1,000 German dead on the field. It was estimated the Germans also had 900 wounded.]

The three German armies committed to the winter offensive were being held or driven back along the entire 200 mile perimeter of their salient in Belgium and northern Luxemburg.

Two Armored Armies Retreat.

Reports indicated that the bulk of Von Rundstedt's two armored armies were being hauled back from the deep salients near the Meuse river 35 miles or more northwest of Bastogne.

A front dispatch said that Patton, hero of the Sicily blitz and the race across France, swung into action immediately after being handed the task of stemming the German offensive.

The general sized up the situation

Eyewitness Stories!

Two Tribune staff correspondents yesterday filed eyewitness stories from the battlefields in Belgium. John Thompson, attached to the United States 1st army, described a great armored battle on the western edge of the German bulge. Robert Cromie, with the United States 3d army, told of conditions inside Bastogne on the southern flank of the enemy's wedge. Their stories:

BY JOHN THOMPSON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH AMERICAN ARMORED FORCES NEAR CELLES, Belgium, Dec. 28.—In four days and nights of continuous fighting, veteran American tank men smashed Field Marshal von Rundstedt's foremost spearhead three and a half miles from the Meuse river and with the help of close supporting allied planes destroyed or captured 53 German tanks, more than 36 guns, and at least 157 vehicles. The tide had been rolled back to Verre, 3 miles southeast of Celles.

This body blow against the German hopes of driving toward Namur and Liege from the south virtually wrecked one Panzer division while the Americans also were taking on elements of two others. An estimated 1,200 prisoners were captured.

U. S. Losses Light.

Altho the hard bitten armored commander said it was "one of the bloodiest battles my men ever fought," American losses were surprisingly light.

The Yanks traded the enemy better than 13 for one in tanks, having only four damaged and these now are ready for action again.

The battle of these warriors still is going on. The Americans have been pressing to mop up the remnants of the Panzers all day yesterday, last night, and today. Fires were seen dotting the area, indicating the Germans were burning what they could not move.

The highest praise paid the stocky red faced commander as he charged back and forth in his headquarters, head down like a bull, came from a captured German officer. When he learned the identity of his captors, the German said:

"My God! How many armored units are there in your army? You just got thru kicking hell out of us in . . . [he named another sector]. Do we have to keep fighting you all of the time?"

Yanks Do All Right.

"I guess we've done all right," grinned the American, recounting the battle today. "The general gave me a bottle of whiskey."

His armored force had accomplished a minor miracle by rolling over unfamiliar roads nearly 100 twisting miles to the battle area of the Meuse river near Dinant. The commander didn't expect to get into battle quite so soon, but when one of his reconnaissance units tangled with German guns and lost its vehicle, he called to a captain to take his tanks as fast as he could to a certain town. The captain asked for instructions.

"Just go hell for leather and start smacking Krauts when you see 'em," bellowed the commander. "I'll bring the rest of the outfit as soon as we can."

That's the way it started. And it

WITH U. S. 3D ARMY FORCES IN BASTOGNE, Belgium, Dec. 28.—Bastogne, fiercely battered by shells and bombing, still is the target of enemy air raids, but supplies, which for several days had to be dropped by parachute, are rolling in over the highways, while the wounded who could not be evacuated between Dec. 20 and Dec. 27, are safely in hospitals.

Medical Situation Grave.

The medical situation in the beleaguered city became grave almost from the start, when the Germans ambushed and captured almost an entire medical company. According to Capt. Jack Reis, Indianapolis, Ind., medical officer, only five officers and 20 men managed to escape. He said he was in a three vehicle party, which narrowly missed destruction when the Americans, thinking them Germans, blew up a bridge almost under their wheels as they were escaping.

From Dec. 20 until Christmas day there were only half a dozen medical officers in the town, without a single surgeon. Plasma and other supplies were dropped by air. A single surgeon finally was flown in by Cub plane Christmas day, while four others with medical aid men arrived by glider Dec. 26.

Sleep Two Hours or Less.

According to Capt. Cecil Sabini, Hoboken, N. J., and Capt. Jack Levin, Milwaukee, Wis., they were so shorthanded that they managed only an average of two hours' sleep or less nightly. A huge warehouse was turned into a receiving station, with patients lying on straw on the floor or on litters. It was unheated, but, Sabini said, the patients' body heat and breathing gave it a semblance of warmth.

The situation was complicated Christmas eve when an adjacent hospital was bombed during darkness, forcing the patients there to be evacuated to other buildings. The warehouse doors were blown open during the bombing, forcing the immediate turning off of lights and the temporary halt in an amputation case which already was on the operation table.

Operate by Flashlight.

In the subsequent bombing the concussion again blew the doors in, forcing four operation already under way to be completed by flashlight.

Despite extreme difficulties, however, and despite the fact the really serious surgical cases could only be given nonsurgical treatment until the surgeons arrived, only one operation proved fatal, according to Capt. Sabini.

Sabini said also that infections were kept at a minimum, with very few cases of gas gangrene occurring, and the hospital death rate was low. Even trench foot — which might have been very high in view of the constant fighting necessary —was relatively low.

Chief worry was the evacuation of patients—both American and German—the latter under the care of a German medical officer.

Negotiate to Aid Wounded.

At one point during the siege, Maj. Martin Wisely, Waynesboro, Va., accompanied by the German medical officer, made a visit under a flag of truce to the German commander and attempted to make arrangements to evacuate both the American and German wounded. The trap was broken, however, before these negotiations were completed.

The medical unit played its part during the battle, sacrificing its surgical gowns for use in covering the dark clothes of the G. I.s, who were highly visible especially at night, because they lacked white snow suits. The patients gave up their sheets and pillow cases, also.

Sees Midwesterners.

Among midwesterners seen today was 1st Lt. Ralph Buck, Star City, Ind., whose brother is Lt. Tom Buck, on military leave from the Chicago Tribune financial department. Lt. Buck guided us en route to Bastogne. A Chicagoan seen was Lt. Joseph T. Walsh, 5312 Glenwood av., of the medical administrative

Nazis Retreat 'According to Plan'

LONDON, Dec. 28 (AP). — Berlin radio announced tonight that Field Marshal Von Rundstedt's spearheads had been withdrawn in both the west and south "according to plan" under counter-attacks by the United States 1st and 3d armies.

As a result of heavy American reenforcements, Berlin said, "the battle yesterday became stationary on the whole front."

"Then," this account continued, "as Gen. Eisenhower was able to fling the weight of his air power into the fighting, the foremost of the German spearheads were taken back to the main fighting line—in the west and on the southern flank —according to plan."

Admits Bastogne Relieved.

Berlin admitted that the American garrison at Bastogne had been relieved, and said it included the 101st air borne, the 10th armored, and "the last remnants" of the United States 28th infantry division.

German broadcasts said Gen. Eisenhower had concentrated 24 tank divisions and "heavy offensive formations, with which he hopes to regain the initiative."

These included the British 51st Highland division, said DNB, which fought in the first battle of France in 1940, helped chase Rommel across Tunisia, fought in Sicily and went into Normandy shortly after D-day.

Capt. Sertorius, the German high command spokesman, asserted Von Rundstedt foresaw that the allies "would exploit their superiority" in men, materiel and air power once "they had overcome the first shock of surprise."

The enemy agency DNB announced the loss of Echternach, a Luxemburg town at the German frontier 17 miles northeast of the duchy's capital, "after hard fighting costly for both sides."

Names Other Divisions.

Unable to report ground gains, DNB turned to recounting alleged allied losses. It asserted the United States 9th armored division, and the 4th, 28th and 106th infantry divisions either were "wiped out or reduced to minimum strength" and the 3d and 7th armored and 2d and 99th infantry divisions were "badly mauled."

[A Reuters dispatch from London said DNB added that the American 5th armored division and the 1st, 8th, 78th, and 83d infantry divisions also suffered badly.]

corps, who went into Bastogne the night before last.

This afternoon the medical problem was definitely licked, with ambulances, doctors, and nurses pouring in and an entire new hospital being set up.

"Now," said Sabini, "we can get some sleep."

HEROES' OWN STORIES

WITH U. S. FORCES, Dec. 28 (AP)—The siege of the gallant Bastogne garrison has been broken, and part of its story can be told today.

The heroic American garrison pointed artillery, machine guns and mortars in all directions after their commander sent a curt one word reply—"Nuts!"—to the Germans' surrender ultimatum.

"We were shooting like hell, all the time," said Pvt. Leonard Candelora of Charlestown, Mass., who helped medical corps men when a sprained ankle put him out of the fighting. "And the Germans were giving it back with interest."

When the German commander sent over his ultimatum, dated Dec. 22, he gave the Americans two hours in which to decide. The reply came in 30 minutes.

Text of Ultimatum.

The ultimatum said:

"To the U. S. A. commander of the encircled town of Bastogne: The fortune of war is changing. This time U. S. A. forces in and near Bastogne have been encircled by strong German armored units. More German armored units have crossed the river Ourthe near Mourtheuville, have taken Marche and reached St. Hubert by passing thru Homores-Sibret-Tillet. Libramont is in our hands.

"There is only one possibility to save the troops from total annihilation: That is honorable surrender. In order to think it over the term of two hours will be granted, beginning with the presentation of this note.

"If this proposal should be rejected one German artillery corps and six heavy AA battalions are ready to annihilate the United States of America troops in and near Bastogne. The order for firing will be given immediately after this two hour term.

"All the serious civilian losses caused by this artillery fire would not correspond with well known American humanity.

"Signed. The German commander."

"To the German commander," said the American reply. "Nuts!"

The last word was double spaced, underlined, and followed by an exclamation point.

The Germans tried another trick on Christmas day. They bombarded the Americans with Christmas cards. On one side was the picture of an American soldier holding the hand of a little girl, who was saying, "Daddy, I'm frightened." On the other side was a Santa Claus saying:

"Come on over, boys, just 300 yards from where you are. You will get a merry Christmas here."

Tells of Medics' Heroism.

Lt. Charles Phalen of Sparta, Wis., a medical administration officer who was in Bastogne thruout the siege, told of the heroism of the medics:

"We were pressed for medical supplies. A handful of medic aids did wonderful work there."

[Lt. Phalen is the son of Dr. Stephen Phalen of Sparta and the brother of Capt. Charles Phalen, U. S. M. C., now home on leave from duty in the Central Pacific.]

Many men from the midwest were among the heroes of Bastogne, men like Sgt. Richard Deaster of Oshkosh, Wis., who knocked out seven German tanks of 31 destroyed in one encounter. Lt. David K. Hagens, Grand Rapids, Mich., of Deaster's outfit, praised the sergeant's marksmanship.

Among the men who dropped supplies to the surrounded Yanks were Capt. Stanley P. Wesolboski and Capt. Henry N. Hills, Iowa City, Ia., and Sgt. Clarence Matz of Chicago, Ill.

Paris Police Present Nazi Rifle to U. S. Commander

kept on, with the Yanks holding the upper hand until the morale of this whole outfit went soaring 100 per cent. Now, instead of fighting on open muddy fields without coverage against Tiger Royal [super Mark VI.] tanks, they were able to maneuver over perfect tank terrain. And their opponents had only Panther [Mark V.] and Mark IV. tanks.

Today a thick ground fog hung over the entire area, preventing war planes from aiding the tank men. But in this swirling, ghostly murk we saw their handiwork all around the outskirts of a town and in the nearby woods.

"I've never seen so many dead Germans," said Capt. Mickey Miller of Meridian, Miss.

Near zero temperatures had frozen the bodies in grotesque postures of sudden death. The roadsides were littered with gray uniformed soldiers. Face down or staring vacant eyed into the mist, they hung stiff over shattered gun carriages or sat crouched in death inside of tank hulks.

"The tank destroyers never lost a gun," said Capt. Pat Eddie of Shelbyville, Ky., "but look what they did to those columns."

Run Head On Into Nazis.

Eddie told of two tank destroyers which had been stalking a Panther tank in a nearby village. One 3 inch gun worked around behind the tank just as it started backing off down the street right into the gun. The destroyer's commander waited until the muzzle of his powerful gun was only a few feet from the tank, then fired. The explosion completely demolished the tank turret and killed the entire crew.

When the American commander arrived with his armored force of tanks, tank destroyers, artillery and doughboys, the Germans actually had cut down the Namur road east of Dinant. But five tanks which were there never joined their units again. American artillery took care of them.

After taking care of those tanks, the commander sent his force in encircling movements which trapped the Germans. But one American column did not even have a chance to encircle. It was proceeding down the road in pitch darkness, doughboys on either side with the tanks idling along in the center more for moral support than anything else, when they ran head on into an enemy armored column.

The doughboys deployed rapidly into the fields while the tanks opened a blistering fire, hardly able to see the targets. By dawn the Americans were able to count 70 destroyed German tanks, trucks, and vehicles.

"Our tactics were simple," explained Lt. Col. Eugene A. Trahan of Lafayette, La., discussing the entie four day action. "The Germans were attacking so we attacked too. They wanted to swing north to Namur and thus attack Liege from the rear. That was their mission, but we stopped 'em."

Yanks Capture Town.

While his force was smashing the enemy in the Celles area, the Germans were building up near another crossroads town of importance. But the American commander could not attack them until night before last, when the town was taken.

"They went into position at midnight," he recalled. "They fought all that night and all the next day until 11 o'clock that night. It was one hell of a battle.

"The Krauts were holed up in a chateau with lots of tanks around them. We thumped them with five serenades of all our artillery. That was too much for the tanks and those that could pulled back. But the soldiers stayed.

"So I asked a neighboring unit to send over some flame throwers. The next day I saw these fellows beside the road and stopped to ask what happened. One of them said: 'We surrounded the bloody place on four sides and then they surrendered. They didn't want to take the hose.'"

There was another tense moment in the fight for the same town when the German tanks were boring in. But Capt. Henry Chatfield of Cincinnati, O., was there with a company of 90 mm. guns.

Knock Out Seven Tanks.

Sixteen Panther tanks, which some Americans believe to be the best tank, even superior to the massive Tiger Royal, were attacking. Chatfield swung his guns into position and knocked out seven of the Panthers.

"Henry just about saved our necks that time," said an American commander who also praised the support given by our fighters and fighter bombers.

"We've had wonderful air support until today, of course, when the weather closed down," he said. "We have kept up excellent radio contact and have been able to bring them down right ahead of us on the enemy.

R. A. F. Aids Yanks.

"The British air force did wonderful things for us. Their rocket firing Typhoons are marvelous. Once when enemy columns from the south came up on our backs while we had a gang of Germans surrounded in a woods, we asked for the Typhoons. In a very few minutes they were there and the R. A. F. got seven out of eight tanks. I'd like to know who their squadron commander was. I'd like to write him a letter."

During this intensive four day battle there was the inevitable moment of humor, altho it easily could have been tragedy. Completely worn out from fighting and lack of sleep, some armored doughboys last night crawled into the first floor of a house and went to sleep.

"They were stupid enough not to search the house, but I know how tired they were," the commander declared as he rubbed his bald head. "Next morning one of them woke up and went upstairs. Seven Germans also tired out were still asleep. We captured them, but it might just as easily have been the other way around."

RELIEVES PRESSURE ELSEWHERE, GERMANS SAY OF BELGIAN PUSH

Thursday's German high command bulletin as broadcast by Berlin said:

"The deep penetration of our formations in Belgium and Luxemburg has resulted in an alleviation of the pressure on the remainder of the front, but has developed into an armored battle of the greatest possible scale on both sides, with enemy forces drawn from other sectors.

"On the northwest front of the fighting area our attack makes slow progress in the face of fierce enemy resistance. On the entire southern front the enemy maintains strong pressure. Yesterday [Wednesday] 21 enemy tanks were shot up. The booty in guns and anti-tank guns has increased to more than 300 since Dec. 16.

quickly, and "in record time men and armor were rolling in a swelling tide toward the critical front," the dispatch said.

It was the kind of a job that fitted into Patton's killing tactics, mobile warfare in contrast to the slugging match inside the Siegfried line which had bogged down his Saar offensive

Widen Base of Corridor.

The 3d, after relieving Bastogne, beat off counter-attacks against the relief corridor from east and west, broadened its base to three miles and held the lines firmly into the city, where the corridor tapers to a width of a mile.

To the east of Bastogne Patton's forces had broken across the Sure river line at four points and were driving the Germans from northern Luxemburg back into the reich, forcing some to swim for their lives and others to cross a damaged bridge under artillery fire.

It was evident that the German offensive did have the effect of relieving American pressure on the Saar basin, where the 3d had been fighting foot by foot into the Siegfried line.

Aided by Open Terrain.

But it also gave Patton the opportunity to wreak destruction on the Germans in the open terrain of Luxemburg and southern Belgium to a much greater advantage than fighting the Germans behind the steel and concrete defenses of the west wall [Siegfried line].

The 3d army reached the outskirts of Surre, seven miles southeast of Bastogne, broadening the base of the relief corridor to the city and threatening to outflank German forces attacking that life line from the east.

Another force broadened the corridor to possibly three miles by driving up to positions northwest of Sainlex, three and a half miles northwest of Surre. The 3d ran into tough resistance along this sector of the Arlon-Bastogne highway.

Shoved Back to Rivers.

Northeast, north, and northwest of Luxemburg city the Germans have been shoved back two to 14 miles, roughly to lines along the Our river forming the Luxemburg-German border and to the Sure river which winds across northern Luxemburg.

To the northeast of Luxemburg's capital Yanks fighting thru fir covered hills overwhelmed a German force which tried to make a stand at Beaufort, a mile and a half from the reich's frontier.

From Beaufort, which is 17 miles northeast of Luxemburg's capital, the Americans smashed on toward the border. Some enemy troops trying to get back into Germany southwest of Echternach were attempting to repair a bridge across the Sure river under artillery fire.

Farther north, where the Our river becomes the border stream as the Sure branches west, 250 Germans were seen trying to swim the icy current.

1st Sieges Two Towns.

In gains of up to a mile and a half they first seized Grandmenil at the northwestern extremity of the German salient 24 miles southeast of Liege, and near-by Manhay, a front dispatch said. Reports at supreme headquarters said, however, that fighting still was in progress at the latter town up to noon yesterday.

The Germans attacked at several points on a five mile sector from Marche to Hotton, nine miles west of Grandmenil, where they had been building up powerful forces, but were thrown back with heavy losses yesterday.

Five miles south of Marche, American forces pounded into the town of Humain.

Fourteen miles due west of Bastogne the Germans around St. Hubert took refuge behind mine fields, barricades, and blown bridges and showed no inclination to come out and fight.

Strong German patrols were lanching into allied positions in Holland, apparently trying to learn if British and Canadian forces had been sent south to join the battle in Belgium. They came across the Maas [Meuse] in northwest and eastern Holland, but were beaten back.

The reports reaching here indicating that Von Rundstedt had begun pulling his armor back into the center of the bulge suggested he was withdrawing to lash once more with fullest force in a new quarter.

There also was the possibility that Von Rundstedt believed Gen. Eisenhower had summoned enough strength to check the offensive, and might be pulling them back into reserve, leaving the 7th army and the rag-tag Volksturm [home defense] divisions to try to hold the gains.

Might Win Two Rounds.

Should Von Rundstedt accomplish such a withdrawal, he definitely would have won two rounds instead of one by not only breaking up the allied offensive but by withdrawing with the bulk of his armored reserves intact.

The United States 7th army in the southern edge of the German Palatinate warded off three small attacks. The French to the south in Alsace improved their Vosges mountain positions west of Colmar.

French piloted Spitfires now are supporting 7th army operations from an airdrome within a stone's throw of Germany. About half of the French pilots were in the French air force before the 1940 armistice. In their first mission the French destroyed five out of 20 Germans engaged, got two probables, and lost two of their own.

STIMSON SAYS NAZIS WILL REAP DISASTER FROM BIG GAMBLE

Washington, D. C., Dec. 28 (AP).—Secretary Stimson, tho describing the present situation on the European front as "critical," expressed confidence today the Germans will eventually reap "disastrous consequences" from their gambling counter-offensive.

"War is not an easy game to play and you can't always win every battle," the war secretary told a news conference, "but I am confident that we are winning and that time will reveal that this German throw of the dice will have disastrous consequences for him."

The secretary acknowledged that American efforts to stem the German drive have cost us "severe" casualties, but asserted that the Nazi army, too, has "taken hard blows" in personnel and material losses.

In obvious reference to some criticism of allied intelligence, he said it is too soon "to pass judgment as to whether any person or group should be censured" as a result of the German breakthru.

FRANCE TO BUILD NEW PASSENGER CARS NEXT YEAR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Dec. 28.—France will resume the manufacture of pleasure cars next July and the motor industry expects to produce 25,000 of them and 50,000 army trucks before the end of 1945, THE TRIBUNE learned today.

Emphasis at the beginning will be on a car of standardized type for two passengers with a four or five horsepower motor to go 60 miles or more on a gallon of gas. It will be priced between $300 and $400 and professional men will be given priority of purchase.

The new car will present a considerable technical advance on prewar European cars. Made of light alloys, it will weigh approximately 500 pounds. Center of gravity will be lowered to compensate for its lighter weight. Some models will have front wheel drive. Instead of the 169 types of French automobiles before the war, the resumed production will be limited to 15 standardized types.

BIG BLOW DEALT NAZI AIR FORCE, YANK REPORTS

Believe Push Costs Foe 600 Planes.

BY JOHN THOMPSON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH THE U. S. ARMY ON THE WESTERN FRONT, Dec. 27 [Delayed].—Since Dec. 17, when the German air force's fighter strength rose to challenge allied air supremacy for the first time since D-day, the Germans have lost an estimated 600 planes, a staff officer of the 9th tactical air command said tonight.

Before Field Marshal von Rundstedt started the offensive, the German air force had been able to husband an estimated 2,000 fighter planes for the west front.

Nazis Make a Choice.

On the 24th, when 2,000 allied heavy bombers roared in to attack targets immediately behind the battle area, targets of utmost importance to the German supply and communications system, the Luftwaffe left the battle area mostly uncovered and went after the bombers while our fighters swarmed after the enemy Focke-Wulfs and Messerschmitts. The choice made by the Luftwaffe indicated how precarious was the supply system for German ground forces.

Until recently during the German offensive, enemy fighter pilots have shown a new trait, a desire to seek aerial combat. For months they had been avoiding fights, waiting for the day. The morale of most of these pilots is brittle, the staff officer said, and breaks more easily under combat conditions than did the morale of the more experienced pilots, most of whom have been killed.

Nazis Ask Big Odds.

"The Germans' conservation program of many months has affected their pilots," the officer said. "After being schooled to avoid combat and save planes and personnel, pilots lose the combat touch. They want to fight only if they have two or three to one."

Another part of the picture is the tremendous aid that fighters and reconnaissance planes have given the American effort to halt Von Rundstedt.

GENERAL CAN'T GET PASSWORD FROM THIS MAN

BY JOHN THOMPSON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH THE U.S. FORCES, NEAR CELLES, Belgium, Dec. 28.—In the inky gloom a jeep jolted down a rutted road and halted abruptly at the challenge of a sentry. The sentry stepped forward with his rifle ready and demanded the password of the officer in the front seat.

Muffled in heavy clothing, the officer stuck his familiar square jaw out and said: "Son, I don't know the damned password tonight. But you recognize me, don't you? I'm your commander."

"Yes, sir," answered the sentry, "I recognize you all right."

"Well, then, tell me the password," said the commander.

"No sir," replied the guard. "My orders are to tell no one."

"Oh, to hell with it," snorted the former cavalryman, striding off into the darkness. "But don't shoot me."

The commander later expresed his pleasure at the soldier's obedience to orders, for an hour later when stopped by a sentry of another unit the commander succeeded in wheedling the information from him.

Two Killed in Tank Barge Explosion at Honolulu

HONOLULU, Dec. 28 (AP).—Two men were killed in the explosion of a tank barge in Honolulu harbor today. The blast, of unknown cause, shattered windows in many waterfront buildings.

BRITAIN BASED AIR FLEET HITS NAZI REAR LINES

LONDON, Dec. 28 (AP).—More than 3,000 British based allied planes slashed at Field Marshal Von Rundstedt's rail arteries today in a sustained drive to isolate the German armies in Belgium and Luxemburg by ripping up their supply and escape routes in rear areas. Sleet cut off the battle front from close aerial support for the first time in six days.

A lengthy sky train of upwards of 1,200 Fortresses and Liberators of the United States 8th air force escorted by 700 Mustangs and Thunderbolts dumped 3,600 tons of bombs on 10 targets between the German salient and the Rhine. German salient and the Rhine. Four bombers were lost.

Use "Magic Eye" Instruments.

Railway yards, bridges, and other critical points in the Nazi transport network came under the aim of "magic eye" instruments, which probed thru swirling snowstorms raging below the bombers to give bombardiers a line on their targets.

In the early dawn, a force of 500 R. A. F. Halifaxes and Lancasters hit rail workshops at Opladen, 12 miles north of Cologne. This afternoon Lancasters escorted by Mustangs and Spitfires attacked railway yards at Cologne. Tonight a big fleet of R. A. F. heavy bombers blasted railway targets at Bonn and Munchen-Gladbach.

The main weight of the American armada was hurled at rail yards and bridges in the vicinity of Neunkirchen, near Saarbrucken on the French border, and at Kaiserlautern, Coblenz, and Bonn. This was the first time in six days they had no opposition from German planes.

Destroy 3,080 Nazi Vehicles.

Incomplete reports for the last five days reveal American planes have destroyed 3,080 tanks, armored vehicles, trucks, locomotives, and freight cars. The R. A. F. has accounted for at least 1,000 more.

Italian based heavies of the United States 15th air force ranged northward today and smashed at German oil facilities in Czechoslovakia and hit Brenner pass rail lines.

NAZIS GO FOR CLOTHES; MISS 9 HIDING YANKS

WITH AMERICAN TROOPS IN BELGIUM, Dec. 27 [Delayed]—(AP).—Nine members of a quartermaster company, trapped by the recent German breakthru in this area, told today how they hid in an old creamery storage vault while German tankmen ransacked bins of new American combat clothing "like a bunch of children."

"The Heinies were tickled pink to get that clothing," said Pvt. B. C. Mallory, Mineral Wells, Tex. "They all picked some up, waved it around, and kept yelling, 'Americans kaput' [Americans finished]."

The Yanks hid for seven hours before the Germans pulled out when United States artillery started to shell the town. Among them were Pvt. James Morris, Lebanon, Ind., and T/5 Herman A. Pope, Knightstown, Ind.

TELLS OF 9 DAY RETREAT FROM LUXEMBURG LINE

Sleepless, Fighting Yanks Fall Back 30 Miles.

SUPREME HDQ., ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, Paris, Dec. 28 (AP).—A tired doughboy told correspondents tonight the story of nine sleepless days and nights and a fighting retreat of 30 miles from the Luxemburg border. He is Staff Sgt. James H. Williams, Harrisburg, Pa.

Williams' division was in mountain country on the Luxemburg-German border and took the full force of the German armored break-thru to Bastogne, Belgium. His platoon was cut down from 43 men to 14 in the retreat.

"They Were On Us."

"We were supposed to attack, but we didn't have to," Williams said. "By H-hour we didn't have to go out to meet them, they were on us.

"They threw plenty. Their tanks came bursting thru and their infantry ran up more like maniacs than soldiers. They poured fire into us with everything they had. They were even shooting flares point blank at us."

By dusk the Germans had broken into Williams' headquarters command post. Two Tiger tanks, whose head armor turned all fire from light anti-tank weapons, plowed right up to the command building and fired thru the windows at 15 yard range. The infantry which rode up on the tanks, leaped off with grenades and burp guns.

"They ran wild in the gathering darkness like a bunch of drunks," Williams said.

With the American position completely overrun, the Germans waited for daybreak for the mop-up. But the Americans did not wait to be mopped up. In small groups they got out during the night, infiltrating thru German patrols.

Fight Delaying Battle.

That was the start of the fight. It was fight and fall back, with the Americans cut off by tank thrusts most of the time.

Twice the men swam rivers so cold they could hardly walk afterward. Once they scaled a sheer cliff. Almost every mile of the way they dug in, and again and again slugged it out with the German infantry until driven out by tanks or forced to slip out at night when encircled or outflanked.

"We were hitting as hard as men could hit," Williams said. "By the time we had fallen back to a little town outside Bastogne we were putting up a devil of a fight. Cooks and clerks and radio operators were fighting. I saw lieutenant colonels with M-1 guns [Garand rifles] and grenades fighting just the same as any one else at roadblocks and foxhole lines."

It all played a part in slowing the German drive until Gen. Eisenhower's forces could be gathered for the counter-attack.

Williams was waiting beside his gun in a foxhole when an American officer came along in a jeep and said, "Come along. You're going to Paris."

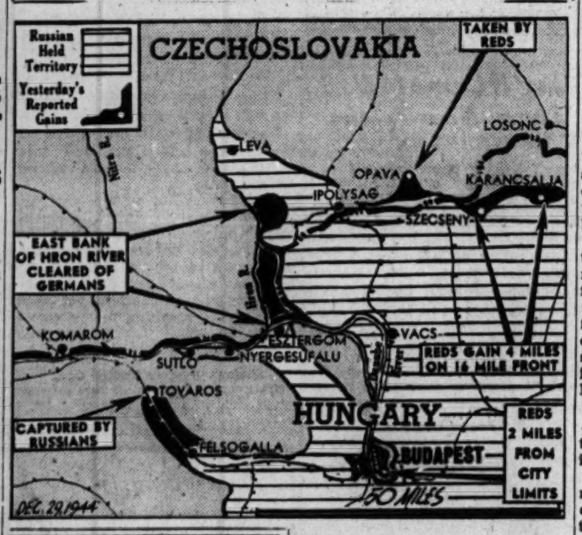

CIVILIANS HAND 5 NAZI CHUTISTS OVER TO ALLIES

WITH U. S. FORCES IN BELGIUM, Dec. 28 [Reuters]—The commander of a German paratroop unit and four of his men were handed over to allied authorities by compatriots, it was announced tonight.

After a drop in the Eupen-Malmedy sector a lieutenant colonel, suffering from injured legs, exposure, and lack of food, took refuge in the house of a Monschau civilian. Five days after he had landed he sent the civilians to Capt. Robert A. Goeicheus, Temple, Tex., commander of the military government detachment in that area, with this letter: "I tried to meet German troops near Monschau. As I could find no German troops there I surrender because I am hurt and at the end of all my physical forces."

German civilians later gave up four Nazi paratroopers to the same unit. They could have made contact with German forces near by.

New Advances by Red Army

NAZIS WITHDRAW TO REORGANIZE, SAYS U.S. OFFICER

BY WES GALLAGHER.

WITH U. S. FORCES IN BELGIUM, Dec. 28 (AP).—Having lost at least the equivalent of two panzer divisions, Field Marshal von Rundstedt is believed to be refitting, resting, and reorganizing his forces for the next blow.

Preliminary army estimates placed German tank losses at 400 thru ground action since the German offensive started while the air force claimed another 415 tanks and armored vehicles damaged, with an additional 310 destroyed.

Nazis Face Difficult Decision.

"The enemy has withdrawn behind defensive positions in the breakthru area to rest and refit in the lull before the next storm," a high American staff officer said. "This lull may last two or three days. He expended himself in the intial effort and now faces a difficult decision.

"He can either go all out and commit all the big reserves he has or commit half of them to fight a rearguard action to get his present force back into Germany."

Allies Exact Terrific Toll.

Von Rundstedt started his offensive with divisions that were as well equipped as those which raced thru France in 1940. Except for more use of Tiger and Panther tanks, there was little new in the way of fighting equipment.

The tremendous allied superiority in the air, artillery, and man power exacted a terrific toll of German men and machines.

Ground figures are incomplete but, besides the equipment of two Panzer divisions, the Germans suffered heavily in casualties. It probably will be some time before these are fully assessed. When they are assessed, the proportion of dead is likely to be higher than for any allied battle in this war. Comparatively few prisoners are being taken. The Germans are fighting to the last.

HITLER SHUNS LIFE COMFORTS, GOEBBELS SAYS

LONDON, Dec. 28 (AP).—Silent and secluded, Adolf Hitler is having sleepless nights, goes around with his head bent from poring over maps, and is living a frugal existence in which he "shuns the daily joys of life and all its comforts," Nazi Propaganda Minister Goebbels reports in the publication, Das Reich, the DNB news agency said today.

Calling Hitler a "man the whole world would worship if it only knew what his message is," Goebbels described intimate details of Hitler's current daily program and explained his five months' silence this way:

"He can afford to remain silent for months even if his enemies wish him to speak so that he would reveal his intentions."

RUSSIANS SEIZE 12 SUBURBS OF EAST BUDAPEST

Win Town 92 Miles from Vienna.

LONDON, Dec. 28 (AP).—Russian troops captured 12 more eastern suburbs of Budapest today, one of them six miles from the heart of the city. Other units swept on westward to within 92 miles from Vienna, Austrian capital.

Along the entire 20 mile semicircle around Pest, eastern half of Budapest, the Russians closed in steadily, but Moscow did not mention any further progress in Buda, or the western side of the river where the Russians already were within two miles of the city's heart.

Berlin admitted, however, that German troops had retreated into the capital's "inner defenses." Soviet troops, fighting street by street thru Buda were within nine miles of a crosscity junction with the units slowly closing in on Pest, the eastern part of the city.

65 Miles from Slovak Capital.

Marshal Rodion Y. Malinovsky's 2d Ukraine army striking north of the Danube river reached the Hron [Garam] river on a 30 mile front from Leva [Levice] down to the Danube. The Russians thus reached points within 65 miles east of Bratislava, Slovak capital, and 96 miles from Vienna.

Simultaneously, south of the Danube in Hungary, elements of Marshal Feodor I. Tolbukhin's 3d Ukraine army drove 34 miles northwest of Budapest along the main railway to Vienna and captured Tovaros, only 63 miles southeast of Bratislava and 92 miles from Vienna.

Drive to Trap Nazis.

Gains also were made by Russian troops in Czechoslovakia, 34 miles north of Budapest, as the Russians sought to trap thousands of Germans fighting in the Losonc-Kassa sectors of eastern Slovakia.

A total of 3,494 German and Hungarian prisoners were taken during the day's fighting in Hungary and Slovakia, Moscow's bulletin said. Among the bag were one Hungarian general and eight colonels.

BRIDEWELL PRISONER DIES.

Frank Biss, 55, of 2712 N. Mozart st., died of pneumonia yesterday in County hospital. He was taken there from the Bridewell, to which he had been sent Dec. 13 to serve a $50 fine imposed for disorderly conduct.

REPORT RUSSIA WILL RECOGNIZE LUBLIN POLES

Washington, D. C., Dec. 28 (AP).—Word spread today that Russia is about ready to recognize the Polish committee of liberation at Lublin as the provisional government of Poland.

Premier Stalin is said to consider this action necessary to military moves imminent on the eastern front.

Both Washington and London so far have recognized the Polish government in exile at London, at the same time urging that it compose its differences with Russia over the Russo-Polish boundary.

New Developments Expected.

Information in diplomatic quarters here now indicates the following as probable developments:

1. The soviet backed Lublin committee, which Washington officials do not consider representative of the people of Poland, is expected to declare itself to be a provisional government. Moscow reports yesterday said this action might be taken before the year-end.

2. Russia would then recognize the committee's claim to provisional status, thereby giving it a diplomatic position in opposition to the position thus far held exclusively by the Polish government at London.

3. Russia's declaration of recognition would be followed in short order by declarations by various European countries within the Russian sphere of influence, probably starting off with Czechoslovakia.

Conflicting Views on France.

France is reported to have exchanged representatives with the Lublin committee already, but there are other reports that when the question came up between Stalin and Gen. De Gaulle at Moscow recently De Gaulle made it clear he did not consider the Lublin group representative of the Polish people.

The Russians themselves are said to be aware of the political deficiencies of the Lublin outfit and for that reason alone have spent many months in dealing with the Polish government at London.

Now, however, Stalin has planned winter offensives against Germany in which he intends to liberate great new areas of western Poland.

He wants them ruled by a Polish government and, having failed, apparently with finality, to come to agreement with the London Poles, is understood to be ready to accord governmental status to the Lublin committee.

REMINDS FRENCH U. S. GIVES MORE THAN SUPPLIES

PARIS, Dec. 28 (AP).—Frenchmen were reminded by a Paris newspaper today that if the Americans failed to bring all the supplies which some had hoped for at the time of the liberation, then the Americans now were offering France something more precious—their lives.

Commenting upon the tendency among some Frenchmen to berate the allies for not bringing enough foodstuffs, chocolate and fuel for the civilian population, the newspaper Combat editorially pointed out that many young Americans seen in the Paris subways are on their way to death in bloody battles on the Rhineland fronts.

"There you have their Christmas gift—instead of chocolate," the paper said. "There these days you have products which the United States is throwing in profusion upon the European markets—strong flesh and young blood."

NAZI DRIVE VIOLATES AXIOMS OF WARFARE, RUSSIAN DECLARES

MOSCOW, Dec. 28 (AP).—A Red army military commentator says the Germans' strategy in their western front offensive violated the elementary requirements of military science.

"That a decisive victory can be achieved only by annihilating or defeating the strongest enemy grouping is axiomatic," said Lt. Col. V. Kravtsov in today's Moscow News. "The German command resorted again to its hackneyed method of striking concentric blows at two points with the aim of encirclement. But they chose as the object of encirclement a sector where the allied troop concentration was lowest.

"To strike at a weak spot can be effective only when development of this blow brings the attacking force in contact with the main enemy force; otherwise success may be no more than tactical and thus may lead to a major catastrophe. The Germans not only failed at complete encirclement but left a claw of their pincers hanging in midair."

ALLIES PREPARE TO BACK MIKLOS RULE IN HUNGARY

New Regime Favored by Moscow.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 28 (AP).—The United States, Britain, and Russia apparently are preparing to deal with the provincial Hungarian government of Col. Gen. Bela Miklos.

The first act to regularize relations probably will be the signing of an armistice, which the allies are rushing to completion.

Miklos was about to ask for an armistice last October but the Nazis poured troops into Hungary and took over the government. He later escaped to Russian controled territory.

Red Drive Spurs Action.

The Russian drive to Budapest and the establishment of the new government in a large part of Hungary occupied by the Red army have spurred the three major allies into finishing the armistice terms.

So far as is known here, negotiations have not begun yet with Miklos. Soviet favor for him is evidenced in a Moscow dispatch which declares that he has "the overwhelming support" of the Hungarian people.

Miklos, who was commander of the 1st Hungarian army, brought over most of the general staff when he left Budapest for Russian occupied territory.

The armistice probably will be signed in Moscow by military commanders, altho it is still unknown whether a Russian commander will represent all three allies.

Sponsors of the Miklos government assert that it is a representative group backed by informal elections held thru societies and underground groups while the axis still controled all Hungary. The ministers are represented as ranging from the middle class groups to Communist.

8,000 BESIEGED NAZIS KEEP GRIP ON DUNKERQUE

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

A German garrison isolated more than 150 miles behind the western front retains its hold on historic Dunkerque.

About 8,000 enemy troops were cut off when the allies' summer drive swept past the French port from which the British had evacuated an army of 335,000 aboard a motley rescue fleet before abandoning it on June 4, 1940.

25 Mile Siege Line.

The allies have a 25 mile siege line about Dunkerque and subject the Germans regularly to bombardment. French airmen have participated in the attack. Neutralized, short of transport, munitions, and supplies, the garrison is causing no real trouble.

The Germans tie up with siege duty, however, allied regiments that might be employed in more active sectors and prevent the use of port facilities for supplies.

Much the same situation applies at Lorient, St. Nazaire, Bordeaux, the Vannes area, and the Channel islands. It was estimated in London two months ago that 116,000 German troops were in these positions behind the allied lines.

Civilians Evacuated.

The German radio announced on Nov. 11 that the civilian population of Dunkerque, 62,500 persons, had been evacuated.

Heavy explosions emanating from the direction of Dunkerque three weeks ago led Londoners to believe the garrison was destroying installations, perhaps in a prelude to surrender, but nothing has come of it.

U.S. TO PROTEST NAZI SHOOTING OF SEIZED YANKS

Washington, D. C., Dec. 28 (AP).—The United States, in angry helplessness, is preparing to protest the shooting of American soldiers captured by the Germans during their forward rush into Belgium.

The state department is gathering from the war department evidence which will form the basis of the protest. The information and the warning that German authorities will be held responsible when the day of reckoning comes will then be transmitted to Berlin thru Swiss diplomats.

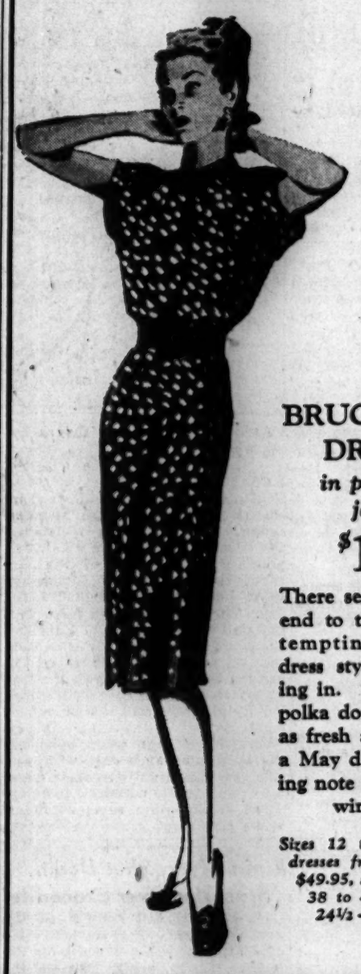

But there is little expectation that this gesture will accomplish any positive results. Among military men there is a growing conviction that the German high command has thrown the rules of war completely out the window.

The evidences are cited to support this conclusion. One is the shooting of prisoners, particularly by Von Rundstedt's leading armored elements. Apparently they had orders not to bother with prisoners, since that would have slowed up their advance.

The other is the use of a "spy" force, trained saboteurs, and assassins dressed as American soldiers and equipped with American munitions.

Both the shooting of prisoners and the assignment of men to fight in the uniform of the enemy are contrary to the basic rules of war.

Feared Fleet Attacked to Screen Troops.

GEN. MacARTHUR'S HDQ., Philippines, Dec. 29 [Friday]—(AP).—American liberation forces on Mindoro Island ascertained today that the Japanese did not use their Tuesday night naval attack on Yank positions there to screen the landing of troops on other portions of the island.

The Nipponese task force which fired erratically on the United States beachhead area disappeared into the China sea, pursued by American planes, and enemy ground and air activity on the island was lacking Wednesday, Gen. MacArthur reported today.

It was thought at first that the Japanese naval units had taken the great risk to draw American attention while putting their troops ashore at some other point.

Shelling Called Light.

One reason for this suspicion was that the shelling itself not only was ineffective but came only from light guns—5 inchers—altho the task force included a battleship and a heavy cruiser which could have used much bigger guns.

After the attacking force had been driven off with a loss of three destroyers sunk and bomb hits on the battleship and cruiser, Cub planes flew reconnaissance missions extensively on the Mindoro west coast and found no evidence of any enemy beachhead.

Search for Jap Forces.

The island search for possible Japanese amphibious action was conducted under the direction of Brig. Gen. William C. Dunckel, commander of the Mindoro garrison.

The mopping up of isolated Japanese on Leyte Island went on along the Valencia-Palompon highway and another 912 enemy dead were counted, most of them in the sector held by the United States 77th infantry.

Yanks who landed on Leyte behind Japanese troops at Palompon, Dec. 25, continued to meet only light resistance. The main American force, pushing toward the west coast thru mountain country ran into tough localized fighting.

Hills Slow U. S. Mop-Up.

The Americans made rapid time against strong Japanese resistance on the west Leyte lowlands but they now are pushing slowly against stubborn hill positions.

Gen. MacArthur announced the knocking out of another 20 Japanese planes and another probable in an attack on Clark field near Manila on Tuesday, bringing the total in three days of raiding to 144.

American planes also bombed airdromes and other Japanese installations on Negros and Mindanao Islands and hit shipping and oil storage in the Borneo, Celebes, and Moluccas areas. The bulletin listed the loss of one United States bomber and one fighter.

CHINESE MUST FIGHT OWN WAR, SAYS U. S. CHIEF

CHUNGKING, China, Dec. 28 [Reuters].—Maj. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer, commander of United States forces in China, today scouted the idea that the war in China is an American war. He emphasized that China must fight her own war and that America, as an ally, will give her all possible help.

How much China can contribute to the war is uncertain, he added, but at present the Chinese government is coöperating with the Americans in a "splendid fashion."

Name Deputy Chief.

CHUNGKING, China, Dec. 28 (AP).—Maj. Gen. Robert B. McClure of Palo Alto, Cal., chief of staff of United States forces in China, has been appointed deputy chief of staff to the supreme allied commander in the China theater, Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek, Chinese authorities announced today. [Maj. Gen. Albert C. Wedemeyer is Chiang's chief of staff.] The appointment insures for McClure a direct contact with Chiang at all times.

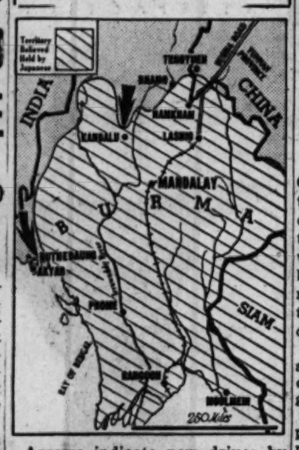

Belgian Fascist Chief Sentenced to Be Shot

BRUSSELS, Belgium, Dec. 28 (AP).—Leon De Grelle, chief of the outlawed Belgian Rexist [Fascist] movement, has been condemned in absentia to be shot to death. The Brussels Court of Collaborators and Traitors pronounced the judgment yesterday by default. De Grelle has been in the hands of the Germans since before they left Belgium. It was charged De Grelle supplied the Germans with soldiers, workers, food, arms, and ammunition.

Gain in Burma

Arrows indicate new drives by the British in Burma.

CACUTTA, India, Dec. 28 (AP).—British troops driving southward in Burma have gained up to 20 miles against light Japanese resistance and advance elements are within approximately 95 miles of the big enemy supply base of Mandalay, allied headquarters announced today. The leading British force was reported in the vicinity of Kanbalu, on the main north-south Burma railroad 95 miles above Mandalay. A parallel force pushing down the Irawaddy river to the east made satisfactory progress, said the announcement.

Japanese troops were opposing the British advance only with suicide rear guard units as their main forces apparently withdrew to a prepared defense line some 20 miles above Mandalay.

Elgin Flyer, Shot Down, Stumbles Over Crocodile

HDQ., 13TH AIR FORCE, Southwest Pacific (AP).—Shot down 10 minutes after bombing Borneo oil refineries, Lt. Robert E. Connell, Elgin, Ill., parachuted to a Japanese held island, hid among coral rocks, and was picked up by a patrol vessel the next month. In a two hour jungle trek he stumbled over a crocodile. All except one of his crew was rescued.

RIPS NEW DEAL 'DECEIT' ABOUT WAR IN PACIFIC

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 28.—Government propaganda agencies thru optimistic statements have deceived the American people about the probable length of the Pacific war, Rep. Ploeser [R., Mo.], a member of the house naval affairs committee, asserted today upon his return from an 18 day inspection tour of the Pacific war area.

Ploeser also is a member of the appropriations subcommittee that decides the amount of the funds granted the navy.

"I had the opportunity to discuss problems with fleet commanders, admirals, commanding generals, and service men in the ranks," he said.

"I am of the opinion, based upon these conversations and what I was able to observe, that the American people have a misconception of the probable length of the Pacific war. This misconception is probably due in greater part to the optimistic tone of governmental propaganda agencies."

May Last "Years Longer."

No person is now in a position to foresee a definite conclusion to the war in the Pacific, Ploeser said.

"It may be years longer than most of us have been led to believe," he continued. "Our rate of supply and appropriation for the Pacific must in some instances be accelerated, and, in most instances, must be maintained at the present rate."

Ploeser was one of the few members of the committee who returned to Washington. Most of them scattered to their homes for the Christmas holidays.

Rep. Johnson [R., Cal.], another who came back to his office, agreed in an interview that the office of war information is doing "a bad job" in the Pacific and should be moved out entirely, letting the navy handle the news of its progress.

Japs Wage Suicidal War.

The suicidal attitude of the Japanese contributes to the uncertainty about the end of the war in the Pacific, Ploeser explained. In addition, unless one has personally visited the war zone, it is almost impossible to imagine the length and extent of distances and logistics required in prosecuting the war.

"American naval and military genii have virtually made the Pacific ocean an American lake which must be maintained and defended," he remarked. "It appears that for many years we must exert naval and military pressure against the rebirth of Japan as a military menace."

Ploeser called for an immediate pronouncement of United States intentions in the Pacific, as did a number of the war touring congressmen interviewed in New York. The future of numerous strategic islands seized by our forces must be determined now, he said.

Gloria De Haven and John Payne, who were married yesterday.

Beverly Hills, Cal., Dec. 28 (AP).—Two screen players, Gloria De Haven, 19, and John Payne, 32, were married in a church wedding today and departed immediately on a honeymoon trip to a desert resort. The actress' sister Marjorie, was maid of honor and Director Walter Lang was best man. Parents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Carter De Haven, famous vaudeville team of yesteryear, also attended.

It was the first marriage for Miss De Haven. Payne was divorced two years ago from Actress Ann Shirley.

JAPS RAID B-29 BASE ON SAIPAN; TWO SHOT DOWN

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HDQ., Pearl Harbor, Dec. 28 (AP).—Japanese bombers raided the American Super Fort base on Saipan and installations on Tinian Island in the Marianas on Dec. 26 for the second time within three days, inflicting minor damage, the navy announced today.

The attacks were made from the enemy's Iwo base in the Volcanos, 750 miles north of Saipan, despite the heavy bombardment of Iwo this month by American warships and the almost daily raids by Yank planes, including Super Fortresses.

Five planes made up the first raiding group, the announcement said. There were only two in the second. Two of the raiders were shot down by American fighter planes.

The same day Saipan and Tinian were bombed, the American strategic air force sent Liberators and Lightning fighters to bomb and strafe Iwo.

TOKYO RAIDED AGAIN.

A Japanese broadcast said a "minor formation" of Super Forts dropped incendiaries on Ibaraki prefecture, north of Tokyo, yesterday.

CHINA CAPTIVES GET U. S. GIFTS SOON, JAPS SAY

The Japanese Domei news agency said yesterday the steamer Hoshi Maru would sail from Kobe on Jan. 4 for China carrying the first instalment of comfort packages for allied war prisoners and internees. The packages were sent from the United States for war prisoners and internees in Japan, China, and southern regions, the report said.

On Dec. 22 Domei quoted Sadao Iguchi, spokesman for the Japanese board of information, as saying the Japanese government already had distributed relief packages to allied war prisoners and internees in Japan and occupied Korea and Manchuria and that war prisoners in southern China and the Philippines would soon receive their share of the supplies.

PHILIPPINE AIR FORCE—5 PILOTS —TO FIGHT AGAIN

BY ARTHUR VEYSEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LEYTE, P. I., Dec. 29 [Thursday].—Five Filipino pilots, all those known to remain of the Philippine army air forces, will hop off for the United States within a few days to study aerial warfare developments since they lost their planes on Bataan three years ago.

As soon as they become accustomed to modern planes, they will return here as combat pilots. As one said, "I'd rather have died in the sky than on the ground."

Air Force Wiped Out.

When the Japs struck at the islands the Filipinos had 75 pilots and 14 planes. The planes were called pursuit ships, but they were so outmoded that they were hardly good as trainers. The air force was wiped out in its first encounter with the Japs.

"So we became ground soldiers," one flyer said. "We went all thru Bataan. We built strips and kept our eyes on the skies. We knew every day our new planes—a skyful of them—would arrive on the morrow. We told ourselves that help was on the way.

Five Pilots Take to Hills.

"At last Bataan fell. Four of our pilots managed to escape thru the Japanese. I went into the hills, joined the guerrillas, and met the four other pilots. When we learned that American troops had landed on Leyte we came here.

"We went to the United States air forces and they signed us up and are sending us to the United States for a refresher course."

These Filipinos are ecstatic about the new American planes.

"If we had only had a few of these three years ago the Japs would never have chased us off Bataan," one said.

His eyes drifted off into the sky. "But we saw no American planes there," he continued, "rather Jap dive bombers screaming downward unopposed, months of jungle fighting, ages of waiting." Very low as tho speaking to himself, yet with force as tho speaking to the whole world, he said, "They'll never do it to us again. Never!"

WOMAN DIES IN STREET CAR.

CHICAGO FLYER DODGES JAPS 5 WEEKS IN HILLS

LEYTE, P. I., Dec. 28 (AP).—Eight navy airmen returned to Leyte Island safely today after evading Japanese for more than five weeks in the mountains of a Japanese held Philippine island. They had been shot down during carrier raids and later united in the mountains.

Ensign Eric Rellis.

"We had to keep moving all of the time to avoid the Japs," said Ensign Eric Rellis, 5123 Deming pl., Chicago. "For five weeks we never slept on a bed or cot. Mostly we ate rice three times a day but sometimes we could get hold of papayas or chickens."

This Newest Locomotive is Powered Like a Battleship

EVER SINCE Matthias Baldwin built "Old Ironsides" over a century ago, railroads of this country have been constantly improving the steam locomotive to make it more powerful and more smooth.

NOW A WAY has been found to harness the steam turbine to a locomotive. Long ago successfully developed by Westinghouse for ocean vessels, the steam turbine is a brand new drive for railroads.

THE WESTINGHOUSE steam turbine in the Pennsylvania Railroad's direct-drive locomotive, is no bigger than your electric refrigerator, yet it will haul long passenger trains over the mountains with ease.

THE POWER-PACKED locomotive turbine is a descendant of giant Westinghouse turbines which generate much of the electricity you use. The great expansion of electric power began with these turbines.

A TURBINE is essentially a kind of steam windmill. A central revolving shaft with many blades is driven smoothly and powerfully by jets of steam, just as a boy's pinwheel is driven by the wind.

THE VELVETY FLOW of power from this 6,900 horsepower steam turbine locomotive will make trains run with extra smoothness and is a major contribution to finer transportation for you in the future.

THE RAILROADS, now carrying on one of the most spectacular research programs of any industry, are developing a dazzling new kind of transportation for you in the future. The familiar steam locomotive has been going through a remarkable series of improvements. The latest and most dramatic is steam turbine power, which gives the Iron Horse "new lungs."

To help produce this new locomotive, the Pennsylvania Railroad, a long-time pioneer in transportation improvements, turned to the Westinghouse Electric & Manufacturing Company and the Baldwin Locomotive Works. Working as a team, these companies have produced this latest in a great line of steam locomotives descended from "Old Ironsides." CHURCHILL SEES BATTLE BEFORE QUITTING ATHENS

Will Urge Greek King to Accept Regency.

'What Cheek!'

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Prime Minister Churchill used just two words to comment on a sniper's attempt to shoot him on the steps of the British embassy in Athens Wednesday, the London radio said yesterday. According to the broadcast, Churchill's comment was:

"What cheek!"

[A Reuters dispatch from Athens said a shell from an ELAS 77 mm. battery fell 200 yards from the warship on which Churchill made his headquarters the day after the premier's arrival in the Greek capital.]

ATHENS, Greece, Dec. 28 (AP).—Prime Minister Churchill and Foreign Secretary Eden left for London today to recommend to King George II, exiled Greek monarch, that he consent to the immediate establishment of a regency in Greece as the first essential step toward solution of the country's political problems.

A statement issued by the British ambassador here tonight said that the archbishop of Athens, acting as chairman of the peace conference which began two days ago at Churchill's request, had told Churchill and Eden there was an "overwhelming desire for an immediate establishment of a regency."

Conferences Adjourned.

"Churchill and Eden undertook on behalf of his majesty's government to recommend acceptance of this course to the king of the Hellenes," the ambassador said, adding that the conference had been adjourned pending developments.

[A London dispatch said King George of Greece was holding long conferences with his advisers. The feeling persisted in Greek circles there that the king still opposed a regency.]

ELAS Blow Up Buildings.

The British leader saw stiff fighting in narrow, winding streets northwest of the Acropolis and south of Omonia square. The ELAS fought back with mortars, machine guns, and hand grenades, and before finally giving in they blew entire buildings into the streets in many places. The British took 170 ELAS prisoners, most of them in civilian clothes.

Considerable progress was made in clearing the ELAS from the industrial section west of Athens. Pushing up Piraeus street toward the market section of the city, British paratroopers and newly enrolled Greek national guardsmen eliminated all snipers to within 300 yards of Omonia square.

Once fashionable Piraeus street was piled with the rubble of houses and littered with tangled street car cables and household belongings. Sewers are damaged and refuse lies in heaps. Water gushed from broken mains. Thousands are living in the wreckage of what were their homes.

News reached British headquarters from the Epirus front that Gen. Napoleon Zervas, chieftain of the rightist EDES guerrillas, was fighting a rearguard action against between 15,000 and 20,000 ELAS as he fell back toward a 20 mile line north of Preveza. Zervas was reported to have lost half his original force of 10,000 men by desertion.

HOMER M. BERRY IN HOSPITAL FOR WAR INJURIES

Lt. Col. Homer M. Berry, 49, veteran army flyer, test pilot and former pilot of one of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE's planes, is recuperating in the Birmingham General hospital, Encino, Cal., from spinal injuries suffered while on duty in Iran, it was learned in Chicago yesterday.

A veteran of two wars, the famous pilot was injured when his B-24 bomber crashed during a take-off. He had served five months in the China-Burma-India theater after action in North Africa and Britain. At one time he was chief coördinator between the R. A. F. and the American air force in England.

Col. Berry began flying when he was only 16 and is credited with having flown almost every type of aircraft, including gliders and balloons. He holds British, Canadian and French medals as well as American campaign ribbons.

Motor Coach Franchise Extended for One Year

The Chicago park district has extended for one year the franchise empowering the Chicago Motor Coach company to operate its buses over the boulevards maintained by the park system. Atty. Lee A. Freeman, representing the company, said that it was paying approximately 4 per cent of its gross revenues to the parks. The franchise has been in existence for 25 years.

NAME NEW CHIEF OF LAND FORCES, PLEA BY BRITON

Ike's Job Too Big for One, General Says.

BY JAMES SLOAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Dec. 28.—An overhauling of Gen. Eisenhower's command was advocated today by Lt. Gen. Douglas Brownrigg, retired, "because it will require the greatest military skill to beat Von Rundstedt." Brownrigg was adjutant general of the British expeditionary force in France at the time of his retirement in 1940.

"It is absolutely necessary for an executive commander to be appointed over all the land forces in western Europe as soon as possible, leaving Supreme Commander Eisenhower free to attend to the many duties that fall to his lot in the way of politics, military government of occupied territories, or kindred matters," Brownrigg wrote in the Evening News.

"No One Can Carry Load."

Tho conceding that Eisenhower is the "ideal man as supreme commander," Brownrigg commented that allied operations have not gone so well since the first of September, when Eisenhower "descended from his supreme perch [over the staff of British assistants] and took over personal control of land fighting." The general said "no one can carry the load Eisenhower has imposed upon himself."

"In Tunisia he did not take personal control of the battle," Brownrigg continued. "He handed that over to [British Field Marshal] Alexander and confined himself to future planning and to keeping Alexander free from any form of political interference.

"Let that be done again. Let Eisenhower choose his best subordinate to conduct the land battle under his supreme direction or else let him have Alexander [commander in the Mediterranean area] once again as his deputy."

Hails Montgomery's Methods.

Brownrigg hailed British Field Marshal Montgomery as an able field director who leaves "boiler room" tasks to his "chief engineer" and steers his ship according to the advice of his staff instead of trying to handle a multitude of jobs himself.

AUTO DERAILS DETROIT TRAIN; 1 DEAD, 12 HURT

Detroit, Mich., Dec. 29 [Friday]—[Special].—Twelve passengers were seriously injured and the engineer was killed when a New York Central Cleveland to Detroit train running two hours behind time in a fog smashed into a stalled automobile at a crossing in suburban Trenton late last night.

The train's engine and tender turned over and baggage cars and eight coaches were derailed but remained upright. Killed was O. F. Hayward, Toledo, O. Still pinned under the tender early today was the fireman, Ray Harmon, who was reported in critical condition.

Trenton police said Lee Ridenour and his wife of near-by Dundee leaped from the automobile when it became caught between the tracks. Ridenour was held for questioning.

Wounded on Tarawa

Maj. William C. Chamberlin, 28, of the marine corps, son of the late Col. Henry Barrett Chamberlin, founder of the Chicago Crime commission and former newspaper editor, said in Chicago yesterday that from what he has seen of the Pacific war he believes it will be a long one.

Maj. Chamberlin was wounded in the shoulder in the invasion of Tarawa. He participated in the destruction of a Japanese pillbox with walls more than five feet thick. He also saw action on Guadalcanal, Saipan and Tinian.

The marine officer and his wife, Beverly, and their son, Henry Barrett Chamberlin III., 4, are visting Maj. Chamberlin's mother, Irene, at 4418 N. Paulina st. His wife is a daughter of Rear Adm. William Leake Mann, medical officer of the 13th naval district at Seattle, Wash.

ADM. MITSCHER SAYS JAP FLEET WILL TRY AGAIN

U. S. PACIFIC FLEET HDQ., Pearl Harbor, Dec. 28 (AP).—Vice Adm. Mitscher, who directed the navy's air arm in the two battles of the Philippines sea, said today he anticipated another action with remnants of the enemy's surface force. The commander of United States fast carrier forces, returning from a month and a half leave in California, told war correspondents:

"They've reached the point where they'll throw everything in the fight. I think in another year we should have their navy pretty well cleaned up."

Mitscher unwrapped a package and rolled six dice on the table to open his press conference. He called out mysterious directions such as "Go see" and "Scram."

"That's how they make decisions in Washington," he said as a smile wrinkled his face. Mitscher did not amplify his remark, but joined correspondents in a hearty laugh at his sally.

PLANES ALONE CAN'T WHIP JAPS, SAYS DOUGLASS

SOMEWHERE IN THE MARIANAS, Dec. 28 (AP).—Airplanes alone cannot defeat Japan, and it would take thousands of them to keep even tiny Iwo Island permanently inoperative, Maj. Gen. Robert W. Douglass, commander of the 7th air force and deputy commander of the Pacific strategic air force, said today.

"The psychology of her people is such that she must be occupied before she will admit defeat," he said.

Douglass said that every time our men fly over Iwo they find air fields repaired, "just as they used to find them on Wotje and Maloelap in the Marshalls. The Japanese, with a couple of bulldozers, can repair their coral fields in half an hour."

Douglass expressed pride in two comparatively new and unknown combat arms — marine operated rocket firing Mitchell B-25s, known here as PBJs, and the P-61 Black Widow night fighters.

CRISIS IN GREECE A NIGHTMARE TO WAR REPORTERS

BY CLAY GOWRAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ATHENS, Greece, Dec. 28.—Foreign correspondents covering the civil war in Greece and its political ramifications have found the assignment a nightmare which lasts 24 hours a day. Veteran writers who have handled Europe's biggest stories for the last 20 years say they never saw anything like it.

Day after day correspondents strive to follow a true course thru the maze of rumors and counter-rumors, emphatic assertions, and violent denials—all vouched for as official and absolutely reliable. A writer cannot walk 100 yards in central Athens without collecting two or three "authentic" reports. If a story is written at noon, by 2 p. m. it is proved false. If you don't write it, the story proves to be true.

Churchill No Help.

Consider the Churchill interview with correspondents yesterday. The British prime minister met the press at 4 p. m. and for an hour we scribbled notes furiously as he spoke. For the next hour press-room typewriters chattered deafeningly as the stories were readied for the world. Then the British embassy telephoned that Churchill was making slight changes in the interview script, and that all stories would be held up.

A few minutes before 8 p. m. a corrected script was brought in by Osbert Lancaster, London cartoonist who has become the foreign office liaison man. The "slight" changes turned out to be major alterations. Whole paragraphs were omitted, others altered, and words and phrases changed thruout the script.

Three British censors found they could not censor the mass of copy from one corrected script, so correspondents' stories were held up another 90 minutes while the revised interview was being mimeographed. At 11 p. m., just as the censors were beginning to make headway, the pressroom lights went out. The censors struggled on by candle light.

Cleared 15 Hours Late.

Then the Cable and Wireless company reported transmission difficulties. It was 9:30 a. m. today when the last of the stories written 15 hours earlier had cleared Athens.

Consider also the arrangements made to supply correspondents with news of what happened at the secret meeting held by Greek political leaders to decide whether it was to be peace or continued war in Greece.

Writers protested strongly when it was learned that the only official information would be channeled thru the Papandreou government's ministry of information. The protests were just because the government represents one side of the two warring factions brought together at the conference and might be reasonably suspected of slanting news releases to strengthen its cause.

How It's Done Now.

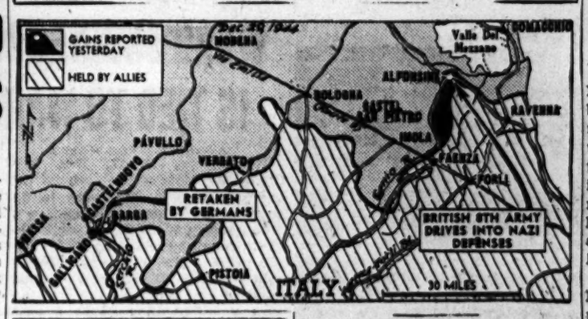

So a change was made. Now official news is originated by Archbishop Damaskinos, neutral chairman of the conference. Then it is translated into English by the Greek ministry of information. Finally it is read to correspondents by the liaison man of the British foreign office, who does not speak Greek. If that's an improvement, it is hard to see.

Even everyday living here presents outlandish difficulties. If there is hot water in the hotel it comes on at midnight and has vanished before dawn. If you are lucky enough to get a pot of tea in the cafeteria style dining room you are sure not to get a teacup. Now correspondents are running out of typewriter paper.

A penciled sign has appeared on the door of the pressroom which truly describes the correspondents' state of mind. It says:

"Visitors are requested not to feed the inmates of this monkey house."

Yanks Driven Back in Italy

1,000 AIRPLANES STRIKE TO STOP NAZIS IN ITALY

ROME, Italy, Dec. 28 (AP).—Strong allied air and ground forces were thrown into battle today in an attempt to halt the German assault on a six mile front in the Serchio river valley, where American doughboys have been driven from the important road town of Barga in two days of fighting. More than 1,000 allied planes took part.

The Germans said the United States 92d [Negro] division had been knocked back "some kilometers" by the drive, evidently aimed at the allied supply port of Livorno [Leghorn], 33 miles away. Barga is a mile and a half east of the Serchio river and about 15 miles north of the provincial capital of Lucca.

Field Marshal Kesselring's forces hit thru flatlands and mountains on both sides of the Serchio in the first action of any importance in the 5th army's west coast sector in several weeks.

The Nazis also became unusually active in the central sector of the 5th army front. Enemy units were repulsed south of Monte Sole, a peak 12 miles south of Bologna.

To the east, British 8th army troops pushing north along the Senio river slashed into German defenses at Alfonsine, nine miles northwest of Ravenna.

ITALY RELIEVES GENERAL WHO URGED REFORM

ROME, Italy, Dec. 28 (AP).—Gen. Arnaldo Azzi, 59, who wrote a newspaper article calling for reorganization of the Italian army, has been relieved of his command in the Lazio-Umbria-Abruzzi region, the war ministry announced today.

In his article, which appeared Christmas eve in the Actionist newspaper L'Italia Libera, the general advocated making the army national rather than royal, eliminating the oath to the king, and "democratizing" relations between officers and enlisted men.

Lloyd George to Receive Earldom, London Reports

LONDON, Dec. 28 (AP).—David Lloyd George, Britain's World War I. prime minister who announced yesterday that he will retire from the house of commons after 54 years of service, will receive an earldom, it was reported reliably tonight. He will be named on the king's New Year's list of honors, it was said, and will accept. When he left the prime ministry in 1922, he declined a title.

GOES 19,000 MILES FOR CHANCE TO FIGHT IN PACIFIC

BY QUENTIN POPE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WELLINGTON, New Zealand, Dec. 28.—Bob Thorpe, 20, Johannesburg, South Africa, college student, reached the end of his 19,000 mile trail today when he was accepted by the New Zealand air force for training to fight the Japanese. Determined to serve in the Pacific, Thorpe left home more than a year ago to avenge some friends who were killed by the Japs.

He won a special exit permit from Field Marshal Jan Christian Smuts, prime minister of the British dominion, and worked on coastal ships until he was signed up by an American freighter. At Los Angeles he was turned back by immigration authorities and went on to Vancouver, B. C., from where he reëntered the United States on a 40 day permit.

Thorpe, however, failed to receive permission to join the army air force. His visit permit expiring, he hitchhiked back to Canada where he arrived just too late to be mobilized under the empire air scheme. Then reading of New Zealand's expansion plans for a Pacific air force, he worked his way here as a steward on a freighter.

AVERY APPARENT BOSS OF WARD'S AFTER SEIZURE

Conflict Expected to Be Decided in Court.

he would have to refuse such permission.

For Avery yesterday's seizure by the army was no new experience. Last April the department of commerce, acting on another Presidential edict and aided by the army, actually took over the Chicago Ward properties. The dispute then was virtually the same as now. The government major-domo then was Atty. Gen. Biddle, who had Avery carried from his office to the street by soldiers. Public reaction to the spectacle of soldiers throwing out the business man—then 69—was so adverse that the government returned Ward's to Avery.

Yesterday it was no secret that federal authorities were determined not to emulate Biddle. The army and not the commerce department was chosen this time for the task of seizing the business. This time bayoneted soldiers were not around. In their place appeared Gen. Byron and 14 other officers, most of them lieutenant colonels.

General Brings Staff of Six.

At 9 a. m. Gen. Byron arrived at Avery's office on the eighth floor. In private life a business man himself, Gen. Byron is in charge of the army's post exchange services—a billion dollar business. He is 52, a West Point graduate, and a veteran of World War I. With him were Lt. Col. A. S. Mason, executive officer; Lt. Col. Daniel L. Boland, labor relations officer; Lt. Col. Paul M. Hebert, legal adviser; Lt. Col. J. H. Savage, financial adviser; Lt. Col. A. H. Raskin, public relations officer, and H. A. Wythes, civilian financial adviser.

Gen. Byron formally read to Avery President Roosevelt's proclamation ordering the seizure and citing his reasons for his act. The proclamation asserted that strikes had occurred in Ward properties because of Ward's defiance of WLB directives, that thousands of workers were affected, and that the war production program was being hindered and might be further hindered.

War Output Periled, F. D. R. Says.

In a supplemental statement, issued in Washington, President Roosevelt declared that the war had reached a crucial point, that Ward's under Avery has bitterly opposed bona fide unions, that Ward's cannot be permitted to set aside the country's war time policies, and that "the government cannot and will not tolerate any interference with war production in this critical hour."

After Gen. Byron had finished reading the Roosevelt proclamation, Avery said he would reply shortly. Three hours later he handed Gen. Byron his written answer.

"Ward's cannot in good citizenship accept or obey the commands of those who have no legal power to give them, and who are seeking to deprive Ward's of its constitutional rights and liberties," Avery declared.

Charges Violation of Oath.

His statement charged that the President was seeking to enforce empty powers of the WLB against a nonwar business [Ward's], that the effect of the President's order would be to impose a closed shop against Ward workers, and that his order was a violation of his Constitutional oath.

Gen. Byron and his aides retired to a near-by office. Soon several were noticed telephoning, and it was believed they were seeking legal advice from the New Deal lawyers who had come to Chicago for the Ward's seizure.

Neither Avery nor the general would comment on the impasse. A source close to Avery said, however, that Avery considered Gen. Byron and his staff trespassers. Each side meticulously avoided any overt act.

Avery remained in his office, issuing usual orders, the general and his men remained in theirs. Gen. Byron left at 5:26 p. m. Avery departed at 5:30.

Ask Writ Against Interference.

The question of whether Avery or Byron was in control of Ward's immediately centered interest in the suit filed by the government earlier in the day. This action asked a temporary injunction to restrain Avery and 15 other Ward officers from interfering with army operation of the company. The case was assigned to Judge Philip L. Sullivan.

The suit was prepared by Hugh B. Cox, assistant solicitor general; Benedict Deinard, special assistant to the attorney general, United States Atty. Woll and numerous assistants. Specifically it asked judicial affirmation of the right of the government, thru the President and various federal agencies, to seize and operate Ward's. Further, it asserted the fate of the entire price and wage stabilization program is involved in the case. That, Cox said, is "the heart of the case, and we want to settle once and for all this dispute with Ward's."

Allege Effect on War.

Thirty-two pages long, the bill recited that Ward's is a vast organization; that it employs 70,000 persons; that it operates 600 stores thruout the country, and that it manufactures goods which are part of the war time economy.

This section was said to be aimed at showing that Ward's is a war business rather than, as Avery has contended, a nonwar business. To that end eight affidavits, supporting that theory, were attached.

The bill reviewed Ward's long labor battle with the CIO unions and with the WLB. In conclusion it raised a question of the future of the stabilization program if the Ward attitude were upheld.

Assert War Program Is Periled.

"Persistent refusal of Ward's to accept determination by WLB or to settle its labor disputes peacefully," the suit averred, "has led other parties to labor disputes to refuse to accept the determination of the board, threatens the maintenance of the no strike, no lockout pledge, and threatens to break down the procedure established by congress for the peaceful adjustments of labor disputes in time of war, and to disrupt the national price and wage stabilization act."

Attorneys Stuart Ball and Harold A. Smith for Ward's were on hand when the suit was filed. It was immediately assigned to Judge Sullivan. No attempt was made to get an immediate court hearing, and it was explained that Ward's has 20 days in which to answer.

Officials of local 20 of the CIO union, which precipitated this second Ward's-government fight, were pleased by yesterday's happenings. At 6 a. m. a thin line of pickets moved around the Ward plant. By noon, at the request of Col. Boland, the union withdrew its pickets and terminated its strike, which Henry B. Anderson, local president, called "a lockout."

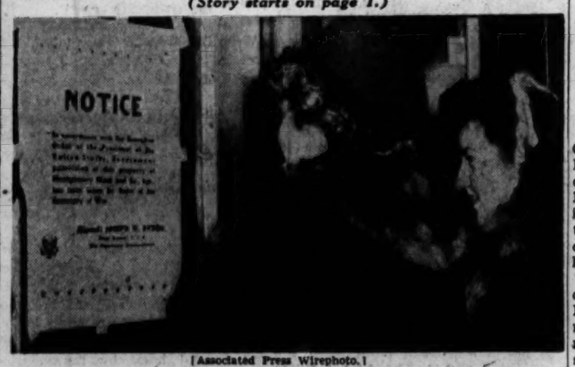

By its brief strike, he added, the local had achieved its purposes. Effect of the brief strike was disputed. Ward's said that out of 3,534 regular employes working Wednesday, 2,517 showed up in spite of pickets yesterday. Miss Myrna Siegendorf, educational director of the union, asserted 85 per cent were out.

There was no outward indication that seizure of Ward properties interrupted normal operation.

In Detroit, Ward's sued local 332 of the CIO union, Roy Scoggins, Michigan director of the union; Merritt Martin, local president, and two United Auto Workers [CIO] members for $50,000 damage. The bill charged them with responsibility for the destruction caused by hoodlums Wednesday in Ward's Dearborn store.

Army Seizes Ward Properties

Customers of the Grand River st. Montgomery Ward store in Detroit read notice posted by army officers as the war department took over the administration of four stores in that area yesterday.

WLB HEAD HOLDS WARD BUSINESS IS TIED TO WAR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 28.—Chairman Davis of the national war labor board said late today in discussing the government seizure of Montgomery Ward & Co. properties in Chicago and six other cities that the mail order company "cannot contend that its business is unrelated to the war."

In a statement read to a news conference, Davis recounted that Montgomery Ward serves about 30 million customers, including the millions of farmers the company supplies with machinery, repair parts, and other goods. The firm manufactures paints, varnish, fencing, and farm equipment, and thru the subsidiary Hummer Manufacturing company in Springfied, Ill., produces carburetors, propellers, and gun mounts for military aircraft, he asserted.

Not Like Petrillo Case.

Davis referred to statements made by Atty. Gen. Biddle and the company itself that the mail order organization is essential to the civilian and war economies.

Answering a question, the WLB chairman said that the Montgomery Ward and Petrillo musicians union noncompliance cases are "vastly different." He said that the Petrillo dispute bore no such relation to the war program and there were no possibilities of the case leading to strikes in war plants. In addition, no wage issue was involved, he explained.

"In only one sense could the Petrillo case and the Avery [Sewell L. Avery, chairman of Montgomery Ward] case be termed similar," Davis continued. "That, of course, is in the rejection by both men of the labor-industry agreement that all labor disputes would be settled by the WLB for the duration of the war.

"Any defiance of the board weakens that agreement, but defiance from a large corporation like Ward in a highly explosive labor situation like Detroit is vastly more serious than the Petrillo defiance. When that defiance is coupled with even the possibility that strikes may spread to war plants the nation cannot afford to take a chance."

Davis asserted that Avery's refusal to comply with WLB directives also affected the wage stabilization policy. Should Montgomery Ward succeed in its refusal to apply wage increases found by the WLB to be fair and equitable and necessary to eliminate substandard wage conditions, Davis said, the administration of the entire wage stabilization program "will be seriously jeopardized."

Seeks to Settle Case.

Asked if the government might have taken a course of action against Montgomery Ward other than seizure if there had been no strike in Detroit, Davis replied "not necessarily." He said that the Detroit strike "brought the matter to a head and gave it urgency."

He said the Chicago properties seized today were the same as those taken over by the government last April, adding that today's action was an "effort to clean up what was started last spring."

Davis said he has taken no action in the noncompliance of the United States Gypsum company, of which Avery also is chairman. This case involves the company's refusal to obey WLB wage orders.

GEN. BYRON, NEW BOSS AT WARD'S, HAS BUSY LIFE

Direction of the huge Montgomery Ward & Co. merchandising enterprise probably will maintain the busy pace of Maj. Gen. Joseph W. Byron, 52, war department representative in the second federal seizure of the company within the year.

Gen. Byron, as director of the army exchange service for more than two years, has been the guiding hand behind 900 post exchanges and 10,000 smaller army sales units doing an annual gross business of $1,020,000,000 in the United States and overseas.

As a civilian for 23 years between the time he resigned from the regular army in 1919 until he was commissioned a colonel in July, 1942, Gen. Byron was head of W. D. Byron & Sons, Williamsport, Md., tanners; president of the First Federal Savings and Loan association of Hagerstown, Md., and vice president and chairman of the executive committee of the Hagerstown Shoe and Legging company.

Gen. Byron, a native of Fort Meade, S. D., was graduated from the United States Military academy with the class of 1914.

WARD'S SEIZURE IS TERMED 'END OF DEMOCRACY'

Hoffman Denies F. D. R. Empowered to Act.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 28.—President Roosevelt's edict for the seizure of Montgomery Ward & Company property in seven cities was assailed today as "an end of so-called democracy here at home" by Rep. Hoffman [R., Mich.].

From Rep. Ramspeck [D., Ga.] house whip and chairman of the special committee which investigated Ward's troubles with the government, came the statement, however, that Mr. Roosevelt "had no other course to take."

"The blame, if any," said Ramspeck, "should be on congress for not having enacted legislation providing for means of enforcing the lawful orders of the war labor board."

Hits F. D. R. Usurpation.

These two differing viewpoints were believed to express sentiments on the property seizure which may be expected to enliven debate when the new congress meets next week.

"The President is assuming a power which congress never gave him or intended to give him," said Hoffman. "No man can henceforth be secure in his property, large or small, if the government can strip him of it by merely issuing a directive."

Hoffman said President Roosevelt's statement that the government "cannot and will not tolerate any interference with war production" apparently was a "sudden conversion" on the President's part.

Sees Fear of Unions.

"There hasn't been a day when 500 or 1,000 CIO war plant workers haven't been on strike in Michigan," Hoffman asserted. "It seems strange that the government should seize a retail store but leave CIO unions alone. It looks as if the government was afraid to crack down on CIO unions but is perfectly willing to take over any private business."

Hoffman noted photographs in today's newspapers showing "rioters' destructive work" in the Dearborn, Mich., Montgomery Ward store. The accompanying accounts told how 75 persons trampled merchandise, overturned displays, and counters and quoted a union official as saying that "imported strikebreakers" were responsible.

Twelve days ago, he remarked, four Ward officials received cuts, broken jaws, and other injuries during demonstrations of "peaceful picketing."

Deliberate Defiance.

"It is evident," Hoffman said, "that the recent invasion of Ward's retail stores, the destruction and violence, are the result of a deliberate planned action on the part of the CIO to defy the law, the courts, Gov. Kelly, and the state police.

"It remains to be seen what will happen now that the army has moved in despite statements from WLB aids that the army wouldn't act.

"The CIO and the PAC [political action committee] have announced their intention of controling congress. One of the ways to help them do it is for local authorities, state officials, to permit them to defy the law, destroy private property, and beat up all who oppose them.

Hits Lack of Action.

"Michigan has a state statute, evidently overlooked by the state authorities, which makes it a criminal offense for any one to interfere, by threat, coercion, or violence, with any employe going to his usual place of employment. Citizens of Michigan have wondered whether that law will be enforced.

"There should be no question but that, if union officials counsel and advocate violence and destruction of property, they are amenable to the law."

Other comments included that of Rep. Andresen [R., Minn.] who said that "if President Roosevelt has the power to take over retail establishments by using the army, he also has the power to take over every other business or service establishment or farm in the country."

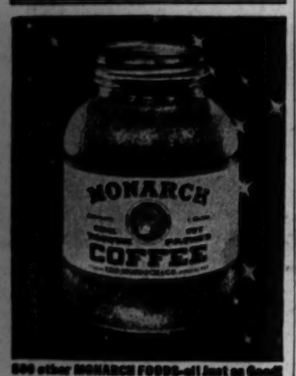

Sen. Langer [R., N. D.] said: "What a pitiful spectacle capital and labor must present with their bickerings to the armed forces who today are offering everything in the world they have in defense of their country."

BODY OF WOMAN FOUND IN RIVER AT WASHINGTON

Washington, D. C., Dec. 28 (AP).—The body of a young woman found floating in the Potomac river today was identified as that of Miss Gladys Erickson, 26, of Virginia, Minn.

A civilian employe of the coast guard, she had been in Washington about a year. She disappeared Nov. 11.

The body was identified by a supervisor at the government residence where Miss Erickson had lived, and a fellow worker. They said she had left a note indicating she was despondent.

ROOSEVELT SAYS AVERY MENACES WAR PRODUCTION

Bases Seizure on Fear of Factory Strikes.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 28 (AP).—The text of President Roosevelt's statement explaining his action in ordering seizure today of Montgomery Ward & Co. facilities in seven cities:

"We are today at a crucial point in the war. Great battles which will determine the fate of the world are raging in Europe and in the Pacific. The tempo and the fury of the conflict are mounting.

"Our commanders in the field are demanding weapons in increasing quantities so that they may hit the enemy harder and harder. The supreme effort of all of us here at home is imperative if we are to give them what they need. Nothing less will suffice.

No Interference with Output.

"The government of the United States cannot and will not tolerate any interference with war production in this critical hour.

"Nearly three years ago we set up war time labor relations machinery to insure that our troops and our allies would get essential supplies without interruptions caused by industrial disputes. This machinery, embodied in the national war labor board, has had the support of all responsible elements in American management and American labor. It has been a vital element in the attainment of our unparalleled record of war production.

"Now the confidence which employers and workers rightly place in this structure for the impartial adjudication of disputes is being threatened by consistent and wilful defiance of its decisions by the head of one of the great corporations of this country—Sewell Avery, chairman of the board of Montgomery Ward & Co.

Record of "Continuous Trouble."

"This company, under Mr. Avery's leadership, has waged a bitter fight against the bona fide unions of its employes thruout the war, in reckless disregard of the government's efforts to maintain harmony between management and labor. Its record of labor relations has been a record of continuous trouble.

"Twice the government has had to seize properties of Montgomery Ward as a result of Mr. Avery's defiant attitude, once in Chicago and once in Springfield, Ill., where the Hummer Manufacturing company, a Montgomery Ward division, has been operated by the war department since last May.

Threat of Sympathy Strikes.

"For more than a year the company has refused to accept decisions involving workers in 10 of its retail stores. Four of these stores are in the Detroit area, the very heart of war production from the viewpoint of urgency. A strike is in progress in these four stores and strikes are threatened in other cities where the company's stores are located. There is a distinct threat that workers in some of our most critical war plants may join the strike in support of the Montgomery Ward employes if the government fails to act. We are not going to let this happen.

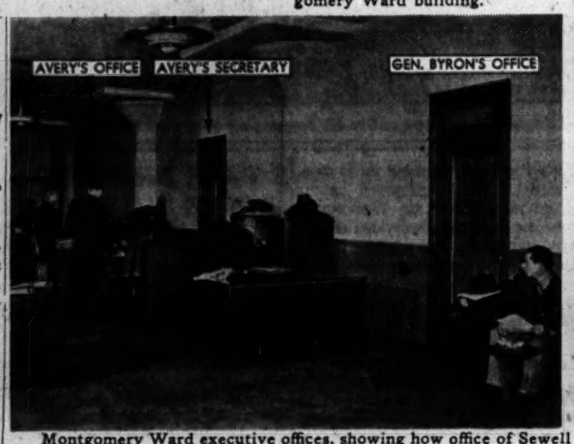

"Strikes in war time cannot be condoned, whether they are strikes by workers against their employers or strikes by employers against their government. All of our energies are engrossed in fighting a war on the military battlefronts. We have none to spare for a war on the industrial battlefronts. It is up to us to uphold and strengthen our machinery for settling disputes without interruptions of production. We cannot do this in a total war if we permit defiance to go unchallenged.

"The findings submitted to me by the war labor board were unanimously adopted by the board, including the representatives of industry.

"We cannot allow Montgomery Ward & Co. to set aside the war time policies of the United States government just because Mr. Sewell Avery does not approve of the government's procedure for handling labor disputes. Montgomery Ward & Co., like every other corporation and every labor union in this country, has a responsibility to our fighting men. That responsibility is to see that nothing interferes with the continuity of our war production. It is because Montgomery Ward & Co. has failed to assume this obligation that I have been forced to sign an executive order directing the secretary of war to take over and operate certain properties of Montgomery Ward & Co."

STEAL $7,300 IN JEWELRY.

Thieves who broke into David Kupperman's jewelry and furniture store at 141 S. Genesee st., Waukegan, Wednesday night stole $700 and jewelry valued at $7,300, Kupperman reported yesterday to the police.

Montgomery Ward executive offices, showing how office of Sewell Avery's secretary separates the office quarters of Mr. Avery and Maj. Gen. Joseph Byron, who directed army seizure yesterday.

Avery Denounces Seizure as Breach of Constitution

Sewell Avery, chairman of the board of Montgomery Ward & Co., issued the following written statement after the army had seized the Ward plant:

"The order of the President of the United States to effect the seizure of the property and business of Montgomery Ward is a violation of the Constitution of the United States, which the President has sworn to uphold and defend.

"The congress, which is the sole law making authority under the Constitution, has given the President no power to seize the nonwar business of Montgomery Ward.

Cites Court Decision.

"The purpose of the President's order is to enforce by an exercise of arbitrary power orders of the war labor board, which the courts have declared to be merely advisory and legally unenforceable.

"The courts have held that any one who refuses to comply with orders of the war labor board is not defying a command of the government and that, since the orders are merely advisory, no government official has the right to impose punishments on those who do not comply.

"The President's order does not arise from any failure on Ward's part to pay fair wage rates. Ward's policy is and has been to pay wages as high as or higher than those paid by other employers in the community for similar employment.

Resists Paying More Than Rivals.

"Ward's only objection to any of the war labor board's wage recommendations has been in those instances where the board has arbitrarily demanded that Ward's substantially increase its rates above those of its competitors in the highly competitive retail field.

"The President has ordered the army to restrict the liberties of Ward's employes by imposing upon them the closed shop in the form of union maintenance. This is the final step in the coercion used by the administrative agencies of the government to force the closed shop upon employers and employes thruout the nation.

"Ward's has long believed that when the public awakens to the extent of this coercion it will rise in indignation.

Free to Join or Stay Out.

"Ward's defense of the freedom of its employes has not been prompted by any feeling of anti-unionism. All employes at Ward's are free to join or not to join a union, as they wish.

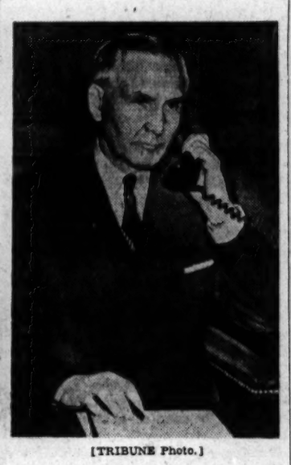

"Ward's fully recognizes this privilege and has assured all employes that their opportunity with the company will be the same whether they are union members or not.

"Ward's cannot in good citizenship accept or obey the commands of those who have no legal power to give them and who are seeking to deprive Ward's of its constitutional rights and liberties.

Court Decision Sought Two Years.

"Ward's takes this position in defense of the constitutional rights and liberties of every citizen of the United States.

"The issues are now before the courts, where Ward's have sought for two years to have them decided. Ward's welcomes the opportunity to present its case to the court."

865 MAKING WAR MATERIALS QUIT WORK IN 2 SHOPS

Strike Halts Motors for Super Forts.

Production of essential war material was interrupted yesterday when 865 employes in two war plants went on strike. The strikes affected the Dodge Chicago plant, where B-29 Super Fortress engines are built, and the International Harvester company's ball bearing plant in West Pullman.

At the Dodge plant 215 employes in the hammer crew left their jobs in a dispute whether the crew members could be called upon to assist in setting trimmer dies. One hundred twenty-six hammer men, heaters, and helpers of 163 employed on the day shift left the plant after punching the time clock in the morning. On the afternoon shift 89 employes of 101 walked off the job after reporting for work.

Two Men Open Dispute.

Plant officials said two men who refused to do the work Wednesday were sent home. Then 45 other members of the crew refused to work and they were sent home. The strike then was called by the others.

At the harvester plant, 650 employes, members of local 107, United Farm Equipment Workers [CIO], walked out in a dispute over wages to be paid for piece work on new machines installed in the plant. The plant was recently rushed to completion to turn out the vitally needed bearings and had just started production.

650 Quit Harvester Plant.

Company officials asserted the wage scales had been fixed previously in agreements made with the union officials. Yesterday morning, however, 200 employes in the ball bearing department said that the machines were not the same as other machines in the plant, and quit. After that walkout, 150 employes in the screw department and 300 in the forge shop and milk cooler department left the plant.

Charles Killinger, international representative for the CIO union, later said that the strike was unauthorized and that the employes would be urged to return. A meeting was later called by the union officials. Close to 4,000 are employed in the plant and company officials said that they were unable to say to what extent the walkout would affect other lines of production.

SEIZED ON BOGUS CHECK CHARGES.

Clarence Dammerich, 42, living on Green Bay rd., west of Waukegan, was arrested yesterday on warrants charging him with having cashed four worthless checks totaling $205.

1943 AUTO THEFT TOTAL EXCEEDED IN 11 MONTHS

The 3,310 automobiles stolen in Chicago during the first 11 months of 1944 already exceeded last year's total of 3,096 car thefts, Capt. George Teeling, head of the automobile detail of the detective bureau, reported yesterday. Thefts in the first 11 months of 1943 totaled 2,754.

Of the 3,454 automobiles recovered this year, 167 were stripped, a large increase over the 77 cars stripped during 1943. Capt. Teeling said the increased number of thefts and strippings might be blamed on the fact that 20 per cent of his men entered the army or navy during the year.

Up to Dec. 1 of this year, 1,215 prisoners had been arraigned in the Stolen Auto court, compared with a total of 1,262 during 1943.

WARD'S SALES UP DESPITE EARLIER STRIKE, SEIZURE

Montgomery Ward & Co. ranks second in size among the country's mail order and chain store organizations. Its directors include some of the most widely known business and financial figures whose interests extend to nearly every field of banking and commerce.

Under the leadership of Sewell L. Avery, board chairman and former president, who has headed the company since 1931, the company's sales volume has more than trebled. Ward's has nine mail order plants and 640 warehouses, with operations extending into every state.

Sales Gain in 1944.

Ward's sales in the 10 months ended Nov. 30 were more than 541 million dollars, an increase of 2.3 per cent over a year earlier despite its strike and subsquent government seizure last April. The company handles nearly every important line of merchandise, including clothing, house furnishings, building materials, farm implements and automotive accessories. Approximately 130,000 items are listed in its catalog.

Ward's employs 78,000 persons with an annual pay roll of more than 106 million dollars. In the nine months ended Oct. 31, the first three quarters of its fiscal year, the company paid $18,195,000 in taxes. Net profit of the company in the nine months amounted to more than 14 million dollars. Nearly 12 million has been paid out to stockholders this year, the return on the common stock amounting to $2 a share, and on the A stock $7 a share.

Stock Owned by 60,000.

Ownership of the company is distributed among 60,000 shareholders, none of whom owns more than 2 per cent of the stock. The stock was quoted yesterday at $50.50, a decline of 25 cents from Wednesday.

In addition to his position with Ward, Avery is chairman of the United States Gypsum company, and is a director of Armour and company, the United States Steel corporation, the Pullman company, the Pure Oil company, the Peoples Gas Light and Coke company, and the Northern Trust company.

This is NO "Easy Money"

"5¢ PER CHECK" ACCOUNT (No Minimum Balance Required)

CHECK-CREDIT

$25.00 is not a lot of money, but sometimes it can be vitally important.

Small sums such as this are borrowed daily by millions of people from friends, relatives, employers. Such borrowings are troublesome not because they are difficult to repay, but because they are embarrassing to ask for. And because they are small, we know they are sometimes overlooked and personal friendships jeopardized.

That is why a person opening a 5¢ per check (no minimum balance) account here, has the privilege of arranging for Automatic Credit—which allows him to write a check for as much as $25 more than he has in the bank—whenever he needs a loan.

Because the charge for this service is small ($1) and the method of repaying so convenient and automatic, some depositors, we realize, might form the habit of using the borrowing privilege unwisely. We therefore respectfully urge each Check-Credit client to use his or her borrowing privilege only to perform the friendly, useful and real service for which it is designed . . . to conveniently meet the occasional small emergencies that arise in these modern times.

Check-Credit is just another expression of this bank's policy—providing financial services designed to our customers' needs. Call personally, write, or phone Whitehall 4500 for full particulars.

PASTEUR STATUE TO BE MOVED TO MEDICAL CENTER

Presented to Commission by Park District.

BY ROY GIBBONS.

The executive board of the Medical Center commission yesterday voted a $25,000 appropriation to move the statue of Louis Pasteur from its location opposite the west wall of the Chicago Museum of Natural History in Grant park to a new site in Honore st., just north of Convalescent park, fronting Cook county hospital.

The statue, which weighs 54 tons and rests on a 545 ton marble and concrete base, is being presented to the commission by the Chicago park district, to which it was given in 1927 by a citizens committee headed by the late Dr. Frank Billings.

Center Gateway to Be Site.

Plans discussed at the commission's meeting, held in the University of Illinois medical school at 1853 W. Polk st., call for rededicating the monument of the famous French bacteriologist as a symbol of medicine to mark the gateway to a 305 acre tract which the commission is seeking to acquire as the world's largest medical center.

The area bounded by Congress st., Roosevelt rd., Ashland, and Oakley blvds., when obtained, will represent an expenditure of private funds approximating 250 million dollars, tentative plans disclose.

Acquisition of the area, representing 2,200 pieces of privately owned property which the commission is empowered to acquire thru condemnation proceedings, depends upon action of the state legislature in approving a $250,000 appropriation the commission has requested to begin its land assembly program.

Nine Parcels Acquired.

To date it has secured title to only nine such parcels in the form of lots purchased for less than $1,000 with funds from five donations of $1,000 each by Gov. Green, the city, the Chicago park district, the board of Cook county commissioners, and the University of Illinois, which sponsored the commission at the time it was created by the legislature in 1941.

Lack of funds to proceed with its program has held up further activity on the proposed development in which the county, the University of Illinois and possibly Presbyterian hospital and Loyola university will join, members of the commission reported.

The contemplated medical center, which now houses 14 county, state and private affiliated medical institutions within its proposed boundaries, when completed and cleared, according to present specifications, will be surrounded by a 50 acre rectangular parkway and a further belt of model homes in which employes would live.

Plan Buffer Landscaping.

By such double shielding of its borders, a "buffer" landscaping will be effected to bring to the actual center's inside, a 126 acre tract, a healthful and parklike environment, whose beauty will be as conducive to the recovery of patients as expert medical attention and care, members of the commission assert.

Estimated value of all land the commission must acquire before the center is completed and made ready for expansion by medical institutions now on the ground, and others which it will seek to move into the area, is $17,000,000, E. Todd Wheeler, director of planning, disclosed.

Ray McCarthy, president, David H. Brill, secretary, and Albert D. Farwell, treasurer of the commission, were all reelected by the board which also voted itself an appropriation of $45,951 for operating expenses during the coming fiscal year. This is double the amount received in 1943. Members of the commission serve without salary.

BIOFF, BROWNE RELEASED FROM FEDERAL PRISON

Sandstone, Minn., Dec. 28 (AP).—Warden George W. Humphrey of the Sandstone federal prison announced today that William Bioff and George Browne, serving 10 and eight year sentences, respectively, in connection with a million dollar extortion plot against the motion picture industry, have been released from prison.

The warden declined to say when they were released. They were ordered freed by Federal Judge John C. Knox in New York, who said the two had "really aided the government with their testimony" in the trial of six men charged with having participated in labor racketeering. Bioff and Browne previously paid individual fines of $10,000.

Holiday for Training School Inmates

HOLIDAY IN CITY GIVEN 41 BOYS AT TRAINING SCHOOL

Good Behavior Pays, Inmates Learn.

Forty-one inmates of the Illinois State Training School for Boys near St. Charles were brought to Chicago yesterday for luncheon, dinner, a movie, and a visit to a service men's center. Supt. Richard Eddy called the trip a reward for exemplary behavior the last six months. All of the inmates are so near parole, he said, that he regarded the risk of escape as slight.

When the party was about to leave Hull House after dinner last night to return on the Chicago, Aurora and Elgin electric line to the school with its high wire fence Supt. Eddy called the day a success.

"I was told at the service center and at the City club luncheon that the boys conducted themselves very well," he said.

Youngest Earns a Place.

The youngest boy at the school, a 10 year old sent from downstate as a dependent who had been caught at petty thievery, was one of the party. The others ranged in age up to 18 and the average age of the group, Eddy said, was 15.

All the youths at the school are under indefinite sentence. The average period of good behavior leading to parole is 10 months, Eddy said. The inmates on the trip had made a start toward parole six months ago when their behavior began to count toward the trip.

City Club Plays Host.

"We have had these trips before, but I always tell the boys that it all depends on them whether there will be a trip or not," Eddy said. "Last year we went to Aurora for a day and two years ago we came to Chicago."

The luncheon given by the City club, which has a special fund for welfare work among delinquent boys, was served in the La Salle hotel. Herman L. Ellsworth, the club president, praised the behavior of the guests. Francis Scully, a club member who recently was appointed superintendent of the Juvenile home, was in charge of the luncheon.

CONGRESS HOTEL IS FACING 1,000 JOB PROBLEM

The Congress hotel is looking for an executive chef, a maitre de hotel, a housekeeper, and 997 other employes in time for its reopening May 1. The gigantic help problem has been delegated to Robert S. Levy, veteran hotel operator and one of the hotel's purchasers, it was announced yesterday by Alexander T. Spare, attorney for the buyers.

The hotel must have its own police force, chefs, electricians, bartenders, maids, clerks, stenographers, bell boys, waiters, elevator operators, and administrative personnel.

Restoration of the Congress will be a million dollar operation, it is said.

Patricia Gets Sleepier as Strength Slips Away

There was no change yesterday in the condition of Patricia Attaway, 6, Aurora lymphatic leukemia victim. Dr. E. M. Attaway, a Seabee on leave from the South Pacific, is in constant attendance at her bedside.

FRANCE SEEKING LEND-LEASE FOR CIVILIAN NEEDS

Washington, D. C., Dec. 28.—Negotiations are under way here on a lend-lease agreement for France and allocation of shipping for French civilian requirements.

Jean Monnet, French minister without portfolio who is conducting the talks, told a press conference today the object is to enable France to make a positive contribution to the allied war effort.

Monnet said the French import program, which for the next six months is on an average of 20 per cent of pre-war imports, is based on the supplies that can be obtained rather than on needs.

Buys Temporary Housing.

While Monnet held his conference, announcement was made that France is buying from the United States temporary housing for 150,000 workers engaged in repairing French dock areas for war use.

The foreign economic administration and the national housing agency said the deal involves about 5,000 barracks, 20 by 48 feet each, and that the French provisional government has agreed to pay cash on delivery.

As much of the order as possible will be filled from surplus war housing in this country. Some of the units are at Niagara Falls, N. Y.

Monnet said there has been a tremendous improvement in French port capacity and internal transportation since D-day but that more than 50 per cent of available facilities are used directly for the war.

Factories Closing Down.

He said that 80 per cent of French industrial plants remain in good shape but that factories are closing down because they lack raw materials and fuel. Unemployment now stands at about 1 million men and is shooting upwards.

On the point of fuel, Monnet said coal production jumped from a million tons a month in September to over 2½ million in December. Electricity has increased from 10 per cent to 90 per cent of pre-war production.

Monnet said that France has imported virtually nothing up to now. Financing of the proposed import program depends on Washington and is expected to be divided among lend-lease, cash, and credits.

Cotton Important Item.

An important item on the program is cotton from which France hopes to produce textiles for allied armies and other liberated countries as well as for her own needs.

Monnet was unable to say how much additional tonnage would be needed to meet the French program but emphasized that shipping is what is required to enable France to contribute further to the war effort.

"France's capacity to fight depends on arms made available, not on men, who are there," he said.

2 TAXI DRIVERS FINED $10 EACH; 2 WIN LIBERTY

John Dodrow, 38, of 1017 N. Throop st., a Checker Cab driver, and George E. Kasten, 32, of 6208 N. Rockwell st., a driver for the Radio Cab company of Evanston, were fined $10 each yesterday by Judge Jay A. Schiller in South State street court.

Kasten was arrested for soliciting passengers in Chicago without a license. Dodrow was charged with refusing to accept passengers.

Andrew Knight, 42, of 6843 W. 13th st., Berwyn, driving for the Blue Cab company of Oak Park, and Ben Zipperstein, 33, of 5240 Winthrop av., a Yellow Cab company driver, were released.

Representatives of taxicab companies and the taxi drivers' union will meet Wednesday with Edward J. Gorman, acting city vehicle license commissioner, to discuss the police drive against drivers who refuse to carry passengers outside the loop. Gorman said Dominick Abata, representing the union, requested the conference.

Former Soldier Placed on Probation by Court

James Hay, 23, of 6026 Blackstone av., a former soldier, was placed on probation for six months yesterday by Judge Charles S. Dougherty in Felony court on a charge of tampering with an automobile.

ABSENT SEAMAN IS FINED $15 FOR IGNITING ROCKET

Arnold Stickles, 17, of 2307 Potomac av., a merchant seaman, failed to appear in Boys' court yesterday to face charges of using fireworks within the city limits, filed when he ignited a signal rocket which seriously burned a baby in its carriage last month. Judge Joseph Drucker assessed an ex parte fine of $15 and costs. Policeman George O'Brien of North Avenue station told Judge Drucker the youth left Chicago early this month and is being held by police in Fort Worth, Tex., for investigation. Stickles tried to register for the draft there and officials became suspicious, causing his arrest, O'Brien said.

COAT AND JEWELRY STOLEN.

Miss Lucille Kawohl, 1420 N. La Salle st., told police yesterday her fur coat, four suits and jewelry, all valued at $1,183, was stolen in a burglary of her apartment last Sunday.

STITZEL-WELLER DISTILLERY, INC., SHIVELY, KENTUCKY

STEEL—and what it takes to haul it!

THE American steel industry, under the stimulus of war, turned out last year a tonnage never before attained — almost 90,000,000 tons.

For the production of 90,000,000 tons of steel, the railroads moved altogether to steel plants about six and a quarter million carloads of raw materials, such as iron ore, coal, limestone, "scrap," manganese, chromite and other special ores.

Two million cars were provided to haul the finished steel away.

Altogether, the railroads moved more than 8,000,000 carloads of material to and from the steel mills!

Yet that is only one of the major wartime jobs being done by the railroads. Any wonder then that traffic on the rails, at times, has been so heavy as to cause delay and inconvenience to passengers? The Pennsylvania Railroad, however, has found traveling Americans very cooperative — they realize the magnitude of the job railroads are doing.

2,478 WOUNDED LISTED IN NEW ARMY REPORT

86 Are from Chicago and Its Vicinity.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Dec. 28.—The war department today made public the names of an additional 2,478 United States soldiers wounded in action. The names of 149 Illinois men are on the list, of whom 86 are from Chicago and its vicinity.

Next of kin have been kept informed of any changes that may have occurred in the status of casualties since this list was compiled, the army reports.

The majority of the casualties were reported from the European theater of operations. Those from the Mediterranean are indicated by an M. following listings; those from the Southwest Pacific by S. W. P. There were also some casualties from the Asiatic area, but none of them were from Illinois or neighboring states.

SUBMARINE SEAWOLF, SCOURGE OF JAPS, GIVEN UP AS LOST

Washington, D. C., Dec. 28 (AP).—The submarine Seawolf, scourge of Japanese shipping, is overdue from patrol and has been given up for lost.

The 1,450 ton vessel was under command of Lt. Comdr. Albert M. Bontier, White Plains, N. Y., who was reported missing. No announcement was made of casualties, but vessels of that type normally carry a crew of 62. The Seawolf was the 34th United States submarine lost during the war from all causes, and the 239th combat vessel of all types.

The Seawolf was commissioned on Dec. 1, 1939. Her first skipper was Lt. Comdr. [now commander] Frederick B. Warder, Grafton, W. Va., who won the navy cross and a gold star in lieu of a second cross for his services. During a patrol in February, March, and April, 1942, the Seawolf sank a light cruiser, a destroyer, and a large transport, and damaged two light cruisers, a large transport, and another unidentified vessel. These actions took place off Bali and off Christmas Island, south of Java.

COUNTY TO ACT ON ITS $25,168,378 BUDGET TODAY

Cook county's corporate budget for 1945, amounting to $25,168,378, is expected to be adopted at a meeting of the county board today. Of the total, $14,783,000 is to be raised by taxation and the rest from fees and licenses.

The budget is in virtually its original form, as presented by finance chairman, Daniel Ryan. At a meeting of the finance committee yesterday the only differences of opinion centered about the proposal to establish a county health unit separated from the county public welfare department.

Commissioner Elizabeth A. Conkey and several other board members protested against making the change until the proposal had been studied more thoroly.

THE FINAL JOB PAPER
CAN DO FOR OUR BOYS!

Let's bring it to work to put it to work

Got one of these around your house — dated 1919? Pretty proud of it, weren't you! Got an even older one dated 1864, cracked at the creases in a family document box or yellowed in an old-fashioned frame? Man — those things have to be on good paper! (Millions of them, this time!)

And so do blue-prints for battleships (many tons per ship), battle orders, the citations your boy wants to show his grandchildren. To say nothing of more than 700,000 Army items where American ingenuity has substituted paper for less sure preservatives or weightier substances!

You know it isn't "propaganda" to say that your boy fights on paper, too, from his draft board record to his final discharge. That puts a different complexion on the perfectly simple steps we civilians and civilian firms are asked to take to salvage this important fighting product.

Your Organization's Efforts Needed: Yes, we have a special interest in paper and can be considered "privileged pleaders in court." Not because all published magazines together take less than 4% of the U. S. paper and paperboard supply. But because we have seen what our firm and various neighborhood firms could accomplish to replace manpower losses in the pulp woods with desperately needed salvaged paper with which industrial effort can stretch the supply of new pulp.

We have witnessed what can happen when this movement is organized and the proceeds turned to the uses of our boys in government hospitals who are almost through with war-effort-paper work.

How the Simplest Plan Works: Each employee is asked to bring in at least one paper and one discarded magazine a day.

Captains for each 50 employees are appointed to check and encourage the collections.

Collection bins are provided for salvage paper deposit.

A general supervisor disposes of the paper commercially and turns over the funds, through the proper organizations, to be used in comforts for wounded veterans.

- In fewer than 6 months netted 538,491 pounds of paper salvage.
- Found employee groups enthusiastic about raising individual quotas.
- Sold their paper for $5,710.52.
- Completely equipped a sun-and-recreation room for wounded service men in a local hospital—and provided many other recreational items!

Other Plans: And that is just one plan. Others are in successful operation among many Industrial, Trade and Consumer Organizations. We have collected them in a folder and, if you are interested, will gladly send it to you without cost or obligation.

This work is vital — now! And its benefits — both to the boys who have given so much and to the successful prosecution of the war — cannot be overestimated. Please write us today. Address Dept. WPS.

THE CRIME OF NATIONAL UNWORTHINESS.

For something like three months, French courts have been convicting Frenchmen of collaborating with the German regime during the occupation, but only the other day was the crime set forth in the form of an ordinance defining the offense and fixing the penalties.

The crime is to be known as "indignite nationale," which can be translated literally as "national unworthiness," but is, perhaps, more accurately Anglicized as "national disqualification." [In French legal terminology, "indignite" generally means disqualification, as in the phrase, "indignite de succeder," which means disqualification to inherit.] Evidently those who gave the offense its name wished at once to stigmatize the collaborators as morally unfit, to punish them, and to disqualify them from participation in public affairs.

The ordinance offers fairly precise definitions of "indignite nationale." It consists in having been a member of the Vichy government or any one of 14 organizations set up by it or by the Germans to help Hitler with arms or propaganda. Any one who published anything advocating collaboration with the Germans, or indorsing racism or totalitarianism is likewise held to be guilty. And so on.

The penalties include imprisonment of not more than five years and fines of not more than 100,000 francs, together with the loss of the rights to vote, to hold office, and to influence the formation of public opinion thru the press, the radio, or the schools.

In a very limited sense this ordinance marks a change for the better: there is no longer any doubt about what a collaborationist is or what punishment awaits a man or woman found guilty of the offense. It will, therefore, be easier for a citizen facing trial to prepare his defense, and it will be more difficult to rush citizens to jail or execution with the help of freehand drafting of criminal law by prosecutors and the courts.

When that has been said, however, it merely serves to underline the fact that the new ordinance is unworthy of France or of any civilized nation. Here is a pure example of the ex post facto law. Evidently there was nothing on the books by which some of the so-called collaborators could be punished. Accordingly, a new law is drafted, declaring that acts which were not crimes when they were committed are now punishable as crimes.

That would be bad enough if the regime which drafted the new law were itself a thoroly constitutional government. In truth, the regime which is now in power in France has scarcely more impressive a claim to legitimacy than the Vichy government had. Neither of them has a direct mandate from the people at the polls; both of them owe their authority in no small degree to the support given by foreign governments and armies. Our government has recognized both of them.

The purpose of the ordinance is not at all obscure. It is a means of punishing political opponents, as ex post facto laws commonly are. If it were genuinely intended to root out the elements in France whose patriotism is questionable the new crime would not have been dated from the moment of France's surrender. The facts would have been recognized that the Vichy regime came into existence because of a military defeat and that the military defeat owed much to the machinations of the French Communists, who sought deliberately to prevent their country from waging an effective war against Russia's ally of the moment. Not one of the French Communists has been tried, or even accused, tho their collaboration with Germany was notorious.

The idea animating the new ordinance is to get all the most effective opponents of the present regime out of the way and to terrorize the rest into silence and political inactivity. That kind of a purpose cannot be made respectable by the mere process of publishing a law in the official journal. Tyranny is not any the less tyranny for having employed legal forms.

THE HEROES OF BASTOGNE.

American fighting men have given their country another place to be treasured among the battlegrounds where great fortitude and devotion to the death held off and then broke the rush of enemy hordes. It is the road junction town of Bastogne, in Belgium, from which seven highways radiate. It was in the full path of Von Rundstedt's sweep toward the Meuse. It never was taken. Now it has been relieved.

The spirit of the American garrison of 10,000 was the rock upon which the German offensive shattered. If the Germans are forced to surrender their hard won gains and to retreat over the roads that have seen a triumphant advance they can credit their ill fortune to an indomitable fighting will that they met from Americans at many points on the front. Our forces, surprised and disorganized, were never panicked. Many shattered elements withdrew, rallied, and came back. We at home owe homage to the valor of them all. But the symbol of the will to resist and to prevail was Bastogne.

Our garrison there, "part of a famous unit," we are told, was encircled. The spearhead of the Nazi thrust had swept far beyond the little town. The Germans lashed at this lone island of resistance with artillery, and tanks, and planes. Waves of Nazi infantrymen assaulted from all sides. The German commander gave the pocketed Americans two hours to surrender after they had stood fast for 10 days. There were no heroics in the response. The American reply was the simple, scornful, half-humorous word, "Nuts.'

All of us watched with growing suspense as the siege continued. It must have been all but unendurable at times to the Americans fighting in a perimeter whose diameter became less than 2,000 yards. But they stuck it out. The airmen who piloted transport planes thru terrific ground fire to parachute ammunition, food, and medical supplies to the Bastogne garrison showed an equally great devotion. And all the time the relieving columns slugging their way up from the south were displaying a courage that was fully worthy of the men who fought and hoped at Bastogne.

The steadfast resolution of the men at Bastogne provides more than a vignette of courage in a dark landscape. Offensives like Von Rundstedt's are organized with the utmost care, with meticulous attention to timing and to position. The Bastogne pocket prevented the Germans from utilizing a vital network of highways. It interfered with the bringing up of supplies and reinforcements. It was an unforeseen factor that disrupted a well conceived plan. It frustrated the placing of German troops to hold the flanks of the supply corridor in the positions called for in the offensive plan. It was a soft spot that has now grown into an American salient. The failure of the Nazi offensive may grow from these few miles of bloody ground.

There is a new place on the earth, consecrated, like King's Mountain and Stony Point, Shiloh, the Alamo, Belleau Wood, and Bataan, by Americans who never knew and never will learn to know when they must call it a day in retreat or defeat.

THE COUNTY HIGHWAY POLICE.

The county government has been urged by the Civic federation, speaking on behalf of taxpayers, to abolish the highway police force attached to the sheriff's office. This would save $324,420 in salaries alone from the county's inflated budget and a considerable additional sum in administrative and maintenance expense. The recommendation should be followed.

The board also was urged to establish a county department of public health, which would be an enlargement of the health unit that now exists in the bureau of public welfare.

The health department and highway police furnish a good test of the sincerity of the county commissioners. It has long been a complaint of competent county servants, of whom there are some, that the county's chronic financial embarrassment arises, in part at least, from the fact that the state government is constantly loading new duties on the counties without granting the additional sources of revenue. This is partly true in the wholly desirable county health department. It would put a moderate additional burden on the county's finances.

The real trouble with Cook county finances, however, is not so much a lack of revenue as a failure to spend that revenue conscientiously. Cook county is the only one in the state that maintains a county highway police. Elsewhere rural highways are patroled by the state highway police, who should perform the same service in this area. In maintaining its own police force the county board has undertaken a function which should be left to the state and, spending money on police, it lacks money to protect health.

The reputation of the county highway force in recent years has been notorious. It has functioned principally as a collection agency for the pay-off made to sheriffs or the Democratic organization by gamblers or other lawbreakers. Sheriff Mulcahy is not expected to be that kind of law officer and consequently he will have no need of such a police force.

The five Republican county commissioners from the country towns hold the power of life or death over this year's county budget, inasmuch as there are not enough Democratic commissioners from Chicago to pass it. With that power goes the responsibility for seeing that the county's extravagance is curbed. It is probable the board will be asked to vote today for a budget continuing the highway police. Any Republican commissioner who votes for it will lay himself open to the gravest suspicion of bipartisan dealing with the Democrats in return for patronage—a suspicion that should automatically disqualify him for renomination in the next party primary.

WAR AND PROFITS.

The news of military reverses on the western front has been reflected in lowered prices for a majority of industrial stocks, a circumstance that everybody today takes for granted. The reverses suggest a longer war and a longer war means an extension of the period of high taxation and restricted profits.

These relationships are likely to be forgotten in a few years, when, it is to be expected, the myth that business men value war for the profit in it will have renewed currency. It will be said their desire for profit got us into the war and it may even be said that their cupidity kept us in the war longer than was necessary.

The record, however, is clear. The business community with few exceptions hoped profoundly that war could be avoided and when that hope was defeated, strove for a speedy victory to end the bloodshed and waste as quickly as possible. The hopes of the business men were the hopes of the great majority of citizens in all walks of life and had little or no relation to expectation of profit. Insofar as that consideration entered into business men's political thinking, it served to reinforce the view that war should be avoided if possible, for war was certain to disrupt the economy and injure business prospects.

It is true, of course, that some men have made big money out of the war and as time goes on there will be many revelations showing who got rich from it and how they did it. The point we are emphasizing here is that the generality of business men didn't want it, as the proceedings of the pre-Pearl Harbor conventions of their organizations will show; are not now benefiting from it, and have nothing to gain and much to lose from its prolongation.

These are the facts, but it may be doubted that they will overcome the myth that business men promote and prolong wars to enrich themselves.

Test Your Horse Sense

Select the answers which you consider best. The last problem counts five points. Then look for the correct answers below.

1. At sea level the air pressure is approximately how many pounds per square inch?
   3 lbs. 8 lbs. 15 lbs. 21 lbs.
2. The state of Texas could hold the land area of how many states the size of Rhode Island?
   55 81 129 245.
3. What noise does bacon make when it is on the hoof?
   BA-A-A, OINK, COCKADOODLE DO, MOO.
4. Which one of these creatures has the longest period of infancy?
   Horse Cow Sheep Man.
5. The phrase "honey and almond" should make a woman think of Lipstick Dessert Liquor Skin.
6. Try to associate the countries named in the left hand column below with the particular metals or ores for which they are noted. You are entitled to one point for each correct matching.

[a] Sweden	[v] Gold
[b] British Guiana	[w] Iron
[c] Bolivia	[x] Bauxite
[d] Canada	[y] Tin

NEW YEAR'S PRELUDE.

The New Year will come in with two Eves on its shoulder, and if these were the olden, golden days before the invention of ideologies, what an epidemic of headaches would follow! But the war time slogan is "Please omit orgies," and perhaps the mood of necessary abstinence will have an improving influence upon the post-war period, The New Year that came out of too many bottles was never a wholesome part of the American tradition.

The editor of this column walked out on New Year's eve about 25 years ago. Grim adventures as an observer of the habits of Chicago's loophounds on this anniversary caused him to vow, "Into that madhouse I will stroll no more." The celebrations were a debauched mockery of the Christmas holidays, and were followed by the dreadful shadow of Gen. R. E. Morse, a famous cartoon character.

The muse of history should have a seat of dignity at this festival, but she is honored chiefly by the newspaper custom of yearly reviews. The day's traditions are trivial, perhaps because it has no important religious background and also because its place on the calendar has often been changed. Jan. 1 as the marking point of a year's beginning is relatively modern. It was adopted by Roman Catholic countries in 1582; by Germany, Denmark, and Sweden in 1700, and by England in 1753.

Certain grotesque customs of pagan inheritance have survived among European peasants, but never crossed the Atlantic with the emigrants who settled this country. They seem to have been originally concerned with the expulsion of evil spirits. . . . The world has an abundance of evil spirits now, but they cannot be expelled by personal saturation in ardent spirits.

WHITE MAGIC.

They weep for beauty out of being blind,
Whose hearts, grave-deep in loneliness, are lost
From winter mornings patterned and defined
In crystal-frail hieroglyphs of frost.
They weep for beauty, yet seem not to know
The winds that prowl the hills are tall and starred;
That brittle grasses, reaching for the snow,
Will blossom by the road and in the yard.
They live alone within a somber sphere
Of solitude who turn their faces from
The wind's rough cheek, who neither see nor hear
Blizzards that dance in white delirium.
How may we show the summer-disciplined
That beauty walks beside a winter wind?

The Unknown Poet.

In a recent radio quiz offering large cash prizes, nobody could name the author of the famous Christmas poem, "A Visit from St. Nicholas," better known by its first line, "'Twas the night before Christmas." So let's tell them about Clement C. Moore [1779-1863]:

His father became bishop of New York and president of Columbia college. He was born in Chelsea, then outside the New York City limits, and lived there all his life. He became a professor in a theological seminary and specialized in oriental languages.

On Christmas eve, 1822, Moore read to his children these verses, which he had written for the occasion. About a year later a friend of the family sent the poem to the Troy Sentinel, which published it anonymously. In 1837 "A Visit from St. Nicholas" had its first book publication in a collection called "The New York Book of Poetry."

Each year on Christmas eve children who live near the church yard where Moore is buried visit his grave in a candlelight procession. [Information from "Story and Verse for Children," edited by Miriam Blanton Huber, Macmillan, 1940.]

THE VOICE OF SILENCE.

All graves I've seen are very still,
Deep in a valley, high on a hill;
Still if old or newly made
With pick, and rake, and heavy spade;
Silent when out of them there grows
A bush that bursts into a rose,
Or when the greatest snows come down
To cloak the trees with bridal gown.

Graves are still amidst the noise,
Whether of bombs or other toys;
They are still when the living cry,
"O, what is death, and why and why?"
No answer comes from any grave,
Whether of ruler or lowly slave:
Only a stillness like far stars—
Mercury, Venus, and glowing Mars.

Yet if you come and choose to stand
Above where I lie, hand on hand,
Long after my dumb tongue turns dust,
Have faith, dear—this you must—
That should you drop a single tear
I will know for God will hear. . . .
Please believe it is His will
That every grave be very still.

G. E. P. writes: "I borrowed on my adjusted compensation [bonus] certificate in 1936 and received bonds for the balance, which are dated to mature in June, 1945. I saw something in the paper about having to convert this bonus by Jan. 1, 1945, or lose a lot of interest."

Veterans of World War I. who converted their original adjusted service compensation certificates to bonus bonds, or those who borrowed part of the face value of this certificate and received the balance due them in bonus bonds, of $50, $75, or $100 denominations, need not be concerned about the announcements. The only veterans who need give the matter attention are those who still hold the original certificates or who borrowed part of the face value and who have not converted all or the remainder to bonus bonds. This conversion must be accomplished by Jan. 1 or the holders of original certificates will lose about 27 per cent accumulated interest, and borrowers stand to lose between 60 and 87 per cent of the face value of the certificates on which they borrowed. The certificates, or "pink slips," showing balance due borrowers, are to be mailed to the Adjusted Compensation Branch, Veterans' Administration, Washington 25, D. C.

HELP FOR THE STAMMERING CHILD.

FAR more attention is being paid to the child who stammers. Speech clinics are available in many of our large cities and they are accomplishing no end of good. The reason we wish to remedy the handicap [the sooner the better] is because it constitutes a bar to happiness and success.

While there are different schools of thought regarding cause and cure, we must recognize that the primary failure is disharmony between some of the factors which produce speech. We utter sounds which we mold into sentences by means of the mouth. The oral cavity is constantly altered in size and shape by movements of the tongue, soft palate, lips, and jaws. In the typical stammerer there is a lack of balance between the supply of breath, the adjustment of the vocal cords, and the ability to form syllables.

There is no value in emphasizing one of these elements over another. More breath will not help unless vocal control can be brought about. If the effort is too intense, the cords within the voice box may be drawn tightly together so that not even a whisper will be able to get thru. If we watch the sufferer we may observe that altho his lips will purse themselves he will be unable to bring forth a word. It is like attempting to write with a fountain pen that contains no ink. The letters may be traced but no visible writing appears. Nearly every victim has a tendency to exaggerate consonants at the expense of vowels. Thus a characteristic jerkiness is exhibited.

We cannot govern the vocal apparatus by an act of will. It can be made to behave, however, if the individual has a clear mental concept of what he wishes to express. This explains why many a patient can sing without difficulty. His attention is concentrated upon the tone and, in consequence, the structures, within the pharynx will respond.

One of the most significant defects is the inability to manage rhythm. The stammerer will run his words together much like the tot who is learning to talk. We expect our little ones to stumble over long words and all of them stutter in the beginning. But 99 out of 100 will acquire normal coordination by the time the fifth or sixth birthday has been passed.

The general plan now is one of developing voice production. All that is needed is to enable the youngster to distinguish between smooth, leisurely delivery and that which is expressed quickly, spasmodically, and with the speaker out of breath. Children are great imitators and this is the saving grace of the treatment. They can be taught to pronounce slowly, firmly, and evenly until the repetition becomes automatic. Those respond more speedily who possess a musical sense—that is, those who are not tone deaf.

The role of psychotherapy is based upon the assumption that fear is the underlying cause. Perhaps this is true in a few cases but it is certainly not the rule. There is no escape from speech. So long as life lasts we will be socially inclined and will be obliged to use the voice to communicate ideas. The least we can do is to help our offspring to cultivate a pleasing manner of enunciation, employing firm, clear tones. After all, radio announcers will be in great demand after the war.

ALLERGY.

Mrs. O. writes: Is it unusual for a woman who has never been bothered before to become sensitive to certain substances during the menopause?

REPLY.

It does and can happen. People who have been immune for years may develop brand new allergies or change their allegiance.

BLUE NAILS.

J. H. writes: I am 16 years old and whenever I am the least bit chilled, my finger nails turn blue. What causes this?

REPLY.

You respond rather quickly to cold. In other words, you have a sensitivity. The capillaries contract and the circulation slows. Avoid exposure to arctic blasts.

OVERWORKED EYES?

Mrs. N writes: Some one told me that nursing a baby affects the mother's eyes. Is this true?

REPLY.

Only if she gazes too intently and too admiringly at her offspring. No relationship between the nursing process and disorders of vision.

DECORATING THE TREE

Front Views & Profiles

By MARCIA WINN

Things Easily Remembered.

LOS ANGELES Cal.—Memories of Christmas week in this area: The vivid, scarlet Christmas tree spotted in Hollywood. . . . The great baskets of cut poinsettias, offered on the street corners at 75 cents a basket, that went begging. . . . The thousands of men in uniform drifting around the city on Christmas day, lining up by the hundreds wherever a free Christmas dinner was offered. . . . The poor little marines sitting patiently outside a hotel U. S. O. lounge, labels on their blouses saying "Marine for Mrs. Jones." "Marine for Brown family," and so on. . . . The Union station here on Christmas night, with marines and sailors lying in crumpled heaps all over the vast tiled station floor, asleep, exhausted, propped against the walls, or inebriated, and the long, long line, four abreast, waiting for the San Diego trains, lines so long that civilians were banned. . . . The navy petty officer, six gold hash marks beneath his shore patrol arm band, talking to a young, wide-eyed sailor. "Thirty years," proudly, in a voice like a broken bottle top, "Why, I remember back when we didn't have no refrigerators at all. Hung the beef up on the mast. Third or fourth day out, say! you'd never want to eat that smell again. Naw, son, you got it easy." . . . The retired army general, tossing aside the ominous war news on Christmas day to fumble in a drawer and produce large envelopes crammed with pictures and maps, all dealing with that same fiercely battled sector. Suddenly he stopped his quiet observations with a start and looked intently at the picture in his hand. "Look at this," showing a picture of a colonel in a doorway, "That's the way I looked 26 years ago today. It was taken Christmas day, 1918. We had been in Germany two days."

Probably every American civilian sending a Christmas card to another civilian this year would have hesitated—and perhaps sent none—could he have heard the words of a tired soldier here the other day. The boy was one of 100,000 soldiers pressed into service over the country to handle the civilian Christmas mail rush. A thousand army vehicles were used for this purpose in this city alone. "They brought me all the way from Arkansas," he lamented, "to work in this postoffice out here. I work for $50 a month while every one around me gets $300 or $359, and I work at night because they don't want to. The way I feel is this: If they want me to fight, I'm willing, but I don't want to be drafted to work in a postoffice." . . . A colonel was even more emphatic. "Eisenhower would like 100,000 extra men over there," he said bitterly. "He could use them this minute. We could use a little Eisenhower sense on this side, too."

Sidelights of the second showing of Mr. Chaplin's troubles: One lady juror is not going to be caught at verdict time with as short a memory as the principals in the case. She has taken notes sedulously every day. . . . Commented a weary member of the press, "Chaplin and I agree on only one thing. We both hope this is his last court appearance." . . . Court opens with a formal "face the flag" and so on, but it is prefaced here by a roar from a bailiff crying: "Court opens. All right, folks, let's get started. This way out!" He then pushes out the eager, curious, inquisitive, gawking goofs whose day has been made perfect by just one glimpse of Miss Berry and her child.

We just learned of a girl out this way who last summer moved to one of the small, polite hotels where she had a room and tiny bath. She went right to work, plugged in a hot plate, and canned 144 jars of peaches. She had a little trouble disposing of the peach stones, but finally solved it satisfactorily. She gave the manager's wife a jar of the peaches for Christmas, and as a direct result of that has just received a large bill—for plumbing.

V-DAY PLANS.

Chicago, Dec. 24.—Inclosed is part of a letter received from my brother, a paratrooper in Holland:

"One of the fellows in the section received a newspaper from his home town and it was probably the most disgusting thing I've read. The article was about the large celebration that was being planned for V-day. All this talk about the post-war era is all right, but what the hell do the people back home think we're doing over here? If you have any idea about this war ending in a month or two, please forget it, 'cause it's not. The German soldier is a damned good one and he's far from being licked. If you could be at this front you would start to understand what I'm talking about. In front of us there are [censored] and [censored]. These fellows are not part of the regular German army; they are part of Hitler's own army and they're plenty tough. They're fanatical, and they won't give up because they still believe that they're going to win the war. If all the Jerries feel the same way we'll be here for a long time."

MRS. CAROLINE SANDUSKY.

SMOKY CHICAGO.

Chicago, Dec. 21. — Your editorial, "Smokeless Railroads," touches a point that is vital to Chicago's future. This problem should be solved before we take up such other important projects as slum clearance, express highways, and air terminals.

As a native Chicagoan I always have been amazed, even embarrassed, by our polluted air as compared to the clean atmosphere of Los Angeles and New York. True, we live in an area where soft coal is used almost exclusively, yet a prominent engineer recently told me that bituminous coal can be burned without causing smoke if proper equipment and supervision are employed. In fact many up to date plants in Chicago are doing this now.

OTTO K. EITEL.

CHURCHILL MAKES IT CLEAR.

New York, Dec. 17.—The American people owe Mr. Churchill sincere thanks. Instead of exposing us to the quarrels, harangues, and ill feeling that were sure to develop from discussion of Dumbarton Oaks, he has buried it forever. He has buried it so deep that it never can be resurrected, for we know in advance what kind of jackals these foreign rulers are, and what we could expect from them in the future if we had entered into any agreement with them.

It's too bad that such a disappointment should come to the Foreign Policy association so soon after their recent dinner in your fair city.

JAMES A. MCFARLAND.

Chicago, Dec. 25.—Your front page on this holy day is so beautiful that whosoever's idea it is may the Lord bless him or them. The picture is so lovely that I have decided to send one to Alaska and one to the jungles to desperate service men. I know it will impart that wonderful spiritual feeling and hope which we all cling to in these times.

A. R.

CHEATING BY THE OPA.

Mishawaka, Ind., Dec. 25.—We were told by representatives of our government that our food stamps were good "indefinitely." The New Deal's definition of "indefinite" is clearly not Webster's.

Some who have done without butter for several weeks to save those points for a special occasion in the future [like me!] awakened Christmas morning to receive a slap in the face. The New Deal does not wish one to do intelligent thinking and planning for himself. They prefer to do unintelligent planning, for you.

H. F. K.

MAJ. WILLIAMS.

Chicago, Dec. 26.—Commentating on the closing of the race tracks, Maj. Edwyfed H. Williams, chairman of the Illinois racing board and president of the National Association of State Racing Commissioners, said: "Uncle Sam is our best bet. If closing of the tracks will help shorten the war and bring back our boys and girls one day sooner, then we will gladly close. We need no directive—the suggestion of governmental officials is enough."

Another turf celebrity, however, said: "Racing is being made a goat for other sports."

Maj. Williams has gained in stature by his patriotism, and Illinois has a just right to be proud of him.

L. E. DEV.

WHERE'S THE C. IN C.?

Chicago, Dec. 23.—The New Dealers' faces should be pretty red until they find some G. I. Joe to be the goat for the military disaster in Belgium. Before the election the commander in chief stated to the public that the American soldier was the best equipped in the world. After election Gen. Eisenhower told the world, including the Germans, that he was short of guns and ammunition. If the public does not demand a housecleaning after this military defeat, it is safe to predict that we will have bigger and better military and naval disasters before this war is over.

LIABILITY OF DOG OWNER.

Chicago, Dec. 27.—My child was playing when the dog owned by a neighbor bit him. The neighbor said he would pay the doctor bill but has made no effort to do so. Is the owner of an animal responsible for personal damages caused thru no fault of the victim?

A. K.

At common law the owner of a dog was not liable unless it could be shown that he had notice of the dog's vicious disposition. In our opinion, the Chicago muzzling ordinance so far supersedes this rule as to render the owner liable for damages, traceable to failure to muzzle, regardless of notice, but we know of no decisions establishing this principle.

TOILS 18 HOURS A DAY TO MAKE WAR IDEA WORK

Tireless Employe Winner of Tribune Award.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

A man who wouldn't leave war work to go home is the winner of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE War Worker's Award for November. He is Dwight E. Gustafson, an employe of the Hallicrafters company, who finds an 18 hour day too short to get things done and believes Sunday is just another work day.

Dwight E. Gustafson.

Dwight started about two years ago as a clerk handling inventory for the Hallicrafters company, which manufactures precision radio equipment for military use, including the famed "299" mobile radio station. He did his job well and might have coasted along in it. Instead he plunged into one of the most serious war situations affecting his company's operations and after a lot of hard work got things running smoothly.

Veteran to Make Presentation.

So at 11:15 o'clock tonight, for "unusual initiative, diligence, and devotion to duty," Gustafson will receive The Tribune award in a ceremony to be broadcast by W-G-N. Presentation of the award, symbolized by a diamond studded gold pin, will be made on behalf of the award committee by Col. Leland Stanford, signal officer, 6th service command, Chicago. He is a veteran of the European campaign.

William J. Halligan, Hallicrafters president and a former West Pointer, told yesterday of Dwight's achievement.

"Early in the war the army signal corps pushed us to get out much needed complete radio sets," Halligan said. "We met its demands only after the greatest effort in our eight Chicago area plants. Then suddenly the situation changed and the pressure was for spare parts to service radio equipment in the field.

"War is hard on radios as on everything else and original equipment is of no use when there are no spare parts for repairs. At one time we had a backlog of about $4,500,000 in orders for parts desperately needed at the fronts. The job of getting out original equipment was plenty big and I was just about 100 per cent worried by the parts mess.

Gustafson Provides Plans.

"Then Dwight Gustafson came up with plans for handling the situation which he had worked out on his own initiative. We told him to go ahead and try them. He did, putting in 18 hours a day for months without a day off. He would refuse to go home when I told him he needed rest.

"His plans worked and the spare parts started moving to the fronts."

What Gustafson did was to create an organization that operated as smoothly as a well oiled machine in whipping the parts shortage. The individuals who assisted included Tom Caprio, Bob Foss, and Hank Schwenker.

He set up a method of following thru orders to guard against delay in meeting urgent needs for particular parts. He did the paper work of devising numerous forms necessary to expedite the production and shipment of parts.

He introduced assembly line methods to give the parts protection against moisture, salt water, fungus growth, extremes of heat and cold, and other destructive forces. He made it possible for Hallicrafters to turn threatened failure into success by mastering a thousand and one details.

Lost Cousin at Pearl Harbor.

Gustafson was brief in his comment on the ingenuity and hard work that brought him the 29th Tribune award.

"I figure the men over there aren't getting any days off, so why should I," he said. "I have two brothers in the service, Donald in the navy and John in the army, and I lost a cousin at Pearl Harbor. I want my brothers to get all the equipment they need and I want to avenge my cousin. Every one should feel that he has a personal part in this war. We have got to get the equipment across—our boys can't fight the war with bare knuckles."

Gustafson, who is 27, lives with his wife, Josephine, and children, Dwight Jr., Dolores, and Robert, at 5303 S. Natoma av. He was born in Worthington, Minn., and went to school at Akeley, Minn., and at the Coyne Trade school, Chicago. He has lived here since 1935. Besides having the spare parts job to handle, he still has his old inventory post to supervise. He averages five hours sleep a night. He astonished his fellow workers by taking Christmas off.

SUGAR AND SPAGHETTI DISAPPEAR.

Harry Oberman, wholesale grocer at 6851 State st., told police yesterday that seven 100 pound bags of sugar and a case of spaghetti disappeared from a truck between his store and 834 st. and Stony Island av.

Chicago's December Sunshine

Chicagoans enjoyed a normal winter day yesterday, said the weather bureau. The sun shone and the temperature rose to 20 degrees.

A continued rise in temperature was predicted for today by the bureau, with increasing cloudiness and the possibility of snow in the afternoon. Temperatures around 25 degrees may be expected, the bureau said.

Tomorrow there is a chance some of the ice and snow will vanish from the city's side streets as above freezing temperature is expected along with rain, Forecaster H. S. Kenny said.

The Inquiring Camera Girl

BY MARYON ZYLSTRA

[The Tribune will pay $5 for each interesting question submitted by a reader and used by The Tribune. Today's question was submitted by E. S. Carpenter, 6102 W. Wisconsin av., Milwaukee, Wis.]

THE QUESTION.

WHERE ASKED.

Stevens hotel barber shop.

THE ANSWERS.

Julius J. C. Gaffron, 1548 N. Homan av.—A gentleman from Spain was involved in a political mixup and was wanted by the Spanish government. He fled to and was sought in South and Central America. He came to my barber shop in Panama and stayed five days while I made a toupee. Disguised, he escaped.

Joseph Gerarge, 1258 S. Michigan av.—My most interesting patron was a man from India. He didn't want a shave or a haircut—just a shampoo. His hair was so long it came almost to his waistline. He explained that in his religion they believe it is wrong to cut hair. From birth until death the hair is never cut.

Joe Dellaria, 2408 Grenshaw st.—During the time the army took over the Stevens, we were pretty busy giving G. I. haircuts. Who should I have in my chair one morning but a long haired musician. He didn't know his head was going to be practically shaved and when he saw himself it was almost too much.

Fred Pregizer, 168th st. and Carse av., Harvey—While the International Civil Aviation conference was on at the Stevens we had many interesting customers. One of them, a man from Egypt, evidently wasn't accustomed to our methods of shaving. He watched every move I made, but he relaxed in the chair.

Walter J. LiGenza, 1647 Cullerton st.—It was a few minutes after 5—closing time. The barber beside me had just refused to shave a man who came in late, so I took the job. After my customer sat down a newspaper photographer took his picture. The customer was Henry Kaiser. The other barber turned green with envy.

Al Luckow, 755 Buena av.—Just the other day I had a chemist in the chair. This man was one of the men who helped develop the block buster. All the time I worked with him he amazed me with startling stories about chemistry, and all of its problems. He was one of the most brilliant men I have met.

RAILROAD WORKER SLUGGED.

Rudolph Lafrenare, 38, of 7227 Rhodes av., a railroad car checker, reported to police yesterday that two men beat him near 72d st. and Rhodes av. as he was on his way to work. He said the men did not try to rob him.

PUT O.K. TODAY ON NEW CHIEF AT PLANETARIUM

Selection of a director for Adler planetarium will be settled this afternoon when Chicago park commissioners meet for final action on the ouster of Miss Maude Bennot. F. Wagner Schlesinger of Philadelphia is leading in the race for the title of director, a title unused since the resignation of Dr. Philip Fox almost eight years ago. Miss Bennot has been acting director.

President Dunham of the board said the change was for the good of the park service and that the shift had been approved by Max Adler, donor of the planetarium. He denied any politics.

History of New Director.

Dunham described the new director as an "expert astronomer." Schlesinger attended public school in Pittsburgh, Pa., spending much time around the Allegheny observatory, which his father served. He was graduated from Yale in 1923 with a major in mathematics and physics. At one time he was with the radio engineering department of the General Electric company, Schenectady, N. Y.

Then he came to Adler planetarium for more than two years as a demonstrator. He joined the staff of Fels planetarium, Philadelphia, when it opened in 1933. He delivered several thousand lectures there and is credited with creating many new devices and special effects that popularized the Fels shows. The Fels institution was made possible by a donation from Samuel S. Fels, head of a soap company.

Miss Bennot charged yesterday that she is being railroaded out of the planetarium after 15 years of service because of "politics" and that Dunham and other members of the board have failed to get an outstanding astronomer to fill the directorship. She contended that Schlesinger's knowledge of astronomy is based on his association with his father, the late Frank Schlesinger, and on his work under her direction when he served as demonstrator at the Adler planetarium.

Miss Bennot Charges Threat.

Miss Bennot charged the park board had sent unqualified employes to the planetarium and that she had actually been without office help of any kind for 40 per cent of the time in the last five years.

"It has been a matter of taking wholly unsuitable help or doing without," she said. She also charged that Blaine Hoover, civil service personnel director, once threatened her with suspension and attended one of her lectures "to take down notes."

Commenting on Dunham's statement that attendance has been a "joke" at the planetarium, Miss Bennot said attendance had increased every month this year over that for 1943.

Friends of Mary Powers Fete Her on Anniversary

Several members of the cast of "Oklahoma!" and scores of city officials, court workers, and other friends gathered yesterday to honor Mrs. Mary Powers on her second anniversary as director of the new women's detention quarters in the Central police building. The party was arranged by members of the women's detention home and courts' committee. Mrs. Powers has been a policewoman for nine years and formerly served in the sex offense and homicide bureaus.

BANK ROBBERY CONVICT SEIZED FOR TRIAL HERE

Danny McGeoghegan, former notorious bank robber, who once escaped a death sentence, was locked up in the county jail last night after he had been released from the Michigan City [Ind.] state prison after serving 11 years for robbery of the Culver [Ind.] bank.

McGeoghegan will be arraigned today before Chief Justice Harold G. Ward in Criminal court for his part in the $60,000 robbery in 1930 of the State bank of Clearing. The gunman was tried for this robbery in 1932, but the jury disagreed and the case was later nolle prossed. The next year McGeoghegan was convicted of the Indiana bank holdup.

Richard Austin, assistant state's attorney, said witnesses to the Clearing bank holdup are available to testify against McGeoghegan. In 1925, McGeoghegan and Midget Fernekes were sentenced to death for the holdup murder of a building and loan official, but won on appeal and later were acquitted.

LAW BARS MEN DESPITE ARMY'S NEED OF NURSES

Protests were voiced here yesterday against the policy which excludes men from the army nurse corps tho the corps is short of personnel and the current recruiting campaign for 10,000 additional nurses has reached less than 25 per cent of its goal.

Archie Hubacker, R. N., secretary of the Alexian Brothers Hospital School of Nursing Alumni association, who led the criticism, asserted that the situation stems from the law of 1904, creating the army nurse corps, which identifies the personnel as women nurses.

No action has been taken on legislation submitted to the house of representatives last May seeking an amendment granting men commissions on the same basis as women, Hubacker said.

Mrs. Erma Brannon, director of nurse recruitment at Chicago area Red Cross headquarters, and an officer at the 6th service command medical corps offices said they were in favor of changing the law to include men in the army nurse corps.

George Field, Evanston, Heads New U. S. Bureau

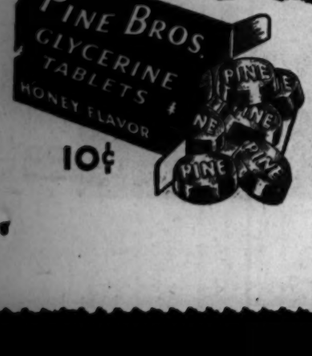

The federal works agency announced yesterday in Washington, D. C., the establishment of a bureau of community facilities headed by George H. Field of Evanston. Field formerly was FWA regional director for Illinois, Indiana, Ohio, Michigan, Wisconsin, and Kentucky. He is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin. The new bureau which he heads will handle programs of war public works and services.

TAPS RUN DRY AS OAK LAWN'S WELL GIVES OUT

Plea for Chicago Water Approved.

Oak Lawn, a village of 5,740 persons southwest of Chicago, was without water yesterday after the complete failure of its one operating well.

Mayor Albert H. Brandt, in a dramatic appearance before the Chicago city council, pleaded for an immediate emergency supply from the city mains to protect the village against disease and fire.

The Oak Lawn well, which produced 300 gallons of water a minute two months ago, went dry Wednesday night, he said.

Dairy Offers to Haul Water.

Late yesterday 25 Oak Lawn policemen and firemen began laying one mile of 2½ inch hose from 95th st. and Crawford av. in Evergreen Park, to 95th st. and Cicero av., Oak Lawn.

If the hose cannot supply sufficient water, the Bowman Dairy company will haul 36,000 gallons of water a day to the village, filling the reservoir twice a day, Glenn Johnson, dairy traffic manager, said.

City council approved the village's request for permission to tap Chicago mains at 103d st. and Pulaski rd. after Mayor Kelly urged the council members to "disregard technicalities."

Start Laying Pipe Today.

Work of laying the pipe from the Chicago main to the Oak Lawn reservoir, a distance of 7,300 feet, will be started today. Mayor Brandt said the pipe is on hand.

For a permanent supply, Public Works Commissioner Hewitt recommended that the city sell water to Oak Lawn at the rate of 10.3 cents for 1,000 gallons, 3 cents more than the Chicago meter rate. The permanent connection would be made at 87th st. and Pulaski rd.

COUNCIL URGED TO APPROPRIATE $169,849,591 IN '45

The appropriation ordinance for 1945, totaling $169,849,591, was submitted to the city council yesterday by Ald. Bowler [25th], chairman of the finance committee, with the recommendation that it be enacted. A public hearing on the ordinance will be held Jan. 5 and final action will be taken by the council Jan. 9.

The council enacted an ordinance abolishing several positions of district superintendent in the street department, on the recommendation of Commissioner Johnson.

A resolution was adopted lauding the career of Carter H. Harrison, mayor of Chicago for 12 years, who is retiring Dec. 31 as collector of internal revenue in Chicago.

Stage Note

A shift in the Blackstone theater's booking schedule brings "Chicken Every Sunday" here Jan. 22 instead of Feb. 4, as announced yesterday. The proposed return engagement of "Life With Father" has been indefinitely postponed.

Colorful appetizers may catch the eye but are a disappointment if they're all color and no flavor. It's far better to concentrate on the seasonings used in the canape spreads than to spend preparation time on coloring cheeses in vivid holiday tones—a decoration trick which has questionable appeal at that—or covering an insipid tasting spread with elaborate pastry tube designs or flower and star shapes cut from pickles and olives.

In the assortment of hors d'oeuvres for your New Year's open house or cocktail party, plan to have plenty of tiny open face sandwiches [canapes], as well as bite size appetizers speared on toothpicks. Small stuffed celery stalks also make a nice addition to the tray.

Spreads for Open Face Sandwiches [Canapes].

Spread these on crackers, plain bread, or toast cut in small shapes and lightly covered with butter or margarine.

1. Chicken or turkey salad spread topped with cranberry cut-outs [cut from thin layers of cranberry gelatin in such shapes as stars and diamonds.]

2. Cream cheese moistened with mayonnaise and lemon juice, garnished with slice of stuffed olive around which is curled a small split shrimp.

3. Avocado mashed and seasoned with lemon juice, onion juice, or chives, salt, and finely chopped pimiento [or garnished with pimiento].

4. Crabmeat or lobster mixed with minced hard cooked eggs, minced celery, pimiento, sweet pickles, salt, paprika, and mayonnaise.

5. Shrimp, finely minced and mixed with lemon juice, mayonnaise, and tabasco sauce.

6. Equal parts roquefort type cheese [blue] and cream cheese mixed with cream, nuts, minced onion, and finely chopped ripe olives.

7. Sardines mashed and combined with coarsely chopped stuffed olives, lemon juice, and paprika.

8. Hard cooked eggs chopped and mixed with cream, a little Worcestershire sauce, and chopped crisp bacon.

9. Deviled ham combined with minced celery, chopped hard cooked eggs, curry powder, and mayonnaise.

Appetizers on Toothpicks.

These may be served stuck in grapefruit or large oranges from which bottom is sliced.

1. Saute small mushrooms and chill; stick on pick with slices of stuffed olive.

2. Cut raw apples into half inch cubes and spread with nippy cheese.

3. Moisten cream cheese with a little cream; add a little grated onion or minced chives. Make into balls and roll in finely chopped dried beef. Stick on pretzel stick.

4. Cover salami cubes with cheese spread; roll in chopped parsley.

5. Stuff hard cooked eggs with mixture of seafood, celery, dry mustard, and mayonnaise. Chill, cut each half in quarters, and stick on colored picks.

Hot Hors d'Oeuvres.

1. Mash liver sausage; season with grated onion and minced parsley. Spread on pie dough and roll into small roll. Chill for several hours. Slice, brush with beaten egg diluted with cream, and bake at 425 degrees.

2. Cut bread into thin circles. Put together with filling of deviled ham or chicken spread. Dip in batter and saute in hot fat. Drain on absorbent paper. [Batter: 1 tablespoon flour, ⅛ teaspoon salt, 1 beaten egg, and 4 tablespoons milk.]

For an interesting "dunk it" tray, hollow out a red or green cabbage and fill with a snappy sauce [mayonnaise with catsup, horseradish, and mustard added]. Stick cabbage with colored toothpicks and surround with meat loaf cubes, shrimp, and 1 inch pieces of canned frankfurters.

Liver and Bacon with Onions

Here's a different way to serve liver and bacon with onions: Thread wooden skewers with 1 inch pieces of liver and bacon and broil slowly until bacon is crisp and liver cooked. Beef or pork liver should first be simmered in water for about 15 minutes to insure tenderness. Onion slices are separated into rings, dipped into milk, then into seasoned flour, and fried in deep fat.

TURN IN WASTE FATS FOR POINTS AND PENNIES.

Not Even Hankies Are Left in Paris Department Stores

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Dec. 28.—Large department stores such as Aux Trois Quartiers, Galeries Lafayette, and Au Printemps haven't even handkerchiefs, socks, or gloves left for sale today after the Christmas rush. Their counters are empty and there isn't any more merchandise available from the wholesalers.

A neat little sign which says, "Nothing for Sale," also appears on the fronts of many dry goods, novelty, and candy shops. Other stores are showing articles in their display windows with the indication that they are merely samples and that no orders can be taken for them.

Nobody can buy brooms, pots or pans, knives, forks, dishcloths, towels, or nightshirts. Only couturiers who charge $300 and up for the simplest woolen frocks have warm dresses available, but delivery isn't guaranteed until late spring.

Ordinary shops are obliged to show their silk prints and filmy coats while the temperature is approaching zero.

The minister of industrial production declared that national stocks of cotton, woolens, and leathers have been exhausted. In addition, many manufacturers have been forced to close their doors because of fuel shortages.

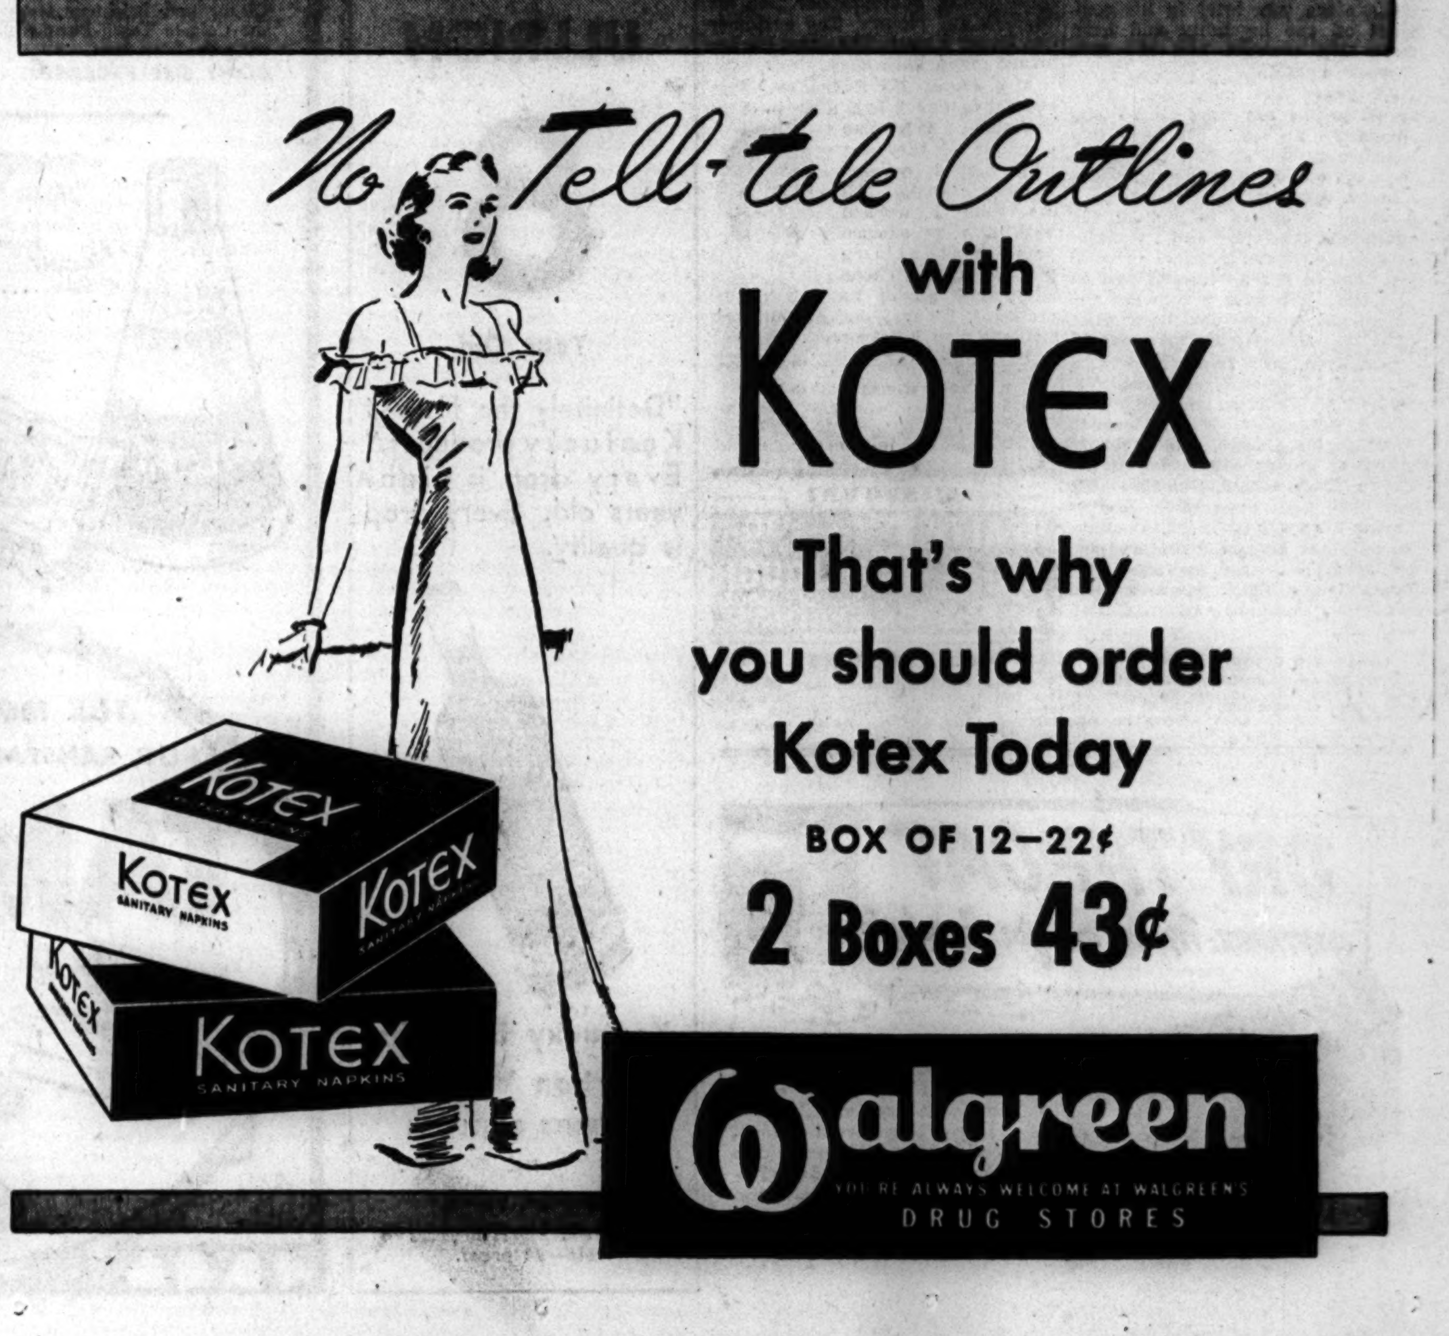

Garlic Flavored Vinegar Gives That Subtle Touch

To add a subtle touch of garlic to your favorite dish, use garlic flavored vinegar. With this trick there's no odor left clinging to the hands! Two teaspoons of garlic vinegar equal in flavor one small garlic section. Add a few drops to melted butter [or margarine] as a dressing for vegetables or add 2 teaspoons to the cooking water. In mixing hamburger, use ½ to 1 teaspoon to a pound of the ground meat. Add 1 or 2 tablespoons to spaghetti sauce; 1 teaspoon to a cup of white sauce; 1 tablespoon to 2 cups of barbecue sauce.

Arts Club Plans Two Parties to Start New Year

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE Arts club will start the new year with two parties within a week, an opening of two exhibitions by Marc Chagall and Hans Moller from 4 to 6 p. m. Tuesday and a dinner the next Sunday night, followed by the first Chicago appearance of Yella Pessl, harpsichordist.

Three Chicago women who have lent paintings by the Russian, Mr. Chagall, have been asked to pour at the tea. They are Mrs. Charles H. Swift, Mrs. Joseph Stein, and Mrs. Charles B. Goodspeed. The Art institute of Chicago also is represented in the 39 selections of Mr. Chagall's work, which will be shown. Mr. Chagall and Mr. Moller both live in New York. The latter will be represented by 20 line drawings. Neither artist will be here.

Miss Pessl, who played with the Bach Society of Vienna when she was 14, came to this country in 1931 and is the founder of the Bach circle in New York. She has appeared with Toscanini three times, and Arts club members are hoping that she will bring with her her lovely harpsichord, painted with angels.

Debutante Parties.

The Arts club will be the setting tonight for a pleasant party that the Walter P. Paepckes usually give in their home at Christmas time—a dinner and concert. Because their eldest daughter, Anina, is of debutante age and did not want a debut under the present world conditions, Mr. and Mrs. Paepcke enlarged their invitation list and are having the party serve as their daughter's introduction into adult society. Three generations of Paepcke friends attend these gatherings. Miss Paepcke is a student at the University of Chicago.

Miss Joan Woodside, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Thomas Woodside, will bow at a tea from 4 to 7 p. m. today in the Greenwood av. home of her parents. Assisting the debutante will be two classmates at Bryn Mawr, Miss Margaret Balsh of Harrisburg, Pa., and Miss Olive Van Dyke of Milwaukee, as well as the Misses Ann Cornelisen, Corlene Hobbs, Florence Howell, Ariel Tatman, Jerry Chase, Henrietta Conkey, Laura Lane, Gloria Schmitt, and Ruth and Jane McKenna. Following the tea there will be supper and dancing in the Woodside home for the debutante's young friends.

The Indian Hill club will be the scene of a debut luncheon today for Miss Deborah Daughaday, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Colton Daughaday of Winnetka. Miss Daughaday will be at home until Jan. 15, when she will return to Wellesley college.

Miss Patricia Trude, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred S. Trude of Highland Park, will make her debut at a luncheon at 1 p. m. today in the Exmoor club. The bud, who was graduated from Penn Hall, is at home this winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick W. Woodruff and their daughter, Kay, are entertaining at a small dinner party in the Racquet club tonight for Miss Carla Hawley, a debutante of the season. Afterward the young women and their beaux will go dancing elsewhere.

Here and There.

Following this afternoon's concert by the Chicago Symphony orchestra, many symphony-goers will travel north on Michigan av. to the Woman's Athletic club, where Mrs. Francis Mackay Gunn is entertaining at tea. Mrs. Gunn is president of the Alliance Francaise.

Miss Florence Nance, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clement A. Nance, is entertaining at luncheon in the South Shore Country club today for her house guest, Miss Lynn Lawrence of Sterling, Ill. Miss Nance and Miss Lawrence are students at Frances Shimer college.

Miss Barbara Morris and Miss Marcia Nierman, who are at home from Vassar college for the holidays, will entertain at luncheon in the Pump room for their suite-mate, Miss Nancy Hodges, and the latter's sister, Betsy, who are here from New York to spend the holidays.

Prof. Al Foley of Dartmouth college, who is here to attend the American Historical association meeting now in progress, is staying with Prof. Walter Johnson of the University of Chicago. Next Tuesday Prof. Foley will speak at a meeting of Chicago Dartmouth alumni in the University club.

The W. E. Durstons of the Edgewater Beach hotel are entertaining at cocktails today for their son, Sgt. David Durston of the cast of "Winged Victory."

Engagement News.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gramm of Lake Shore dr., announce the engagement of their daughter, Dorothy Jane, to Ensign Donald Walker Campbell, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. Scott Campbell of Elgin. Miss Gramm is a student at Ogontz Junior college. Ensign Campbell, who is at home on leave following duty in the Mediterranean, was graduated from Dartmouth college, at which he was a member of Phi Beta Kappa.

At a tea at home in Kenilworth yesterday Mrs. Elizabeth Dilling announced the engagement of her daughter, Elizabeth Jane, to Darwin Mills Rummel, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Rummel of St. Louis and Kansas City, Mo. Miss Dilling, a student at Northwestern university, is a graduate of the Roycemore school. Mr. Rummel, who was honorably discharged from the naval air forces last July, is a graduate of the University of Missouri. Miss Dilling's brother, Lt. Kirkpatrick Dilling of the army air force armament department, is at home on leave.

Girl Shortage Tops Gripes of Alsace G. I.s

BY SEYMOUR KORMAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SAVERNE, Alsace, Dec. 28.—In the guest book of Liza and Jerry at the American Red Cross Enlisted Men's club here is space after the name of each visiting soldier in which he may list his "biggest gripe" against the army. No G. I. overlooks filling in that column.

Some of the comments are: "Too much rear echelon," "Missing out on rotation," "Too much post-war talk and not enough war talk," and "Being away from home."

But the one complaint which tops all of these and appears after about 75 per cent of the names concerns the absence of feminine company. It is expressed variously along these lines: "Woman shortage," "Lack of femininity," and "Not enough wine, women, and song."

Liza and Jerry are the two southern girls who operate the club. They are, respectively, Elizabeth Jones of Decatur, Ala., and Virginia Lee Wilke of Austin, Tex. They were with the Red Cross thru Africa and Italy and came to southern France shortly after D-day.

"We have known the G. I.'s for a long time now," Elizabeth said today, "and they are just the same as they were in the other campaigns except they are more tired now."

"They may be tired," broke in Virginia Lee, who had just returned from the lounge, "but the one with whom I was just jitter-bugging didn't show it."

"Seriously, tho," said Elizabeth, "many of them have seen a lot of war, and it doesn't matter to them whether they are fighting in Sicily or Italy or Alsace or Germany. They just want it all to end soon so they can get home.

"I guess they do miss their women folks more than anything else. We try to provide pleasant surroundings for them and things to read and coffee to drink, but there will never be any real substitute for home life for them."

Elizabeth and Virginia Lee, both attractive brunettes, have opened five Red Cross clubs during their time overseas. The present one is in a hotel which they took over a week ago. It had been occupied by the Germans and was in filthy condition. But the girls and other members of the Red Cross staff for the northern area of the 7th army cleaned it up quickly. They have had nearly 5,000 visitors the first week. They worked all evening Christmas eve decorating the premises.

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MAC KAY

Future in Advertising.

New York white collar girls are taking their careers more seriously than ever before. "They realize the job which was easy to get may be hard to hold," is Harriet Raymond's comment. As advertising director for Celanese Celluloid corporation, she is vitally interested in the 16th annual advertising course for women sponsored by the advertising women of New York.

"This year," she said, "there are more enrollees than formerly; there is a greater proportion of young business girls, and all are more interested in the written assignment of the course." Each girl attending the 22 lectures is invited to submit an entire advertising program on a subject of her own selection for a scholarship award in advertising, promotion, or display at any school of the winner's choice. You can jot it down in your book of predictions for 1945 that the winner is headed for outstanding success.

Fashion Jobs, Too.

Other evidence of the "down-to-business" attitude of New York career girls is the enthusiasm over the training course in fashion jobs, sponsored by the Fashion Group. "How can you start?" . . . "Where can you aim?" . . . "What choices have you?" These are some of the queries answered thru personal counsel and lectures by women speakers who hold creative fashion jobs. Here, too, an award was made —$200—won by Marion Collins for her essay submitted at the end of the 10 weeks' course. The course was so popular that it may be repeated in the early spring. And the Fashion Group has a new bee in its style wise bonnet—a book on the material presented in the lecture course, to be published for the guidance of other young women in Sioux City and Keokuk.

Racket.

The lowest racket in New York is that of an intentionally poorly clad young woman who stops young service men on the street and tries to sell them magazine subscriptions. "Didn't want it. Felt sorry for her, tho," said one service man. "D'ya know how much the subscription was? Thirty bucks! Didn't take it."

Pleasantest Voices.

The pleasantest voices in New York continue to be the Times Square telephone operators at the telephone center for service persons, where long distance holiday calls often are scheduled for a six or seven hour wait. One lad waxed lyrical on Christmas eve when he signed the registry: "It's Christmas eve and I'm going to call—the girl I love the best of all."

Notes of a Middlewesterner.

Taxicabs in New York are more plentiful than in Chicago, cigarets scarcer. . . . Sidewalk peddlers are selling [until chased by the police] elastic! . . . The Humane society displays a contented kitten in a glass cage on 43d st. with a plea to give a homeless pet a home. . . . An organ grinder churns out a cheerless tune as the temperature drops closer to zero. . . . The Statue of Liberty, viewed from the ferry, is clouded in mist as it must be in the tired befogged minds of our men in battle. . . . Women guards boom out the stations on the subway. . . . Girls take tickets at the doors of theaters, while at New York City center they are cloaked in long black velvet capes, like opera goers, to ward off the cold.

Ravinia Woman's Club Has Holly Hop Tonight

The Ravinia Woman's club will give its seventh annual Holly Hop for young people of high school and college age tonight in the Village house. Mrs. Robert Harvey is chairman of the formal party, with Mrs. Albert J. Bushey co-chairman.

Chopin Work Done Skilfully by Brailowsky

Concert by the Chicago Symphony orchestra, Desire Defauw, conductor; Alexander Brailowsky, pianist. Presented at Orchestra hall Thursday evening, Dec. 28, 1944, and scheduled for repetition Friday afternoon. The program:
Overture to "The Bartered Bride" . . . Smetana
Symphony in D minor . . . . . Franck

BY CLAUDIA CASSIDY.

Somewhere between announcement and performance, Alexander Brailowsky changed his mind about Chopin concertos, so last night he played the E minor rather than the F minor with Désiré Defauw and the Chicago Symphony orchestra—a decision which probably made balletomanes see occasional Nijinska visions at Orchestra hall. For abstract as you like to be about such things, memories of exceptionally apt choreography persist in getting tangled up with music, like Massine's little black men and the magnificent adagio of "Choreartuim," composed to Brahms' Fourth Symphony.

Whatever the reason for his change, Mr. Brailowsky justified it in performance. Chopin is superbly down his pianistic street. He has the technical equipment to meet its demands, and it in turn is grateful for his refusal to paint already lovely lilies.

Chopin's own poetry compensates for what sometimes seems a lack of poetry in Mr. Brailowsky's approach to music, and Chopin's magnificent sensitivity to the tonal wealth of the piano makes up for any hint of the shallow or unimaginative in the Russian's tone. Mr. Brailowsky played competently, calmly, and with a skill that verged on the efficient, so utterly was it devoid of nerves.

Chopin is supposed to have resented sentimental performance of his music, so probably he would have approved Mr. Brailowsky's performance because it exploited the music, not the player. The audience approved it because the result was so charming.

The orchestra gave the soloist discreet accompaniment at its best in the crisp opening phrases and the converstional dexterity of the rondo. The concert opened with Smetana's Overture to "The Bartered Bride," played with more blare than actual brilliance, then proceeded to the Franck Symphony, which moved some of the audience to cheers and some to sighs. My sympathy went to the unhappy minority—and to the orchestra that used to count the Franck among its triumphs.

One of the more curious convictions some people cherish about Mr. Defauw is that being a Belgian, he is necessarily an expert on French music, which strikes me as about as convincing as saying any woman born south of the Mason and Dixon line must be a wow at spoonbread. The major attributes of the French style are clarity, precision, a sense of proportion, a masterful sense of logic. The major attributes of Mr. Defauw's style are the slapdash and the superficial. He likes big effects at any cost, and the Franck kicked like a French steer at such treatment.

All Military Training of WACs Will Be at Des Moines by April

Washington, D. C., Dec. 28 (AP).—The war department announced today that all military training of WACs will be consolidated at Fort Des Moines, Ia., by next April 1. The WAC training center now operated at Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., will be discontinued.

Consolidation of military training facilities at Des Moines, said the department, "is in line with the army's WAC recruiting program for 1945, which will stress the enlistment of women possessing specialized skills rather than large numbers."

Egg-Asparagus Sandwich with Cheese Sauce

[Serves six.]
2 cups flour
3 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
¼ cup shortening
¾ cup milk
3 eggs, hard cooked
1 can green asparagus spears

Sift flour; measure and sift again with baking powder and salt. Cut in shortening. Add milk to form a soft dough. Roll dough out to ⅛ inch thickness. Cut into 4 inch squares and bake at 450 degrees 10 to 12 minutes, or until golden brown. Place a layer of sliced hard cooked eggs on each square and top with a layer of hot asparagus spears. Serve with hot cheese sauce or white sauce and garnish with a slice of hard cooked egg and a dash of paprika.

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Dec. 28.—Sol Lesser and Pierre Blanchar of the Paris underground have been seeing much of each other, which leads me to believe Blanchar will aid Sol in doing "Paris Canteen."

I know Lesser wants to make it bigger than "Stage Door Canteen." He'll get American, British, and French stars. He's aiming for Beatrice Lillie, Margaret Lawrence, Noel Coward, Diana Wynyard, Vivien Leigh, Laurence Olivier, Harry Lauder, and H. G. Wells and would give practically anything to have Winston Churchill in it for one scene. He also wants scenes in Paris of Maurice Chevalier with Danielle Darrieux and scenes over here of our stars who've entertained overseas. He'll try to coax Elsie Janis out of retirement to do her stuff as she did in the last war, in contrast to what our kids are doing in this. Sounds mighty sound. Two and a half million dollars have gone to various charities from "Stage Door Canteen," which proves he knows how to make 'em.

It's a Nice Dream, Anyway.

Sam Wood is trying to buy rights to "Good-by, Mr. Chips" and make a sequel to it after the war. I imagine he has as much chance of getting it as he has of getting Louis B. Mayer's right arm. . . . Dana Andrews finally gets a chance to exercise his vocal chords in "A Walk in the Sun." He actually sings. . . . Van Johnson has the biggest buildup ever given a Metro player in New York. They've decorated a whole side of a building with his face. . . . Bill Robinson, when he saw Esther Williams at a ringside table at the Zanzibar in New York, called to his wife sitting in the audience, and together they did a soft shoe version of "Tea for Two," dedicating it to Esther. . . . Chill Wills, who took a troupe to Iceland for U. S. O., can't stop working for our soldiers. Now he's at Camp Roberts, putting on a streamlined version of "Pinafore" for them. . . . The Mocambo's maitre, Roger, spends his days directing waiters in Warners' "Hotel Berlin." . . . Jean Arthur, with a new hair-do, was having herself a time with Frank Ross at the Mocambo. . . . What's this? Bill Hollingsworth and Acquanette a coosome twosome?

Gathering in the Sheaves.

Mervyn Leroy has bought Lt. Mark Lucas' "Slice of Life." Sounds like an interesting tale. It revolves around an 18 year old Austrian girl who went into hiding when her parents embraced Nazi ideology, then was smuggled onto a boat, finally arrived in this country, and went to live on the Indian reservation at Albuquerque. Lucas either has an awful lot of facts or a very vivid imagination. . . . Kay Crawford, Brod's wife, steps out on the stage for first time in Mike Todd's "Central Park." Sure, she sang with a band, but this is the first time she's acted right out in public. . . . "Three Strangers," which Geraldine Fitzgerald does for Warners, was originally bought from John Huston for Olivia De Havilland. . . . American exhibitors have already found two boys for Johnny Considine's "Seven Letters to Boys' Town." One is Jimmy Douglas, 14, of Philadelphia, the other Harry Collins, who's 12 and from St. Louis, Mo.

A Niece Speaks Out.

A niece of William Lyon Phelps writes from Burnside, Conn.: "Uncle Billy's [Phelps'] life would be wonderful on the screen. We like Spencer Tracy so much, but he's not Uncle Billy's type at all. He's not lean nor a slow talker. Gary Cooper's tall for the part, but we think he's better suited for it. However, we're merely the audience. Just thought you'd like to know." . . . There's only one Maggie Ettinger. She picked up seven lonely looking sailors Christmas day, took them to three open house parties, dined 'em, took them home, turned her living room into a dormitory, and got up next morning and cooked their breakfast. . . . Richard Powers, here for two weeks, is returning east to make "Johnny by Night" into a play. . . . The Italian uprising over Mussolini will be mild compared to uprising of Italians here if Eddie G. Robinson plays the life of their beloved Enrico Caruso. I've never heard anything so silly. . . . Sophie Tucker is having herself a two weeks' rest at Palm Springs.

Here Is a Movie to Chase Your Troubles Away

"ENTER ARSENE LUPIN."

A Universal picture, produced and directed by Ford Beebe, featuring Charles Korvin, Ella Raines, J. Carrol Naish, Gale Sondergaard, and George Dolenz, and presented at the Palace.

By Mae Tinée.

If you'd like to forget your troubles for a while, I suggest you pop in to see this movie tale of the famous French thief. It's a smooth little crook film which doesn't take itself too seriously and features absolutely no gore. There isn't a single dead body.

Ably cast and directed, it moves along easily, with several tricky touches and plenty of humor. The story concerns a valuable emerald, a gal, her bankrupt and scheming uncle and aunt, and Lupin, a light-fingered gentleman of the Raffles type, complete with top hat, white tie, and tails.

You won't have much difficulty guessing who swiped what from whom, but I don't think you'll be bored.

J. Carrol Naish gives a fine performance as the eccentric French detective, Ganimard, and very nearly steals the picture from under the handsome nose of Charles Korwin, who plays the lead. The latter is a newcomer to the screen and should get along, since he has looks, poise, and a pleasantly accented speaking voice.

Ella Raines struck me as slightly wooden as the love interest, but I liked George Dolenz as a sprightly assistant crook.

My compliments to Mr. Beebe for an hour's diversion.

Fats Famine Partly Due to Leaner Meat

BY ARNOLD ERICKSON.

Housewives recently were criticized by heads of the waste fat salvage program for allowing too much ammunition to go down the kitchen drain in the form of grease. Requirements are greater than at any time in the war, and reserve holdings of animal fats are smallest in two years. Lard holdings alone have tumbled from 490 million pounds to 90 millions in six months.

However, only a small part of the blame for the acute fat shortage can justly be laid at the kitchen door. It is in the farm feedlot that animal fats are being "destroyed" and some authorities contend the fault lies with the OPA. A combination of factors at work in the live stock and meat packing industry the last 12 months, reaching right back to the farm animal pens, has culminated in a tremendous cut in production of fat at a time when demand has reached all-time records. All classes of live stock for several months have been coming to market in leaner flesh than a year ago.

The military services and lend-lease get a larger share of the fat cuts, so that housewives have not the fat in their kitchens they had last winter. The department of agriculture reports that because of the lighter weights of hogs, packers are getting about two pounds less lard per hog than they got a year ago. Weights of cattle this fall and winter have been among the lightest on record. In recent months consumers have been sold much utility beef because it was then point free, a grade that carries little fat and often requires a piece of suet from a fatter animal.

Federal men in the Chicago stock yards said that choice and prime steers, the kinds that carry an abundance of fat, made up only 9.1 per cent of last week's supply, against 25.8 in the same week last year and an average of 31.5 in the three preceding years. Common and medium grades, the lean types, comprised 50.1 per cent last week, 19.2 a year ago, and a three year average of 19.3 per cent. In other words, meat for civilians is much leaner than the cuts they got last winter.

Farmers for many months were discouraged from feeding cattle and hogs to heavy weights thru a system of price penalties imposed by the OPA. Because of the acute lard shortage the OPA ended the penalties for the producer of heavy hogs two weeks ago so that farmers raising hogs to big weights now can get just as much as those who sell lights.

However, it takes much time to alter production trends in live stock. Real relief from the fats famine is a long way off. Even if farmers bring hogs up to the weights they produced last year, which were the heaviest on record, they cannot equal last winter's lard tonnage because they have about 30 per cent fewer hogs to fatten. So every drop of waste fat is most urgently needed.

Miss Amberg's Wedding Set for Tomorrow

Old lace handed down from her grandmother has been fashioned into the wedding veil that Miss Elizabeth Amberg will wear when she exchanges marriage vows with John Murtaugh at 11 a. m. tomorrow at St. Joseph's altar in the Holy Name cathedral. Miss Catherine Amberg will be her sister's only attendant, and Lewis Charles Murtaugh will be his brother's best man. Following the ceremony there will be a small reception for members of the family and close friends in the Lake View av. home of the bride's mother, Mrs. John Ward Amberg.

Three of the bride's brothers were unable to come here for the wedding. Lt. [j. g.] Thomas Amberg, who is serving with the navy at Pearl Harbor; Sgt. William Amberg of the army, and Father John B. Amberg of West Baden college in Indiana. However, other brothers and sisters who will be here with their wives and husbands are Bertrand Amberg of Madison, Wis.; Gilbert Amberg of Kankakee, Mrs. Charles Pigott of Beverly Hills, Mrs. George Fiedler and Mrs. Edmund Egan of Winnetka, and Miss Virginia Amberg. After a brief wedding trip, young Mr. and Mrs. Murtaugh will be at home on the near north side.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Bice Travis of Hinsdale are in Berkeley, Cal., for the marriage of their daughter, Marta Betsy, and Ensign Richard Douglas Hornidge of the maritime service, which will take place at 4 p. m. tomorrow in the chapel of the Anna Head school, with a reception following. The Rev. Stanley Armstrong Hunter, minister of St. John's Presbyterian church, Berkeley, will officiate. After a week of skiing at Echo Lake, Ensign Hornidge and his bride will be at home in Berkeley. Miss Travis is a member of the faculty of the school. Ensign Hornidge is the son of Capt. Edward Stuart Hornidge of the British army, and Mrs. Hornidge of Pulfarris, Wicklow Hills, Ireland.

Mrs. Oscar E. Peltzer of Oak Park is in Mount Vernon, Ill., for the marriage at 8 o'clock tonight of her son, Capt. Wesley E. Peltzer of the army medical corps, and Miss Widney Watson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Watson and granddaughter of Mrs. Louis L. Emmerson and the late Gov. Emmerson of Mount Vernon. Capt. Peltzer and his bride will be at home in Battle Creek, Mich. His brother, Capt. Vernon Peltzer of the marines, stationed in Washington, D. C., will serve as best man.

Mrs. Harry E. Eldridge of Winnetka announces the marriage last Tuesday of her daughter, Marylin Clare, to Ensign William M. Archibald, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Archibald of River Forest. The wedding took place in SS. Faith, Hope, and Charity church in Winnetka. The bride wore the wedding gown and veil of her sister, Mrs. Thomas Vincent Johnson of San Francisco, who was here for the wedding. They are granddaughters of the late Thomas E. Sullivan. Following a short wedding trip, Ensign Archibald and his bride will be at home in Hollywood, Fla., where he will report for further training.

Lt. [j. g.] William C. Buttner Jr. and his bride, the former Sally Wallach, now are at home in Overland Park, Kas., where he is stationed as a naval air transport pilot. They were married in a small ceremony at 4:30 p. m. Dec. 18 in the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Wallach of Winnetka. Miss Joan Wallach was her cousin's maid of honor, and the bridegroom's sister, Marguerite, also was an attendant. Lt. [j. g.] Robert H. Martin was best man for Lt. Buttner, with whom he has been on duty since their training days in Corpus Christi, Tex. Lt. Buttner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Buttner of Winnetka, recently returned from 10 months of duty overseas.

Mrs. Lillian Boyle of Lake Shore dr. and Fred Lasker of Madison pkwy. will be married at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow in St. Mary's of the Lake church. The bride, widow of the late State Rep. James P. Boyle, who served for 23½ years in the legislature, will be attended by her daughter, Irene Margaret, and her son, James Michael, is to be best man. Mr. Lasker and his bride will take a wedding trip to his Lake Geneva estate, Marne.

When their leaves are over the end of this week Lt. Ian Falconer and his bride, the former Lorene Mae Rages, will report for duty, he to his army post in the Aleutians and she to a new station with the army nurse corps. Lt. and Mrs. Falconer, who both are first lieutenants, met while serving in the Aleutians. They were married Dec. 12 in the Presbyterian manse in Lake Forest, shortly after their return to this country. Since then they have been visiting Lt. Falconer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert William Falconer of Lake Forest. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Edward Rages of Canon City, Colo.

One of the teachers whose duplicate game I happened to attend not long ago bewailed bitterly the score she had made in my current Saturday quiz. "I got only four right this week," she confessed. In an effort to console her I expressed my belief that the problems were unusually difficult. "In fact, I got two of them wrong myself," I, assured her.

This season has brought forth a surprisingly low number of complaints about my answers. But one in particular elicited an avalanche of critical mail. Today's South hand was shown and the bidding projected up to the point where North had bid two hearts and East had passed, and the question was then put as to South's proper call. My answer was: "Three diamonds. A cue bid suggesting a slam, in view of partner's free bid. I know this appears to be a pinochle deck, but the opposition is no doubt essaying a piece of highway robbery."

Most of the letters cited an excerpt from Culbertson's Gold Book to the effect that " a bid in the opponents' suit expresses a desire to play in that suit when the player has previously made a takeout double of the opponents' suit." Even if I agreed with Mr. Culbertson in that respect, nevertheless it would not apply to a case such as this where partner has already made a voluntary and not a forced bid. It is hardly conceivable that a player who has made a takeout double and heard his partner make a free bid in a major suit would suddenly decide that he'd like to play in a minor suit which has already been adversely bid.

Actually I do not agree with the assertion in the Gold Book and to satisfy my own conscience on the subject [because I realize that stubbornness would be a serious hindrance to the fulfillment of my mission] I submitted the question to a number of my colleagues, to be exact, 10 of the country's foremost experts, and they are all in agreement. The proper call at the point in question was three diamonds.

It is agreed by all that the proper procedure when the enemy opens with your suit is to sit by for a moment and clear up the atmosphere on a subsequent round. Once in a long while you will be left at the post, but not often enough seriously to impair your income.

I am quite persuaded that Mr. Culbertson will make this change in the next edition of the Gold Book, because it has been my observation that he has always evinced a tendency towards flexibility and a desire to keep pace with the developments of the game.

The usual weekly quiz will appear tomorrow.

[Mr. Goren will answer bridge questions sent to The Tribune if a self-addressed, stamped envelope is inclosed.]

Arts Club Plans Two Parties to Start New Year

their daughter, June Darlynne, to Pvt. Donald L. Blazier of the marines, son of Mr. and Mrs. Webster Blazier, also of Elgin. Miss Gissler attended Northern Illinois State Teachers' college. Pvt. Blazier is stationed in the Hawaiian Islands.

Mr. and Mrs. Gooding N. Kelly of Euclid av. announce the engagement of their daughter, Patricia Ruth, to William H. Sherer of the army, son of Dr. and Mrs. John W. Sherer of West Orange, N. J. Miss Kelly is a graduate of Stephens college and of the University of Wisconsin. Her fiancé attended Exeter academy and Harvard university before entering the service. He is stationed at Camp Custer, Mich.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton O. Hull of Highland Park announce the engagement of their daughter, Muriel, to Ensign Frank W. McDonald of the navy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. McDonald, also of Highland Park. Miss Hull is a sophomore at Lake Forest college. Ensign McDonald attended Lake Forest academy and Lawrence college and has left for his new post in Florida.

At their annual Christmas eve at home in Pasadena, Cal., Mr. and Mrs. Archibald Belmont Young announced the engagement of their daughter, Elizabeth Parry, to Philip Bartlett Smith, son of Dr. and Mrs. Philip Edward Smith of New York. Miss Young, a granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Francis A. Hardy of Chicago, was graduated from the Ethel Walker school and is a student at Scripps college. She made her debut last summer in Pasadena. Mr. Smith was graduated from the California Institute of Technology last fall and will enroll at Columbia university in February to work for his master's degree. His father is a professor in the medical school at Columbia.

Enrollment of 6,202 Gives Northwestern 9 Pct. Gain Over '43

With an enrollment of 6,202 full time students at Northwestern university during 1944, the student body was 9 per cent larger than a year ago, the university reported yesterday in a summary of its year's activities. Evening enrollment at the downtown campus increased almost 27 per cent from 5,355 last year to 6,792 this year.

The university gave naval training to 9,514 men during 1944. More than 16,000 men have now received ensign's commissions since the midshipmen's school was established in October, 1940, and 4,248 men have been graduated from the radio school since it was started in June, 1942.

During the year the university added 23 new faculty members above the rank of instructor, one of the largest additions to the teaching staff in its history.

INSTALMENT XLI.

FIGHT FOR HAPPINESS.

Sandra was grateful for Stan Fraser's badinage. She knew he was giving her a chance to ease back to normal. "Good to know there is one faithful man alive," she laughed.

"I'm him." Stan lowered his voice to a stage whisper and jerked his head toward Bob. "Course he had to drag along."

Bob was watching Sandra and his friend, a sardonic smile on his strong boned face.

"O, we'll let him stick around a little while—say about 60 years." Fraser slapped his hat against the shiny chaps and gave a small whoop of triumph at his hit.

The girl looked at him reproachfully. "You know so much. Just for that I'm going to leave you." She moved to join her father and their guest. As she passed Bob she murmured, "Want to see you alone before you go."

Webb nodded without speaking. Sandra showed Mary to the room she was to occupy. It was the sort of bedroom the older woman had dreamed about, bright and cheerful, with chintz window curtains, a big easy chair and soft bed, a good rag carpet. As Sandra fussed over little details that made for comfort, a warm glow filled her bosom.

The girl left her to wash off the dust of travel. She found Bob Webb alone on the porch. Fraser had drawn John Ranger to the barn.

"Let's go into the orchard," Sandra said.

As soon as they were among the peach trees Bob opened his attack. "Don't you know better than to go fooling around with Uhlmann?" he demanded sharply. "I've told you it isn't safe for you to try to find out anything he and Packard want kept secret. If you would only let me manage my own affairs."

She looked at him in surprise. "I thought that—"

"Can't you get it thru yore noodle that if you learn too much about these blackhearted villains they will rub you out? They won't stop because you are a woman. That devil might have killed you today. This isn't a game they are playing with me. They mean to destroy me."

Sandra knew his irritation had its genesis in his anxiety for her safety, but her anger rose at his dictatorial manner.

"That's my lookout," she snapped, hot temper in her eyes. "I don't have to ask you what I can or can't do. I'll go on doing as I please."

He took her by the shoulders and shook her till the teeth chattered. When he freed her she stood staring at him in astonishment.

"Just another Uhlmann," she said. "But you haven't blacked either of my eyes yet."

He might have retorted that she had not lashed him with a quirt, but he had no spirit for contention. He had burnt out his exasperation in action. All she had done for him flooded up in his mind, not only her brave fight to save him from approaching catastrophe but of even more importance the rebirth of hope and faith in him her trust had inspired. With a little gesture of defeat he turned to go.

"Wait a minute," she ordered.

They looked steadily into each other's eyes. Mirth began to bubble in hers. "It's not fatal to shake up a girl—when she needs it," Sandra mentioned. "Maybe it will improve her, as it does medicine in a bottle."

He was still shocked at what he had done. "I don't know how I came to lay hands on you. I must have gone crazy."

Her face had crinkled to laughter. "You're very vigorous in your punishments, sir," she said, with mock demureness, and she lifted some stray golden locks to prove it.

All he could say was, "I don't want these villains to hurt you."

"If it has to be done, you'll do it yourself," she added with neat, friendly malice.

"You wouldn't listen to me, and I thought it might make the difference between life and death for you."

"I'll listen now." A queer song of joy was singing in her breast. He would not have been so violent if it had not been for his interest in her. "And I'll promise from now on to stay at home and not lift a finger. Does that suit you?"

"It suits me fine. I'll shake hands on it."

Their hands met and clung fast. His arms went around her and their lips met in a long kiss that set the blood pounding.

He pushed her from him. "What am I doing? There can't ever be anything between you and me. We both know that."

"But there is," she denied exultantly. "There always has been since the first moment we met."

A savage joy beat up in him, but he set himself grimly to fight it down. "No," he answered harshly. "There is the curse of the prison on me. All thru your life it would rise up to destroy your happiness."

"If it is proved you are not guilty?"

"People would forget that. They would remember that I spent many years in a penitentiary."

"But you are wrong," she cried. "And it wouldn't matter what they thought so long as we knew the truth."

"Not today or tomorrow maybe, but in long years to come. It would be a blot on our children's future. I've been having an impossible dream, but I've got to face facts now."

"We'll wait until you're cleared and talk of this again," she said.

"No" he flung back unhappily. "Never again. There's a wall between us we can't break down."

The girl looked at him with high spirit, her lovely young head held high. "You are wrong, Bob Webb. There's no wall except one your silly pride has built up. You can't kiss me like that and throw me over. I won't have it, for I know you love me. My future has its rights as much as yours. You can't decide this alone without consulting me."

"It's you I'm thinking of, a lovely young girl, sheltered and——"

"Fiddlesticks!" she interrupted. "I thought you had more sense. A woman doesn't sit on a pedestal, making sure her hands are lily white and that there is no common dust on her skirts. Unless she is a fool she goes out and—and meets life. She loves and marries and has children, if she is lucky. Her hands roughen and her face wrinkles. Griefs and trouble wear her away, as they do a man. And in spite of that she is happy, given the right mate by her side."

Slender and erect she faced him. A warm glow beat thru the clear skin. Her starry eyes challenged him. She was as spirited, he thought, as a young Joan of Arc. If her happiness was at stake, she meant to fight for it.

"When I am wearing my striped uniform I am No. 4582," he reminded her gently.

Forcing Child to Be Student Is a False Step

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1944: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

Are you trying to make a student of your son or daughter? Are you and your husband that way yourself? Are you great book lovers, are you both university graduates, and are you both filled with ambition to make into a student a child who is not naturally one at all?

This is love's labor lost. It is a futile process, one fraught with disappointment for the parents, a sense of failure for the child who is under pressure and constant friction. It is a great mistake to urge a child on to college, or an arbitrarily chosen profession, when inwardly and outwardly he balks against it. It may lead to a hatred of books by a boy who if let alone, would eventually turn to them when his special interest was aroused.

Also, if a boy, we'll say, is forced to keep at intensive study against his aptitude, he may lose years of effort which might better be spent in developing a real talent, such as art, writing, acting, following the sea, or being a good business man or craftsman or mechanic. More and more are educators trying to find out a pupil's aptitudes and letting him develop along those lines.

This doesn't mean that young people should be allowed to "ditch" their schooling whenever they feel like it, or be lazy or indifferent about their ordinary education. The mental discipline, the actual knowledge gained, the benefits to their habits resulting from normal attention to their studies should be part of their childhood. A certain amount of general education is necessary before they devote all or the main part of their study to a special field.

In the course of time education will see to it that, first, school holds children's interest and enthusiasm, and, second, finds out their special fitness and develops it.

Quilt Pattern

"Grandmother's Fan" is a favorite quilt pattern. The pieces of the fan are sewed together and then appliqued to a plain block. These are assembled in an alternate arrangement and on the diagonal, so the fans are upright. Pieces from the scrap bag will create a colorful fan, for no two blocks need be alike. The alternate plain blocks may be of white or color.

For the quilt pattern, "Grandmother's Fan," No. 1068 send 10 cents in stamps or coin, plus 2 cents to cover mailing cost, to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth av., New York 1, N. Y.

Family with 7 Children Faces Critical Needs

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.]

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

The emergency needs of the G. family have been brought to our attention in a letter from Mrs. M., the social worker on the case. Inadequately housed in three small concrete floored rooms back of an empty store, poorly heated, without beds, and with only a small electric plate for cooking purposes, their dire condition is the result of illness and unemployment. Physical hardships in the home, such as lack of proper rest, warmth, and a sense of security so necessary for their well-being, have been detrimental to the children. Altho Mr. G. is working now, his wages supply nothing more than food and rental.

We appeal to our readers for bedding, a table, chairs, dishes, a gas stove, two full size beds, and two rollaway beds. Clothing for girls 12 and 5 and for boys 10, 7, 3, 2, and 8 months will be appreciated. The family lives on the south side of the city, and offers from that general vicinity can be called for at least expense.

Further information may be had by phoning or writing this department.

Dr. Merrill Resigns as Medical Chief of St. Luke's Hospital

Dr. Ambrose P. Merrill, who has been medical director of St. Luke's hospital for two years, announced his resignation yesterday, effective Jan. 1. He will assume the superintendency of a chronic disease hospital in New York City. Hospital officials said a successor has not been named. Dr. Merrill came to Chicago in 1940 from San Francisco. He was assistant director at St. Luke's from 1940 until he was named director in 1942.

FASHIONS

By Angela

Floral print dresses for spring or to wear now under a fur coat are conversation pieces because of the beauty of the prints against neutral backgrounds. Especially attractive is the color treatment of the new print collection just unpacked. Some are soft, muted colors, while others are striking in their vivid beauty.

Bunches of wine colored and red carnations are combined with violets on the honey beige jersey dress at the left. This slim one piecer depends on the print for its success. Three green plastic buttons match the leaves in the print. At each side of a deep vee neck line are two bands of material which hang from the shoulders and end in bows.

The brown and white polka dot crepe dress in the center has falanges of knife plaiting from shoulder to waist, around the deep skirt pockets, and on the turn-back cuffs. A high, round neck line is finished with a string tie, and white plastic buttons fasten the dress. Priced under $8, it's available in sizes 12 to 20.

The jersey print dress at the right has huge tropical flowers of yellow, gold, purple, and fuchsia. Overlaying the flowers is a film of brown. Thruout the body of the dress are scattered single flowers of the same shades. A ruffle of the border print outlines the deep U neck line.

College of Education Alumnae to Hold Tea

The Alumnae Association of the National College of Education in Evanston will hold its annual holiday tea at 3 p. m. today in the lounge of the college dormitory. Mrs. Edwin George and Mrs. C. S. Flader, both of Evanston, arranged the party, and four recent presidents of the association will pour: Miss Eleanor Svaty of Oak Park, Mrs. Raymond Lowrie of Evanston, Miss Martha Springer of Winnetka, and Mrs. Allen Melichar of Riverside.

Pastel Shades of New Suits Are Unusual

BY REA SEEGER.

Smooth gabardine suits, ready for swank tailored contrast by day, arrive each midseason to tempt susceptible shoppers seeking something to relieve the somberness of dark fabrics and furs. This time, they feature unusual pastel shades—gold, pussywillow gray, butter beige, dark caramel, chartreuse, china blue, strawberry, deep raspberry, flame red, and pale yellow. There also are a very few off-whites and the usual copper, navy blues, and dark browns.

The collections are superb. This is the super-stuff that tailors with precision neatness, keeps a press almost indefinitely, and looks as smart as a fashion drawing.

There is an important new trend, quite visible this season. Notice the appreciably longer length of the long torso jackets, the clever details—such as wide tucks used for contrast, suave shoulders that achieve width without bulk, softer necklines, dressmaker collar lines that are convertible, tie belts, and prolific use of buttons. The buttons are bone or covered with gabardine.

Some of these suits look like jacket dresses. The grimly tailored affairs copied from masculine models are gone.

If the neutrals fail to click in your scheme of things, check the fascinating new strong colors, which offer enviable contrast for the darkest coat. There are ruddy tones of rust and red, deep vibrant shades of green and copper. And do watch the lime shades. These shades are among the most promising tones presented in nearly every midseason collection on display.

Simply tailored one piece dresses of butter smooth wool gabardine also are here. They are exquisitely tailored, have a soft dressmaker charm, and are just what you want for an extra dress for winter wear. Especially attractive are the liberally be-buttoned models with three-quarter length loose sleeves and high casual necklines.

Thru the Looking Glass

The toiletries industry has now emerged from the hurly-burly of war time buying and selling with a remarkably good record.

In the field of toiletries this Christmas—and thruout the year—the consumer escaped the two way squeeze of higher prices and inferior merchandise that made her so furious when she shopped for many other items, with or without ceiling control.

The dollar lipstick is still a dollar, as big and as good as ever it was. The soaps, face powders, creams, colognes, and perfumes are no more expensive than they were in peace time. And the quality is as high as it can be with the materials at hand. The 20 per cent tax is the only lift in cost to the consumer, and in no sense can that be regarded as the inflationary pricing that is so irritating in some fields.

Thruout the war the toilet goods industry, thru its Toilet Goods association, has policed its own activities. A government bill designed to regulate the industry was rescinded. The association placed the government's needs first; all essential materials were either relinquished entirely or conserved in the most satisfactory manner. It's been difficult, but the toiletries industry has served the consumer well—and without any broad scale inflationary gyps.

The Toilet Goods association, composed of members of the industry, deserves a vote of thanks, we think, not only from the consumer but from all in the industry who value its prestige. ELEANOR NANGLE.

ODT WILL BAN SHIPMENT OF RACE STABLES

Bars Movement to Foreign Tracks.

Washington, D. C., Dec. 28 (AP).—The government's shutdown of race tracks in the United States will be followed up by a ban against transportation of horses except to home stables, it was learned today.

The forthcoming order, designed to prevent the shipment of horses from southern tracks to racing plants outside the country, now is being drafted by the office of defense transportation.

Pending actual issuance of the order, ODT went on record today as "very much opposed" to any efforts to reopen the long closed Devonshire race track in Windsor, Ont., just across the border from Detroit.

Had Hoped to Run Track.

Michael Burnstine, one of the trustees of the Windsor property, said in Detroit today that a spokesman for a Detroit syndicate had approached the owners of the track with a view to working out a plan for its reopening.

Among other objections, ODT said a reopening of the track would impose an added burden on local transportation facilities.

LOTTERY IS OUT

Washington, D. C., Dec. 28 (AP).—Reaction to the government's order closing race tracks has reached the treasury in the form of renewed proposals for a national lottery, but the treasury is not interested.

"I guess we've had a hundred ideas presented in all, and some of them are pretty ingenious," a treasury source said today, "but we don't subscribe to the idea of getting something for nothing."

More than $1,000,000,000 has been wagered on horse racing this year, and persons advocating a lottery point out that part of this loose war time money might be drained off by the treasury.

Claim It Would Pay Debt.

Secretary Morgenthau has been urged to appeal to congress to pass legislation legalizing a nation-wide lottery.

One proposal asserts that "our national debt can be wiped out entirely in a few years with a lottery."

But the treasury has these principal objections:

1. That the war finance program is conducted on a highly ethical basis with its roots in church, educational, and family circles, built on thrift appeal.

2. Serious legal problems would arise because 26 states prohibit lotteries.

Might Hurt Bond Sales.

3. Financial value of such a lottery is doubtful because much of the money wagered on games of chance is repeat money and nothing like a billion dollars could be realized.

4. The grief attached to such an undertaking would be tremendous, since some present bondholders might think the lottery plan more attractive, cash in their bonds and play the lottery.

NAVY LIFTS V-12 BAN AT PURDUE; ELIGIBLE JAN. 7

Lafayette, Ind., Dec. 28 [Special].—For the first time in more than two weeks, V-12 candidates for Purdue's basketball squad reported for drill this afternoon, but the Boilermakers will remain on an all-civilian basis until the week of Jan. 7 as far as actual competition is concerned.

The 16 day restriction on the activities of navy trainees, imposed as a limited quarantine was lifted at noon today, but service candidates will not be permitted to take part in collegiate competition until the close of a conditioning period on Jan. 7.

Due to the navy restriction, the start of the schedules in other winter sports will be delayed until the week beginning Jan. 3.

WYOMING FIVE BEATEN, 46 TO 40, BY LONG ISLAND

New York, Dec. 28 (AP)—Long Island university's Blackbirds whipped Wyoming, 46 to 40, to give visiting teams an even break in the basketball double header played before 17,853 in Madison Square garden tonight.

After Hamline had beaten City college, 47 to 42, in the opener, Long Island built up a 22 to 8 lead in the first ten minutes of its game with the Rocky Mountain quintet.

72,000 to See Alabama Play Duke Monday

BY WILFRID SMITH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New Orleans, La., Dec. 28.—Only 1,000 seats for the 11th annual Sugar bowl game remain to be sold. This information was released today by A. B. Nicholas, president of the Mid-Winter Sports association to end the flood of telephone and telegraph inquiries.

More than 72,000 will watch Alabama and Duke meet in the second oldest New Year's day football battle. While several thousands of these spectators will be guests of New Orleans—donations solicited by the Junior Chamber of Commerce provided the tickets—there is no doubt now that the Sugar bowl has become a national tradition as it enters the second decade of its existence.

They Pass the Honor Around.

Neither Alabama nor Duke has a football tradition in New Orleans, which has been attuned to Louisiana State, Tulane, Texas Christian, and in the last few seasons to Tulsa, Georgia Tech, and Tennessee. But the Crimson Tide from Tuscaloosa and the Blue Devils from Durham, N. C., will draw a throng which will match maximum receipts.

Tulsa and Georgia Tech, which last year played a terrific game in which five touchdowns were scored, gladly would have accepted a return engagement, but the Sugar bowl authorities believed that other universities should be given an opportunity to play before the second largest crowd in any annual New Year's day game.

Alabama Fears Nobody.

Alabama and its astute coach, Frank Thomas, which whipped the best Pacific Coast elevens in the Rose bowl, was willing to match its squad against Duke. And, while the Durham boys have not had a superlative record, they did hold Navy to seven points.

Alabama may have taken this game a bit more seriously, inasmuch as Thomas brought his youngsters to Baton Rouge yesterday and will hold practice there until Sunday. Duke is under command of Eddie Cameron, who is substituting for Lt. Col. Wallace Wade, and while Cameron only is concerned with this post-graduate competition, he must think of his superior whose last appearance was on the occasion of Oregon State's victory in the 1942 Rose bowl game played in Durham. The Blue Devils lost in the fourth period.

Glimer Is Passing Star.

Duke will not arrive until just before the test in the Tulane bowl. There is no lack of confidence, altho the Blue Devils' record is not quite up to that of Alabama.

Harry Glimer, a native Alabaman, is the principal reason for Thomas' high hopes. Glimer, who was born in Birmingham, will have several bowl game records for his target. Thomas says he is the finest passer he ever coached, but this may be discounted by laymen in view of the excellent work by Dixie Howell and Joe Kilgrow. Howell, you will recall, had Don Hutson for a receiver. Hutson has become the finest pass receiver in all football collegiate or professional.

Buckeyes Win from Spartan Five, 67 to 31

East Lansing, Mich., Dec. 28 [Special].—Ohio State completed its preconference basketball competition tonight by swamping Michigan State, 67 to 31. It was one of the worst defeats the Spartans have ever suffered.

On the basis of tonight's game, Michigan and the other Western conference teams will find Ohio State a tough foe. The Buckeyes moved on to Ann Arbor where they will open the Big Nine season Saturday night against Michigan.

Ohio State, led by Don Grate and Jack Dugger, rolled up a 10 to 2 lead to open the game. The Buckeyes increased their margin at halftime to 33 to 8. The Buckeye defense held the Spartans to three field goals in the first half and four in the second.

Their Letters to Us.

Write the service men letters, we're told,
Never let up on this chore,
Write them a line whenever there's time,
Then next day write them some more.

To keep their morale at the peak—
But those letters they write in return for ours—
It's of them I would humbly speak.

Have you noticed there's never a word of complaint
About what they are going thru,
No critical phrase on the trying days
They're enduring for me and for you?

Cheery in spite of discomforts
O'er which you and I would squawk,
Gleaning a certain rich something
From the long hard trails they walk.

Making the best of everything,
And always a grateful ring,
A friendly word, an expression of thanks
For each simplest little thing?

What the letters I write them do for the boys,
I, of course, cannot see—
But when it comes to building morale,
I know what THEIRS do for ME!

BY FRANK MASTRO.

Eight teams will play in today's quarter-final games in the University of Chicago's inter-scholastic basketball tournament in the Midway fieldhouse. They qualified for the chance in second round play yesterday afternoon and last night and will meet for the right to enter tomorrow's semi-finals.

In yesterday's afternoon games, Lane routed Tuley, 43 to 20; Gage Park, a pre-tourney choice to win the title, won its 11th victory of the season from Phillips, 26 to 20; Waller beat Austin, 55 to 38; Sullivan came from behind in the fourth quarter to defeat Marshall, 35 to 30, and Senn overwhelmed Crane, 53 to 43.

South Shore, Harper, and Wells completed today's quarter-final bracket by victories last night. South Shore, defending City league champions, routed Roosevelt, 42 to 28; Harper whipped Kelvyn Park, 41 to 27, and Wells closed the evening's session with a 49 to 34 victory over Amundsen.

Amundsen Off Form.

Amundsen, appearing far below the form displayed while defeating Hyde Park in Wednesday's second round play, was behind 6 to 5 at the first quarter and trailed, 16 to 10, at the half. Amundsen came thru with 16 points in the third period but was outscored by Wells, which made 19 to give the latter a 35 to 26 lead at the intermission. Amundsen was unable to make any progress in the fourth quarter, Wells making two or three points for every one produced by the Vikings.

Forward Tom Hoffman was high for Wells with 14 points thru four field goals and six free throws. He was tied by Walter Osterkorn, who also sank four baskets and six one point shots for Amundsen.

Harper Stays in Front.

Harper, runner up to South Shore for the city league championship last winter, built up a 15 to 4 lead in the first quarter. Center Ed Kassner of Kelvyn Park scored the first point in the second period on a free throw. Capt. Fred Lepore and Al Miksis then sank successive baskets to make the count 21 to 5. After Kelvyn Park's Marlen Slawin counted with two free throws, Lepore bagged two shots from the field, the last of which gave him 14 points with the encounter only half finished. Score at the intermission was Harper, 23; Kelvyn Park, 14.

Harper maintained its advantage in the third quarter, the score at this point being 32 to 16. Kelvyn Park started a rally in the fourth quarter, which appeared to be making headway until Ken Thelen, Harper's substitute center, cut it short with a basket which put his team ahead, 37 to 25. Forward Nick Peregud of the Panthers then sank a shot from the field, but this was nullified on baskets by Lepore and Thelen.

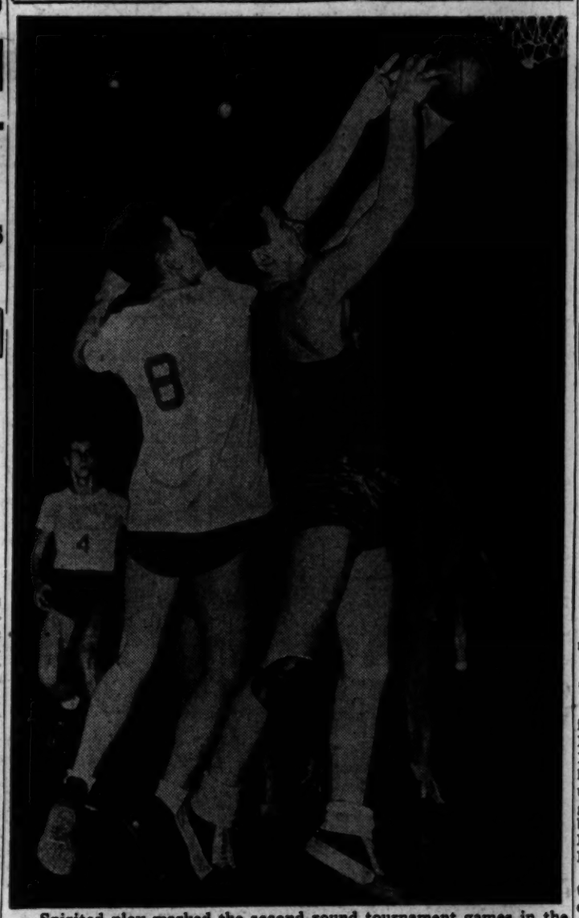

Tars Lead from Start.

Guard Nathan Schwartz finished the first quarter scoring with a free throw to give South Shore's Tars an 8 to 4 margin. The south siders started to make a rout of the game in the second period on successive field goals by Bob Hunneryager, John Fendley, Bill Toomey, and Schwartz. Allen Marke then sank a close basket, followed by two shots from the field by Herb Sweetow which kept the encounter from becoming a runaway. The score at this stage was 20 to 11. Forward Harold Dieno of Roosevelt then connected with a free throw after which Toomey got another basket to make the score 22 to 12 in favor of the Tars at half time.

South Shore increased its edge to 31 to 16 at the third quarter. Toomey went out on four personals in the fourth quarter, but his ejection failed to benefit Roosevelt since Marks was lost an instant later for the same reason. Star of the game was Fendley, 15 year old sophomore. John, regular forward who plays

Fenwick, Weber, Leo, and St. Philip Fives Advance

Fenwick, Weber, Leo, and St. Philip are the four teams still in the running for the sixth annual Fenwick High school pre-season junior cage championship as a result of their victories last night before an overflow crowd in Fenwick gymnasium.

Fenwick won by a 24 to 23 score over De La Salle; Weber scored an easy 41 to 28 victory over St. Ignatius; Leo turned back Mount Carmel, fourth place winner last year, 26 to 21, and St. Philip, defending title holder, was on the long end of a 35 to 34 score over De Paul academy.

St. Philip led, 12 to 10, at the finish of the first quarter. The Gaels maintained a two point advantage when half time came around, being out in front, 18 to 16, and the margin was cut to one point when the third period was concluded, the score reading 27 to 26.

St. Philip Takes Lead.

Then the climax to a thrilling evening of quarter-final games came in the last period of play. Sam Jantelezio made good a step-in shot to move De Paul ahead, 28 to 27. A basket by Hugh Califf and a free throw by Dick Fiando shoved St. Philip to the front, 30 to 28.

Bob Caprille counted from the side of the basket to knot the count at 30-all, only to have Califf come back with a basket and St. Philip regained the lead, 32 to 30. Art Hildebrand faked a pass and made a step-in shot to again tie the score at 32-all.

Hugh Califf came to the rescue of St. Philip with a field goal and free throw to again enable the Gaels to lead, 35 to 32.

Bitter Rivals Meet.

The Lions and Mount Carmel, bitter south section rivals lived up to their past by waging a close battle during the first half of the tussle, with Leo out in front by a 7 to 5 score when the first quarter ended, and Carmel moving ahead, 13 to 11, at the half.

During the second half there was never more than a two or three point difference, with Mount Carmel taking the lead only once by a 15 to 14 score. When the third quarter finished Leo led, 19 to 16. The Lions controlled the ball during most of the fourth quarter, and never relinquished the lead.

Weber's triumph over St. Ignatius made it eight in a row this year, including two tournament games, and stretched the Red Horde's winning streak to 24 consecutive games. Coach Frank McGrath is depending upon three players who were in the title game last year to bring the championship home this year. They are Milt Mayer, Walter Poko], and Richie Zaleski. Another player who has added polish to the team is Joe Zrenda, who scored six field goals to pace the attack against St. Ignatius.

Fenwick pulled the surprise of the meet by upsetting an evenly balanced De La Salle club, 24 to 23, in the quarter-final opener. The game started out to be a dull affair, and it appeared as tho it would wind up the same way, but both quintets turned the tables. The fourth quarter was a story book finish.

Boston, Mass., Dec. 28 (AP).—Goalie Paul Bibeault, on loan from the Montreal Canadiens to the Boston Bruins, held the Chicago Blackhawks scoreless for almost 55 minutes while his new teammates were gaining a 2 to 1 victory tonight before 12,000 in the Boston Garden. It was Bibeault's first National Hockey league start of the season.

For two periods, the Bruins and the lowly Hawks waged such a close-checking game that scoring chances were few and far between. Paul Gladu broke the 0 to 0 deadlock during the 48th minute of action when, after being set up by Rookie Center Gino Rozzini, a farm hand called up from the Boston Olympics of the Eastern Amateur circuit, he slashed a close-up shot into the Chicago cage.

Cupolo Clinches It.

About 4 minutes later Bill Cupolo clinched the game for the Bruins by speeding down the left sideboards, darting around the Chicago defense and blasting past Mike Karakas from close range.

Just when Bibeault, who collected five shutouts in 29 games for the Toronto Maple Leafs last season, appeared assured of another such performance, Cully Dahlstrom dashed his hopes by firing thru him from 30 feet out, after taking a pass from Fido Purpur.

No Deals Made Yet.

Both teams played airtight hockey most of the time, for both sets of players were impressed by the presence of President Bill Tobin, who accompanied his Hawks to Boston to swap one or more players with the Bruins.

Tobin was unable to come to any agreement with Manager Art Ross during their first meeting but they plan further discussions tomorrow.

The Blackhawks, who have lost four straight to the Bruins this season, left after tonight's game for Toronto, where they will challenge the Maple Leafs Saturday night. Then they will head for home to battle the Detroit Red Wings in the Chicago Stadium New Year's night.

CANADIENS KEEP LEAD

MONTREAL, Que., Dec. 28 (AP).—Five goals by Maurice Richard paced the Montreal Canadiens to a 9 to 1 victory over the Detroit Red Wings tonight and protected Montreal's hold on the National Hockey league lead.

Richard established a new National Hockey league individuals scoring record tonight with his five goals and three assists. He cracked the all-time mark held jointly by Carl Liscombe of Detroit and Max Bentley of Chicago. Each had picked up seven points.

The five goal feat tied another circuit standard set back in 1924 by Red Green of the Hamilton Tigers but since equalled by Cecil [Babe] Dye, of Toronto's St. Pat's, Harry Broadbent of the Montreal Maroons, Pit Lepine of the Canadiens, Charlie Conacher of Toronto, and on Feb. 6, 1943, by Ray Getliffe of the Canadiens.

PROFIT ON RACES BOOSTS C. E. FORD ESTATE $872,876

Phoenix, Ariz., Dec. 28 (AP).—Settlement of a dispute over profits from the Hawthorne race track in Chicago, has boosted the estate of Charles E. Ford, one of the founders of the track, from $9,000 since he died two years ago to a present total of $873,776.85, an increase of $862,776.85 it was disclosed in Superior court here today.

Judge Scoville said the difference between the original $9,000 appraisal and the final valuation of $873,776.85 resulted from the success of D. B. Morgan, attorney, in establishing the validity of a contract giving Ford a perpetual right to 22½ per cent of the profits of the track.

New York Giants May Use Martin Field for Training

Baltimore, Md., Dec. 28 (AP).—New York Giants officials are expected to consult Glenn L. Martin company officials this week concerning use of the Martin baseball field for spring training. It has been understood for some time the Giants would pick Baltimore as a training site, but decision on the playing field still is pending.

YESTERDAY'S RESULTS.
Rock Falls, 37; DeKalb, 29.
Rockford East, 40; Riverside, 38.
Joliet, 29; Sycamore, 24.

De Kalb, Ill., Dec. 28 [Special].—Jim Herold, Waterman High school center, tipped in a basket in the final moment of play to give Waterman a 39 to 37 victory over Morrison tonight in second round play in the De Kalb High school holiday basketball tournament.

The victory moved Waterman into tomorrow's semi-final round, along with Joliet, Rockford East, and Rock Falls, other winner's in today's quarter-finals.

Morrison Five Rallies.

Waterman unleashed a fast attack at the outset of the game and built up a 15 to 7 quarter time advantage which was boosted to a 22 to 8 lead midway in the second period, before Morrison started a rally. At the half, Waterman led, 22 to 15, but the Morrison spurt continued until the score had been tied, 37 to 37, in the final minute of play. It was here that Herold, who scored 14 points for high honors, tipped in the winning goal.

Earlier in the evening Joliet defeated Sycamore, 29 to 24, after leading all the way. Joliet employed a cover defense game that guarded the Sycamore offense all over the floor and resulted in 21 fouls being charged against Joliet. Two Joliet players were sent from the game on personal fouls. At half time Joliet led, 14 to 13.

Lindgren, Trugilio Star.

Rockford East and Rock Falls were victors on the afternoon program, as the Rockford team defeated Riverside, 40 to 38, and Rock Falls beat De Kalb High, 37 to 29.

Forwards Chuck Lindgren and Glen Trugilio sparked the Rockford attack, scoring 28 points between them against Riverside, while Jug Unger and Lyle Bogott tallied 13 and 12 points, respectively, to lead the Rock Falls offensive.

SPANGLED GAME SETS U.S. MILE, 70 YARDS MARK

Miami, Fla., Dec. 28 (AP).—Spangled Game, fast stepping 3 year old gelding from the Bermar and Metcalf stable, ran a mile and 70 yards in 1:40.4 at Tropical Park today to set a new American record for the distance.

Jockey Ted Atkinson piloted the Greentree stable bred gelding to a nose victory over Edgehill stable's He Rolls in the Orlando purse to topple the former mile and 70 mark of 1:40.6 held jointly by Mike Hall, Chaser, and Ball Player.

Spangled Game was sixth in the early running, moved up gradually, and was third nearing the home turn, when Atkinson sent him on his way to a new record. Fatigued Squadron won show spot in the event.

The gelding's speed exhibition, which paid backers $15.70, $6.20, and $3.90, was not a world record because the distance is not used except in Canada and this country.

Senn's Bulldogs, fast breaking north section City league team, in overwhelming the Crane Cougars, had leads of 14 to 7, 33 to 18, and 48 to 33. The game reached a point in the second half when Coach Harry [Cap] Leighton inserted two reserves, one of whom was Whitey Pearson, diminutive 14 year old freshman. Whitey, regular forward on the school's junior squad, wasn't a bit nervous as he made two free throws in the fourth quarter to establish the final count.

Two contests will be held this afternoon and two tonight. The first game will bring together Lane and Gage Park at 3 o'clock.

MT. VERNON MEET SEMI-FINALS ON SCHEDULE TODAY

Mt. Vernon, Ill., Dec. 28 [Special].—Semi-final games in the Mount Vernon holiday basketball tournament will be played tomorrow afternoon, with finals tomorrow night, after Herrin, Pinckneyville, Belleville and Mount Vernon High schools were victorious in today's quarter-final round.

Herrin and Pinckneyville, meeting in the first semi-final game, worked their way into the round of four this afternoon, with Herrin trouncing Collinsville, 65 to 42, and Pinckneyville beating Salem, 53 to 49.

Tonight, Belleville beat East St. Louis, 38 to 29, in a game that was closely contested until the final quarter, while Mount Vernon routed Granite City, 38 to 17, after holding a slim 12 to 10 half time advantage.

TRACK TO RUN 4 DAYS A WEEK AT MEXICO CITY

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 28 (AP).—Racing at the Hipodromo De Las Americas, Mexico's largest race track, will be increased from three days weekly to four, track officials announced today. The major races are scheduled after Jan. 1.

Heretofore, races had been held regularly on Thursdays, Saturdays, and Sundays, with extras on holidays, but an eight race card on Friday will be added.

This week-end's four day program includes Thursday, Saturday, Sunday, and New Year's day. On New Year's day the $4,124 added Ciudad De Mexico handicap will be run, with G. Z. Carranza's Seeing Eye assigned top weight of 127 pounds among a field of 24 nominations.

BING CROSBY'S GOLF TOURNEY IS CANCELED

Los Angeles, Cal., Dec. 28 (AP).—The Bing Crosby golf tourney has been canceled again this year. Fred Corcoran, secretary of the professional golfers association, announced today.

Unavailability of courses both here and at San Diego, plus nearness of the Los Angeles open, Jan. 5 to 8, caused cancellation of the tourney, which Corcoran said Crosby had hoped to stage this week-end.

Bing's tournament at Rancho Santa Fe, near San Diego, was an annual highlight of the winter golf season from 1937 to 1942. It was canceled last year because of transportation difficulties.

GUARDS PERFORM BRILLIANTLY IN EAST WORKOUT

The easterners, training at Santa Clara, ran thru dummy scrimmage and polished defensive plays while the coaching staff singled out several linemen for exceptional practice performances.

Mead Gets Attention.

These included two guards, Ralph Serpico of Illinois and Bill Hackett of Ohio State. Hackett's speed in leading interference attracted attention. Jack Mead, 6 foot 3 inch end from Wisconsin, looked good on pass receiving.

While All-America Les Horvath of Ohio State is concededly the main show in the back field, Jim Walthall of West Virginia claimed considerable attention the last two days. Observers were impressed with his all around ability, particularly pass throwing. Walthall is being used as an alternate at left half.

Pick Signal Callers.

Bob Kennedy, 4th air force, and Bob Waterfield, U. C. L. A. quarter back, have been assigned signal calling duties, for the West, working in separate back fields.

DRILL AGAINST PASSES

Miami, Fla., Dec. 28 (AP).—Coach Henry Frnka of Tulsa U. said today he had designed a new pass defense in an effort to halt Georgia Tech's combination of Frank Broyles and George Matthews in the Orange bowl on New Year's day.

In scrimmage Frnka had Perry Moss and Barney White, also a passing and receiving combination, serve as actors while setting up a design to halt Tech's attack.

Meanwhile, the booting of Moss, Leo Walker, Bobby Jack Stuart, and Dean George gave notice that Tulsa will have kickers ready if it has to get out of a hole deep in its own territory.

TROJAN TEAM YOUNG

Pasadena, Cal., Dec. 28 (AP).—Altho seven freshmen will be in Tennessee's starting lineup for the Rose bowl game on New Year's day, the Vols actually will place an older team on the field than their opponents, Southern California's Trojans.

The Volunteer varsity averages 21 years, while U. S. C.'s team averages only 19½.

Only three of the Vol starters played intercollegiate football before this season. The Trojans, on the other hand, will have no freshmen in their starting lineup.

CROWN 16 YEAR CO-ED QUEEN OF 1945 ROSE BOWL

Pasadena, Cal., Dec. 28 (AP).—Mary Rutte, 16 year old Pasadena Junior college co-ed, tonight was crowned queen of the 1945 Tournament of Roses before 3,000 spectators, including Gov. Prentice Cooper of Tennessee and Dr. James D. Hoskins, president of the University of Tennessee, honor guests.

Miss Rutte, daughter of army Col. and Mrs. Louis B. Rutte, received the jeweled tiara from Max Turner, president of the Tournament of Roses association, while a court of six princesses—runners-up in the competition for queen—looked on. A coronation ball followed.

As queen, she will preside over the Rose bowl game between Tennessee and Southern California, and attendant ceremonies.

N.U. FIVE RISKS RECORD AGAINST BLUEJACKETS

Northwestern university's high scoring basketball team, which has averaged 61 points in three games, faces its hardest test of the season tomorrow night when it meets Great Lakes in the Evanston High school gymnasium in the first of a two game series.

The Wildcats come up to their final pre-conference game with a record of three straight victories over DePauw, Marquette, and Western Michigan. Against the latter team, the Purple turned in its best offensive performance of the year by rolling up a total of 68 points.

In Great Lakes, however, the Wildcats will encounter a tougher foe than any of their three previous opponents. The Bluejackets, winners of seven of nine games, have a decided edge in height, speed, and experience. Luke Majorki, forward from Fort Wayne, Ind., is the lone sailor without previous college experience.

MICHIGAN, OHIO MEET

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Most of the chips are on Iowa's Hawkeyes in the approaching Big Nine basketball race, but tomorrow night's preview between Ohio State and Michigan in Ann Arbor may produce a new threat—Bennie Oosterbaan's unheralded Wolverines.

The Champion Buckeyes are favorites to open their title defense successfully in the Ann Arbor clash which precedes the real conference getaway by a week. However, an eighth straight victory by Oosterbaan's unbeaten team may make the Wolverines a formidable contender.

Rifenburg Is Star.

For one thing, Freshman Dick Rifenburg, one of Michigan's best prep performers since Oosterbaan, himself was a Muskegon school boy, has regained eligibility, and eventually may become a key performer.

Meanwhile, Oosterbaan has several good players in Keith Harder, navy transfer from the University of Virginia; Walt Kell, 145 pound scoring star; veteran Don Lund, Bill Gregor, a scrappy marine trainee, and Bob Geahan, another navy trainee.

They'll have their hands full, tho, with Harold Olsen's Buckeyes, who line up virtually the same as when they won the 1944 campaign with a 10-2 record. The Buckeyes average 6 feet 4 inches in height and are paced by a pair of brilliant veterans, Don Grate and 6 foot 9 inch Arnold Risen.

Five nonleague games, in addition to Northwestern's clash with Great Lakes, are scheduled for conference teams tomorrow night. Among them is Purdue's invasion of Notre Dame in the opener of a two game holiday series. The Irish and Boilermakers meet again Jan. 2 in Lafayette.

Two Games in Milwaukee.

Iowa is expected to fatten its impressive scoring record against Michigan State in Iowa City, while Nebraska plays at Indiana and a double header in Milwaukee auditorium sends Minnesota and Wisconsin against Marquette and Missouri, respectively. On New Year's night Great Lakes meets Ohio State in Cleveland and De Paul invades Illinois.

Michigan will be host to Indiana Friday night, Jan. 5, and the conference race really gets under way the following evening with Minnesota at Iowa, Northwestern at Wisconsin, Michigan at Illinois, and Ohio State at Purdue.

SCHALK, FARRELL, BOUDREAU VISIT DISABLED VETS

Schalk, now a scout for the Cubs, and Boudreau autographed baseballs for the wounded veterans after entertaining them with anecdotes. Farrell discussed the world tour of the Giants and White Sox in 1914.

Boudreau told the boys that when the Indians are in town for games with the White Sox next season he will arrange for some of them to be his guests at Comiskey Park.

MOUNT CARMEL BASKET MEET TO CLOSE TONIGHT

St. Bernard will meet St. Raphael and St. Columbanus will play Visitation in the semi-finals of the Mount Carmel grammar school basketball tournament in the Mount Carmel gym this afternoon.

In the quarter-finals yesterday St. Barnard beat St. Gertrude, 28 to 20; St. Raphael defeated St. Thomas Apostle, 16 to 15; St. Columbanus eliminated Holy Cross, 17 to 10, and Visitation upset St. Theodore, 32 to 9.

The finals will be played tonight, starting at 8:30 o'clock.

HOLY TRINITY'S GRAMMAR MEET TO CLOSE TODAY

St. Mary Addolorata defeated St. Alphonsus, 21 to 17, in the second round of play in the Holy Trinity Grammar school basketball tournament in Holy Trinity High school yesterday.

In other second round games, St. Bernard eliminated St. Aloysius, 31 to 26; Holy Trinity beat St. Ignatius, 34 to 11, and St. Mary of Perpetual Help won from St. William by forfeit, 2 to 0.

The semi-finals will be played this morning and the finals tonight.

Texon Boy Wins Feature Race at Mexico City Track

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 28 (AP).—Mrs. J. L. Sullivan's Texon Boy won today's six furlong feature at Hipodromo de las Americas with Jockey A. Gomez up. The winner paid 13 pesos for a 5 peso minimum bet; My Grey Tet was second, and Menagerie third.

CAPTAIN, AMONG 1ST ON NAZI SOIL, SLAIN IN ACTION

Ex-Chicago Reporter Also Killed Overseas.

CAPT. VICTOR H. BRIGGS JR., 23, a former Chicagoan and one of the first Americans to cross into Germany in the Aachen sector, was killed in action in Germany Nov. 17, his friends were notified yesterday. Capt. Briggs was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Briggs, New york. For many years the elder Briggs was superintendent of the W. F. Hall Printing company, 4600 Diversey av., and the family resided on the north side. After the invasion of France Capt. Briggs was decorated for bravery by Gen. Eisenhower with the distinguished service cross.

LT. THOMAS CHAVIS, 28, a bomber navigator, was killed in action over Germany on Oct. 12, his widow, Mrs. Irma Lee Chavis, 517 Madison st., Glencoe, learned thru the International Red Cross. He also leaves a daughter, Melody Kay, 15 months, and his mother, Mrs. Catherine Chavis, 5741 Kenmore av. Chavis was a reporter for the Chicago Herald-American when he entered the army three years ago. He wrote to his wife on Oct. 11 that he expected to take part in his fourth mission the following day. He went overseas last July.

PVT. WALTER P. POLEP, 2022 N. Kedzie blvd., an infantryman who was wounded in action in Europe, has been awarded the Purple Heart, and his wife yesterday received the medal and its ribbon and a letter from Sen. Brooks [R., Ill.] consoling her on Pvt. Polep's injury. Pvt. Polep's father, Stephen, and a brother, Stephen Jr., are employed in THE TRIBUNE'S receiving department.

Pvt. Walter Polep.

PVT. BENJAMIN H. GOODMAN JR., 19, an infantry man, was killed in action Nov. 21 in Germany, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin H. Goodman of Glencoe and 210 E. Pearson st., Chicago, were advised. Pvt. Goodman entered the army in June, 1943, after graduation from the Western Military academy and went overseas in September. Surviving also is a sister, Mrs. Jerome J. Gordon.

LT. GERALD F. FLANNIGAN, 20, who won the Chicago Tribune medal for military proficiency when he was graduated from Marmion Military academy, Aurora, in 1942, was killed Dec. 12 in the fighting in Germany, his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Flannigan, 526 S. West st., Wheaton, have been notified. His father is assistant superintendent of transportation for the Chicago, Aurora, and Elgin railroad. Another son, Lt. Robert, is serving with the army in the Southwest Pacific.

PVT. ALEXANDER WOLAK, 28, was killed in action Dec. 2 in Germany, his mother, Mrs. Mary Wolak, 830 Deerfield rd., Highland Park, was notified. Pvt. Wolak, a graduate of Highland Park High school, had been in service since 1943 and had been overseas since last August. He was employed at Wilson's sporting goods store.

LT. HOMER SMITH JR., 21, a Thunderbolt fighter pilot, has been missing in action over France since Nov. 9, his parents, of 6905 Yale av., were notified. Lt. Smith and his family formerly lived in Highland Park. He was a graduate of Parker High school and entered the air force in 1942.

G. I. EAGER BOY, 15, PROVES HE'S NOT AN EVADER

It took Milton Ruchin, 15, of 3728 Douglas blvd., some time last night to convince Detectives Edward Tighe and John McCarthy that he is no draft evader, despite his age.

Ruchin, a sophomore at John Marshall High school, was seized at a draft board at 4752 Washington blvd., where he inquired whether the number of Robert W. Collins, 4118 Chicago av., had been called.

After he professed to be Collins, Ruchin was arrested because he had failed to answer repeated summonses. Then Ruchin explained he had procured four false birth certificates and registered at four different boards in the hope he would be drafted.

As his father, Max, took him home, the boy said: "If I had got the summons I'd have got to France by this time."

FIGHTER PILOT ON LEAVE DIES IN AUTO CRASH

Lt. John T. Thomas, 20, of Elgin, home for Christmas after several months of combat over Europe as a fighter plane pilot, was killed yesterday when his automobile collided head-on with another car on Highway 12 near Baraboo, Wis.

A. H. Stickelberg, 25, of Reedsburg, Wis., driver of the other car, was killed, and six persons were injured in the crash.

Lt. Thomas, son of Mrs. Gladys Thomas, 621 St. Charles st., Elgin, and a graduate of Elgin High school, was cited in war dispatches in September for machine gunning German barracks and shooting down an enemy plane.

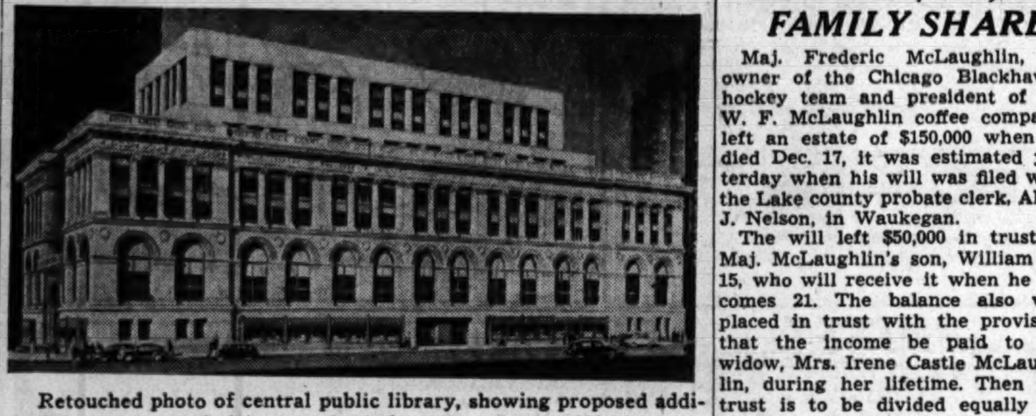

Burns Fatal to Father Who Saved Life of Son

Preston Byford, 27, died yesterday in Silver Cross hospital, Joliet, of burns suffered Wednesday when he rescued his son, Ronald, 3, from their blazing farm home near Monee, Will county. Neither the boy nor Byford's wife, Dorothy, suffered any injury.

THE GUMPS

Proposed Library Expansion

Carl B. Roden, librarian of the Chicago public library, yesterday announced a $3,347,750 post-war library building program which would enlarge the central building at Michigan av. and Randolph st., and add two new branch libraries in areas not now served and 15 new branch buildings to replace present branches.

The building is proposed to be done with federal or state aid, or private donations, or all three, Roden said. He described the main library as obsolete in some respects and "in all respects too small."

The plan proposes adding space by building in a court on the west side of the present structure and extending this addition several stories above the present roof. An entrance on Michigan av. and show windows similar to store windows are suggested and the interior would be rearranged to provide a fine arts division, to enlarge the music room, to establish technology, humanities, and sociology divisions and to add facilities for the comfort and training of the staff.

OBITUARIES

Mrs. Amanda Alden Morgan.

Mrs. Amanda Alden Morgan, 90, a direct descendant of John Alden, died yesterday in her home at 1362 Astor st. She had been injured in a fall three weeks ago. Mrs. Morgan was the widow of Kendrick E. Morgan and had resided in Chicago for more than 60 years. Active in society and club work, she was a member of the Antiquarians and Mayflower society. She is survived by a son, Alden K., and a daughter, Mrs. William George Lee; eight grandchildren and four great-grandchildren. Services will be held tomorrow at Oneonta, N. Y., Mrs. Morgan's birthplace.

CROWD RIOTS AT LUPE VELEZ RITES IN MEXICO

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 28 (AP).—Lupe Velez, film actress, was buried in her native Mexico City amid disorders and stampedes reminiscent of those at the Rudolph Valentino funeral in New York nearly two decades ago. At the Panteon de Dolores [Graveyard of Sorrows] Lupe's sister, Reyna, an actress in Mexico, fainted and fell into the crushing crowd after the casket was lowered into the grave. Several persons stepped upon her before she could be rescued.

Police were unable to control the crowds at the cemetery. In a mad race for vantage places, monuments were knocked over, and many persons were slightly injured. Hundreds scrambled atop a crypt near the grave to view the ceremony. Others not so fortunate were kicked, stepped upon and crushed.

CRIERS IN AUTOS BID CITY BUY MORE E BONDS

Office of civilian defense workers toured the city yesterday in police cars equipped with loud speakers urging a last minute purchase of war bonds. Only those bonds processed before the close of business tomorrow will count in the sixth war loan drive, said Francis M. Knight, Chicago and Cook county drive chairman.

Local sale of E bonds stood at $88,000,000 or 82.5 per cent of the quota yesterday, Knight said. Individual buying of bonds, including the E series, hit 93.6 per cent of the objective, he added.

E bond sales thruout the state were only 84.3 per cent of the goal, it was reported by Renslow P. Sherer, Illinois war finance committee chairman. Over-all sales in the state were $1,432,700,000 or 138.5 per cent of the quota.

6 EDINBURG, IND., RESIDENTS DIE IN CROSSING CRASH

EDINBURG, Ind., Dec. 28 (AP).—Six Edinburg residents were killed today when a freight train struck their automobile. The victims were: Howard Hill, 47, president of the Hill Bros. Veneer company; his wife, Corinna, 45; the Hills' two daughters, Florence Ellen, 17, and Virginia, 14; Annetta Hardin, 16, and Melba Jean Talbert, 19.

The automobile was carried a quarter of a mile on the locomotive pilot. Three of the bodies were found on the front of the locomotive. Hill's body was found 200 feet from the scene of the crash. Florence Hill's body was recovered from Big Blue river.

TUOHY'S OFFICE TO REPRESENT YANKS' ESTATES

Probate Judge John F. O'Connell yesterday entered an order authorizing State's Atty. Tuohy to represent the estates of Cook county soldiers and sailors who have died in action in this war. Judge O'Connell said that his order will effect a quick settlement of estates because the major asset of many of them is the back pay and the federal government requires that an administrator be approved by the court before back pay may be paid to the estate. Asst. State's Atty. David Murphy was placed in charge of the estate cases and all legal services will be free of cost.

[ADVERTISMENT]

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN

Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

MAJ. M'LAUGHLIN ESTATE $150,000; FAMILY SHARES

Maj. Frederic McLaughlin, 67, owner of the Chicago Blackhawks hockey team and president of the W. F. McLaughlin coffee company, left an estate of $150,000 when he died Dec. 17, it was estimated yesterday when his will was filed with the Lake county probate clerk, Allen J. Nelson, in Waukegan.

The will left $50,000 in trust to Maj. McLaughlin's son, William F., 15, who will receive it when he becomes 21. The balance also was placed in trust with the provision that the income be paid to his widow, Mrs. Irene Castle McLaughlin, during her lifetime. Then the trust is to be divided equally between his son and his daughter, Mrs. Barbara Irene Kreutz. The will noted that Mrs. Kreutz was the beneficiary of "certain bequests" in which the son did not share.

Maj. McLaughlin, who lived at 1194 N. Green Bay rd., Lake Forest, named his nephews, Herbert P. and George F. McLaughlin, and William J. Tobin, president of the Blackhawks, as executors and trustees of his estate.

THREE SHOCKS AND HUSBAND IS OUT—$35 A WEEK

Mrs. Mary Darlington, 42, of 6630 Peoria st., told Judge Michael Feinberg in Circuit court yesterday that three shocks in recent weeks have shaken her faith in her husband, John, 42, a tool salesman, of 515 W. 63d st.

1. She heard him talking in his sleep about Tillie.

2. She received a letter, signed Jane Doe, which said: "I've been pretty patient for three years waiting for you to get a divorce from John. How's about it?"

3. She found a stub in her husband's pocket from a sidewalk photograph company, and after she mailed it to the company with 25 cents she received a picture of her husband and a woman strolling together.

Mrs. Darlington, represented by Attorneys Joseph H. and Norman Becker, sued for separate maintenance, charging Darlington with associating with Jane Doe. They were married in 1926 and have a daughter, Lillian, 17. Mrs. Dralington was awarded temporary support of $35 a week and income from a six flat building.

IROQUOIS FIRE MEMORIAL TO BE HELD TOMORROW

Memorial services for the 575 victims of the Iroquois theater fire on Dec. 30, 1903, will be held at 3 p. m. tomorrow in the city council chamber.

Fire Commissioner Corrigan, who turned in the first alarm on the fire, will sound the same alarm box at 3:32 p. m. John Traeger Sr., who was coroner in 1903, will be one of the speakers. Mrs. E. J. Buchan, who, as Annabelle Whitford, was the star of the play "Mr. Bluebeard," which was being presented at the time, will be one of the members of the original stage company who will attend the ceremony.

The Rev. Marcel Le Voy, chaplain of the Showfolks of America, and the Rev. Preston Bradley, pastor of the Peoples church, will be among the clergymen participating. The program will be sponsored by the Chicago Junior Association of Commerce.

6 IN 2 FAMILIES ROUTED AS ASHES SET HOME AFIRE

Two families were seeking lodging yesterday after an early morning fire at 7016 Dorchester av. forced them to flee with a minimum of clothing and money. Donald Mitchell, 29, a truck driver, and his wife, Elsie, 26, escaped from the first floor of the two story frame dwelling with their two children, Gerald, 4, and Fred, 1. Thomas Walsh, a watchman, and his wife, Mary, were routed from the second floor. The fire broke out on the first floor rear porch and was started by hot ashes dumped there, Deputy Fire Marshal Thomas Gaffney said.

TRAFFIC DEATHS RISE IN CHICAGO, ILLINOIS FOR 1944

The national safety council reported yesterday the nation's traffic toll for the first 11 months of the year was 20,760, compared with 27,690 for the same period in 1943. Illinois, the council stated, had 1,227 traffic deaths for the 11 month period, against 1,199 for the same period last year. Chicago had 368 traffic deaths for the 11 months, an increase of 46 over the same period in 1943.

PREDICT LARGE RUBBER OUTPUT GAINS IN 1945

Scarcity of Labor Is Main Problem.

Rubber production, aided by the vastly expanded synthetic rubber industry, will set a new record next year, high officials in the industry said yesterday. Four-fifths of the country's rubber supply this year was provided by the synthetic industry, with its production at an annual rate of 800,000 tons—faster than the United States ever before consumed rubber, they disclosed.

John W. Thomas.

The executives said rubber supplies no longer were a problem, and that the chief task was to produce heavy tires and other rubber products in 1943. The big problem next year will be man power, not raw material, they said.

1945 Task Biggest.

"The rubber industry, still expanding vigorously after three years of war, faces its largest task with the beginning of the new year," asserted John W. Thomas, chairman of Firestone Tire and Rubber company, in forecasting increased output in 1945.

"We will consume more rubber in 1945 than in any previous year," said Herbert E. Smith, president of United States Rubber company. "During the next 12 months the industry will use 816,000 tons of rubber, compared with a little more than 700,000 tons in 1944, and 33,000 tons more than in the previous record year of 1941. The course of the war will determine how the supply will be divided between civilian and military uses."

John L. Collyer, president of B. F. Goodrich company, said 565,000 tons of the 710,000 tons that will be consumed in 1944 will be synthetic. The all-time record for consumption of rubber was 781,000 tons, established in 1941. In the last quarter this year, the percentage of synthetic rubber used rose to 85.

Synthetic Use Gains.

Collyer recalled that in 1941 only 6,000 tons of synthetic rubber, or 0.8 per cent of the record total consumption, were produced. In 1942 rubber consumption was cut to 394,000 tons, of which 17,000 tons, or 4½ per cent, were synthetic. Last year, synthetic production accounted for 171,000 tons, or 35 per cent of the total 489,000 tons.

"This amazing record of production and ability to use a new raw material has been a life saver, as we are nearer today to the bottom of the natural rubber barrel than ever before, and military requirements continue to mount as our active war front widens and supply lines lengthen," he said.

"The rise of synthetic rubber has important implications for post-war industry. It still is impossible to forecast the 'balance of power' between synthetic and natural rubber when far eastern rubber again becomes available in volume, but experience in 1944 has confirmed the belief that after the war natural and synthetic rubbers will be in competition over a wide field.

Predicts 20 Cent Price.

"The last pre-war market price of natural rubber from the far east was 22 cents a pound. In certain plants main-type synthetic rubber has been made at a cost of 14 cents a pound. If we were to add 1 cent a pound for amortization of plant, another for storage and distribution charges, and provide for a profit, without which venture capital could not be attracted to the synthetic industry, the price would be in the neighborhood of 20 cents a pound.

"America's synthetic rubber performance has provided an effective ceiling over future raw rubber costs, which is important to the goal of more and better products, wider markets, and more jobs."

U.S. TAKES MORE THAN 40 PCT. OF INSPECTED MEAT

The government has increased its purchases and set asides of meat until it is getting more than four of every 10 pounds of meat produced under federal inspection, the American Meat institute said yesterday.

"It is estimated that production of meat of all descriptions under federal inspection during December, some of which is in cure or being prepared for market, was approximately 7 per cent less than the quantity produced in December, 1943, altho total December production was estimated to be 7 per cent larger than in November," the institute said.

"It will be obvious from these circumstances that there can be no immediate expansion of meat allocations for civilian consumers."

Fuel Oil Supplies Drop; Gasoline Stock Is Larger

New York, Dec. 28 (AP).—A further drop in stored stocks of fuel oils was reported today by the American Petroleum institute. Light fuel oils decreased 1,567,000 barrels to a total of 40,846,000 and heavy fuel oils were down 771,000 barrels to 58,509,000. Stocks of gasoline increased 618,000 barrels to 83,365,000.

Industrial Chemicals Declares Extra Dividend

United States Industrial Chemicals, Inc., yesterday declared an extra dividend of 25 cents with the regular quarterly disbursement of the same amount. The company has paid extras in recent quarters.

Seek Guayule Production by Private Effort

Washington, D. C., Dec. 28 (AP).—The house special rubber committee recommended today that the government get out of the guayule production business but continue experiments in growing and processing the latex bearing plant.

In a report filed with the speaker of the house, the committee advised that no existing guayule rubber plantings be destroyed as long as the war continues and sources of natural rubber in the Dutch East Indies are not available.

Shortly after Pearl Harbor, congress appropriated $45,083,000 to develop natural rubber supplies in the southwestern part of the United States. Under the program, the government acquired ownership of all guayule production. Plantings were carried on in Texas, New Mexico, Arizona, and California.

Urges Price Guarantee.

Headed by Rep. Poage [D., Tex.], the committee expressed a conviction that guayule might be produced profitably in this country. It suggested that in order to establish "a sound post-war industry in private hands," the government guaranteed for a period of 7 to 10 years a floor under the price of domestically produced guayule rubber.

"We believe this floor should be somewhere between 20 and 30 cents per pound of rubber content," the committee said.

"It should be offered for a definite acreage only, so as to prevent any undue drain on the treasury if the cost of production is reduced as low as we hope it may by quantity production."

The committee observed that in 1930 Gen. Eisenhower, then a major, investigated guayule production possibilities in connection with a war department study of vital materials and had suggested that 400,000 acres be devoted to its cultivation in the southwest.

Suggest 160 Acre Limit.

Agreeing that 400,000 acres might be advisable as a limit to subsidized production, the committee added:

"The acreage on which any one farmer could receive the guarantee should be limited to possibly 160 acres in order to spread the cultivaton of this crop into numerous hands. Larger operators may be able to produce without any guarantee."

The transfer of production and processing from government to private ownership should be done "just as soon as reasonable arrangements can be made with private interests" to buy the government holdings, the report added.

As to the results obtained from guayule rubber, the committee said the B. F. Goodrich company advised the war production board on Nov. 21, 1944, that "guayule is satisfactory as a 100 per cent replacement for other rubber in the outer carcass plies of heavy duty S-4 tires."

RYE RISES, CORN DIPS; BIG CASH BUSINESS DONE

Purchases of 700,000 bushels of corn for deferred shipment from the country, the second largest one day cash business in corn this year, and a resumption of buying of cash rye by distillers were reflected in irregular futures price movements yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade.

Hedging sales depressed corn futures, which closed ¼ to ½ cent a bushel lower. Rye, after breaking ¾ cent early, rallied strongly and closed ¼ to 1⅛ cents higher. May rye sold highest since July. Wheat closed ⅛ to ⅝ cent lower, oats off ⅝ to ¾ cent, and barley unchanged to ½ cent higher.

Bids of $1.12 a bushel for No. 2 yellow corn for 30 day shipment resulted in large purchases in the west and parts of the northwest.

STEERS STEADY DESPITE PRICE CEILING PLANS

Because effects of the prospect of a price ceiling on live cattle were offset earlier in the week, news that the office of price administration has a plan prepared for a ceiling of $17.50 a hundred pounds on top grades of steers had little influence on the steer market at the Chicago stock yards yesterday. Prices held steady and buyers paid the $17.25 top for the best steers. A nominal top quotation of $17.50 was carried in the absence of strictly prime long fed stock. Most sales were at $13.25 to $16.

Influenced by the acute mid-winter pork shortage hog buyers scrambled for the limited supply at ceiling prices. Lambs were steady.

WAR WORKERS ASKED TO REMAIN ON THEIR JOBS NEW YEAR'S DAY

Washington, D. C., Dec. 28 (AP).—Three high officials joined today in a plea to war workers to stay on the job New Year's day in order to "replace the equipment that is being used up and destroyed" on the battlefronts.

The statement, signed by Secretary of the Navy Forrestal, Undersecretary of War Patterson, and WPB Chairman Krug, follows in part:

"The holiday season finds our soldiers, sailors, marines, and flyers engaged in the fiercest fighting of the war. The heaviest strain in history faces the workers in American war factories.

"It will take days and weeks of effort to replace the equipment that is being used up and destroyed in a few hours of the present fighting. We must increase the vast quantities of ammunition, weapons, and equipment we have been sending overseas and we must do it at once. The more fire power we are able to throw at the Nazis and Japs the less will be the cost to us in blood and American lives."

WESTINGHOUSE TELLS OF WORK ON JET ENGINE

Helped to Pioneer All-U.S. Motor.

Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company pioneered in the development of the first jet propulsion engine designed in the United States independent of foreign plans, George H. Bucher, president, disclosed yesterday in a year-end statement which listed a number of other Westinghouse war developments.

George H. Bucher.

Bucher said that the jet propulsion engine is expected to produce more pounds of thrust for its weight than any foreign engine.

Much Research Required.

"An enormous amount of research has been covered in solving the problem of the jet propulsion engine," he said. "It included high temperature metallurgical research to assure a metal that will stand the terrific heat of 1,200 degrees Fahrenheit or more. A new metal know as K-42-B, developed by Westinghouse, has proved to be the foremost high temperature alloy of the forgeable type needed for this kind of war job."

Other developments listed included a gunsight lamp that enables a gunner to fire directly into the sun's rays, an altimeter which enables a pilot to ascertain his exact altitude above the nearest solid object, and nine shockproof instruments demanded as a result of British experience in defeating the Graf Spee, German pocket battleship, off South America. Bucher said the latter were perfected in 13 months, whereas it would have taken five to six years in peace.

Westinghouse production in 1944, which totaled more than a billion dollars of equipment, included hundreds of thousands of motors, instruments, and other electrical apparatus to keep "the country's war machine running at top speed," he said.

Make Devices for Carriers.

"All the turbines and gears for the nation's largest aircraft carriers and the special high speed elevators to raise and lower their fighting planes are made by Westinghouse," he said. "All the gun stabilizers on American tanks are a product of this company and special Westinghouse motors operate the bomb sights that find their pin point targets from 30,000 feet in the air."

Westinghouse is the largest producer of electrical instruments for the military services, Bucher said. Equipment, which was shipped to virtually every link in the chain of war suppliers, was produced in the three company operated naval ordnance plants as well as in the company's own manufacturing divisions, he said.

VOTE ON STOCK SPLIT

New York, Dec. 28 (AP).—Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company directors have voted to submit to shareholders the question of whether the present common stock should be split on a four for one share basis, A. W. Robertson, chairman, announced today. It will be considered at the company's annual meeting at East Pittsburgh, Pa., April 11.

Robertson explained the action had been under study for some time with a view to broadening the base of Westinghouse ownership by making stock available at a lower price. The stock rose $10 to close at $122 a share on the New York Stock exchange today.

The company also announced that stockholders would be asked to approve a four for one split in the preferred stock. Preferred and common have equal voting rights.

RULES STRIKERS IN TRANSIT CASE MUST BE TRIED

Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 28 (AP).—Federal District Judge William H. Kirkpatrick ruled today that 30 striking employes of the Philadelphia Transportation company must stand trial on charges of violating the Smith-Connolly act.

The men were accused in an indictment of urging continuance of the strike last August after the army took over the transportation system. The indictment was attacked by their attorneys on the ground that the act does not apply to the company and its employes because they are not engaged in manufacture of war material or transportation of the army and navy.

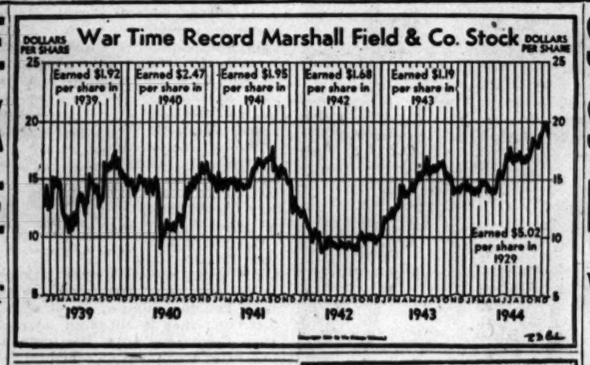

The judge in a seven page opinion ruled that congress intended the act to appy to "any" industry.

Republic Aviation Gets New Thunderbolt Order

New York, Dec. 28 (AP).—Republic Aviation corporation announced today it had received from the army air forces a new order for long range P-47 Thunderbolts, which increases the backlog for the two Republic plants to more than 600 million dollars.

Big Building Contracts Larger in Holiday Week

New York, Dec. 28 (AP).—Engineering construction awards in the week ended today totaled $23,150,000, compared with $20,225,000 in the preceding week and $28,180,000 in Christmas week of 1943, Engineering News-Record said today.

Vitamin Firms Reduce Costs, Lower Prices

A big rise in consumer demand for vitamins, coupled with government requirements for enrichment of certain processed foods, has caused substantial increases in production and reductions in production cost that have been passed on to the public, industry representatives said yesterday.

One source said the reduction has been 15 to 20 per cent in the last year and a half to prices 20 to 35 per cent below those of recent years. Another said the decrease had been gradual for two years, but that a more marked price cut was made last spring and was followed by another gradual decrease.

Reductions Long Planned.

"These reductions had been contemplated for some time and were not unexpected," a representative said. "They were not the result of a 'price war,' but were voluntary cuts brought about by reduced costs of manufacture.

"The cost of basic materials in the manufacture of vitamins is lower and because of the large production of synthetic vitamins thru vastly increased demand output costs have been cut and passed on to the consumer."

Another important factor in the decline of vitamin prices is the increased competition in the field, it was said. A representative said that a "number of people" had entered the industry and stimulated competition, thus aiding in the reduction of prices.

Sales Volume Mounts.

He said vitamin sales were larger this year than last, but that the increase was not as steep as was that of 1943 above 1942 volume. The increase in sales continues and is expected to keep mounting, he said. Much of the gain in sales volume was attributed to increased education of the public in the use of vitamins and to the larger amount of money in the hands of consumers.

Another spokesman said that many more brands are on the market, which had the effect of "diluting" sales volume of the individual producer. In order to regain some of the business lost producers have cut prices.

WILLYS PROFITS RISE; SALES SET NEW HIGH MARK

Willys-Overland Motors yesterday reported record sales and increased profits in its fiscal year ended Sept. 30. Deliveries of war products also reached an all-time high.

Recorded sales, including fees on cost plus fixed fee contracts, totaled $212,458,488, an increase of 27 per cent over the preceding fiscal year. Production on Sept. 30 was at an annual rate approximately 30 per cent above year earlier output. Net income in the period was $3,895,506, equal to $1.64 a share, compared with $3,010,900, or $1.32 a share, a year earlier. Pay roll figures also reached a new high of $38,782,193, an increase of 25 per cent.

Peak sales also were reported by Marathon corporation, Wisconsin producer of paper and paperboard containers and wrappings. Sales in its fiscal year ended Oct. 31 rose 17 per cent to $29,856,031. Profit rose to $1,603,016, or $7.50 a share, from $1,286,137, or $6.08 a share, a year earlier.

COMMERCIAL SOLVENTS.

Please inform me regarding Commercial Solvents corporation's diversification of products and trend of earnings.—F. O.

The company's line of products has been further diversified by addition in recent years. The tendency apparently is to lessen the company's dependence on its basic solvents business.

Among the company's newer products regarded as having special promise are nitroparaffines. These are used in manufacturing processes by many other industries. Other more recent products, derived mainly from Commercial Solvents' basic operations, are vitamin B2 used by the pharmaceutical and milling industries; vitamin supplements for animal feeds; penicillin, insulating materials, and an improved lacquer base.

War orders more than offset the loss of the company's solvents outlet for production of automobile lacquers. From 1936 thru 1938 the company's earnings had declined. A net loss was reported in 1938, but the trend was reversed in 1939. Earnings per share on the 2,636,878 shares were: 1943, $1.10 after a special reserve of 8 cents a share; 1942, $1.18 after renegotiation refund; 1941, 99 cents; 1940, 91 cents; 1939, 61 cents.

In the first nine months of 1944, the profit was 74 cents a share compared with 75 cents in the same period of 1943. Dividends this year totaled 75 cents a share against 60 cents in each of the two preceding years.

People and Events

Northwest Airlines, which recently received authorization to complete its coast to coast route by extending its line to Detroit and New York, has named Charles A. Boilod, associated with domestic and international aviation for more than 16 years, to the newly created position of regional traffic manager, with headquarters in New York City. The appointment, announced yesterday by Croil Hunter, president, follows the streamlining of the company's traffic department several months ago and is the first step in enlarging Northwest's traffic staff in New York.

A. C. Winger, president of Brown Fence and Wire company, announced appointment of R. W. Gerding, formerly with Montgomery Ward & Co., as manager of the real estate and store location department, and J. W. Judd, formerly with Sears Roebuck & Co., as manager of the store planning and display department.

Clarence E. Searle, former vice president, has been elected president of Worthington Pump and Machinery corporation to succeed Harry C. Beaver, who was elected vice chairman. Hobart C. Ramsey was named executive vice president.

Curtis W. Booth, assistant superintendent of the meter department of Commonwealth Edison company, will retire Jan. 1 after nearly 40 years with the company. Robert J. Bushnell, supervising engineer of metering, will succeed Booth.

Thomas L. Doyle, assistant to the general manager, and Walter K. Bell, resident inspector of the test department, will retire from active duty with the Pennsylvania railroad Jan. 1 after 41 and 56 years services, respectively.

The stock, bond, and commodity brokerage house of Hirsch, Lilienthal & Co. will be known as Hirsch & Co. after Jan. 1, Louis J. Stirling, Chicago resident manager, announced.

Paul H. Puffer was appointed vice president in charge of employe relations of the Norge division of Borg-Warner corporation, Howard E. Blood, president, said.

NORTH. PACIFIC ROAD TO GET 1,000 MORE BOX CARS

Directors of the Northern Pacific railway at a meeting in Chicago yesterday approved the purchase of 1,000 box cars, scheduled for delivery starting in the third quarter of 1945. C. E. Denney, president, said the company has on order for delivery in the first half of 1945 two 5,400 horse power diesel-electric freight locomotives, four 1,000 horse power diesel road switching locomotives, and eight 1,000 horse power diesel switchers.

Denney said the company spent 10 million dollars during 1944 for the purchase of its own refunding and improvement bonds and substantially the same amount was paid for new locomotives and cars put into service during the year. Operating revenues for 1944 will be higher than for 1943, but net income will approximate only $13,300,000, compared with $25,520,430 in 1943, largely as a result of increased costs for labor and material and taxes.

ALL-TIME PEAK SALES REPORTED BY STUDEBAKER

Sales of Studebaker corporation in 1944 reached an all-time high of 410 million dollars, 14 per cent more than in 1943, Paul G. Hoffman, president, said yesterday. The company built 22 per cent more Wright Cyclone engines, 20 per cent more heavy duty trucks, and 3½ times as many tracked carriers, known as weasels.

"The fact that dollar sales did not match manufacturing increases is the result of several factors, principally a cutback in spare parts production," Hoffman said. "Uncertainties of war preclude any estimate for 1945 as a whole, but we will enter the year with heavier schedules in two of our three chief government contracts."

TROOPS TO LOAD SHIPS AT DOCKS IN PHILADELPHIA

Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 28 (AP).—The army ordered specially trained troops into Philadelphia today to maintain ship sailing schedules, affected by recent stevedore shortages.

"Holidays or no holidays, the war continues and our ships must sail to get badly needed supplies to our men on the fighting front," said Col. Alex B. McNabb, port commander. He said the action was "taken as a last step" and that the soldiers will arrive tomorrow from New York.

100 Million of Land Bank Bonds to Be Offered Soon

Kansas City, Mo., Dec. 28 (AP).—The farm credit administration today announced the 12 federal land banks expect to offer more than 100 million dollars of new consolidated federal farm loan bonds early next month thru their fiscal agent in New York.

STOCK MARKET SWINGS HIGHER IN BROAD TRADE

Westinghouse Has 10 Point Gain.

New York, Dec. 28 (AP).—The stock market turned the tables on the bears today as steels and other pivotal industrials regained all their losses of the preceding session.

The trend turned up at the opening and the advance rarely faltered. Closing plus marks ran to a point or more for most leaders, with a few isolated favorites climbing as much as 10. Short covering and reinstatement of commitments were based mainly on the more optimistic war news in addition to individual situations. Some buying was attributed to the belief the recent slump had served as a healthful technical correction.

Average Gains Half Point.

The Associated Press 60 stock average rose 0.5 point at 57.5, against a drop of as much Wednesday. It was another broad market, 919 issues appearing. Of these 618 gained and 301 were lower or unchanged. Transfers of 1,232,266 shares compared with 1,582,845 yesterday.

At tops for the year or longer were Westinghouse Electric, up 10 points, and United Merchants and Manufacturers, ahead 5¼, both apparently reflecting stock split-up proposals; American Power and Light $5 and $6 preferreds, up 4⅛ and 4, respectively, and Pepsi-Cola, up 1⅝.

United States Steel, Bethlehem, and Youngstown Sheet tacked on more than a point each as the OPA was reported considering a boost for certain steel products. Montgomery Ward was off only ⅛.

BOND LIST ADVANCES.

New York, Dec. 28 (AP).—The bond market today recovered part of the losses of Wednesday as numerous rails and other corporates attracted buyers. Advances for carrier leaders ranged from major fractions to a point or so and altho pivotals in the investment group held fully steady, progress was less pronounced and there were many unchanged. Trading slackened on the comeback with sales at $7,701,000 compared with $10,581,800 yesterday.

Well up in front were Lehigh Valley 5s, Maine Central 4⅛s, Katy 5s, New Haven convertible 6s, Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron 5s and 6s, Rio Grande Western 4s, Frisco 4s, Abitibi Paper 5s, American and Foreign Power 5s, Central of Georgia 5s, and Milwaukee 4½s.

CHICAGO STOCKS GAIN.

Prices were higher yesterday on the Chicago Stock exchange. Turnover dipped to 29,000 shares. Among volume leaders registering fractional gains were Chicago corporation commen, Armour & Co., Commonwealth Edison, and New York Central. New 1944 highs were set by E. L. Bruce, up 1, and Belmont Radio, up ⅞.

COURT REVERSES BIG JUDGMENT AGAINST PENNSY

Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 28 (AP).—A record $22,104,515 judgment, awarded stockholders of the Pennroad company of Delaware against the Pennsylvania Railroad company, was set aside today by the third United States District court of appeals.

The Pennroad company was set up in 1929 as an investment corporation by stockholders of the Pennsylvania railroad to purchase railroad and other industries. The suits contended that some of the purchases were made primarily for the benefit of the Pennsylvania and not the Pennroad company.

Net Working Capital Rises, SEC Reports

Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 28 (AP).—The net working capital of 1,271 registered corporations increased 58 per cent between Jan. 1, 1939, and June 30, 1944, a securities and exchange commission analysis disclosed today.

The volume of net working capital rose from 11 billion 76 million dollars to 17 billion 449 millions.

[Recent surveys showed that because the working capital of many small companies engaged in war work is small in comparison with their current liabilities their position is precarious. On Dec. 31, 1943, a total of 125 small corporations surveyed possessed working capital that would cover only 17.2 per cent of current liabilities.]

Finance Activity Falls.

Of the 33 groups analyzed, only one—financial corporations—experienced a drop in net working capital. The decrease—from 657 millions to 560 millions—reflected a 15 per cent decline in activity of commercial credit and personal finance companies as a result of scarcities in consumers' durable goods.

Railroads reported the largest increase in the major industrial groups with a 314 per cent rise, In 1939, working capital was 349 millions compared with 1 billion 444 millions in June, 1944.

The 818 corporations in the manufacturing group reported a net increase of from 8 billion 592 millions to 13 billion 106 millions with war industries showing a 70 per cent increase compared with the 34 per cent increase for nonwar companies.

Aircraft Percentage Mounts.

The most spectacular rise was the 611 per cent reported for the 25 aircraft companies included in the manufacturing group. Automobile companies showed a 99 per cent gain.

Classified by asset size, the study disclosed that companies with assets of less than 5 millions reported a net working capital increase of 68 per cent compared with 55 per cent for companies with assets between 5 millions and 100 millions and 50 per cent for companies with assets of more than 100 millions.

APPROVE ADDED CAPACITY FOR 3 CHICAGO PLANTS

WPB announced in Washington, D. C., yesterday approval of the construction of four plants and expansion of six others, three of them in the Chicago area, to increase production of sulphuric acid for explosives and chemicals about 550,200 tons annually. Among expansions approved were those of the General Chemical company, Chicago, 40,000 tons new capacity; E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co., East Chicago, 36,000 tons, and Stauffer Chemical company, Hammond, 43,000 tons.

U.S. SPENDING, BORROWING SET PEAKS IN 1944

Average Income Rises

Average income per capita more than doubled during the five year period from 1938 to 1943, rising from $511 to an all time high of $1,031 last year, 52 per cent above the "boom" year of 1929, the Federation of Tax Administrators reported yesterday. The $511 figure represents the so-called business "recession" of 1938 which brought income payments down to the 1931 level.

Washington, D. C., Dec 28 (AP).—In 1944 the United States government collected more, spent more, and borrowed more money than ever before in its history and established new world records which many stand a long time.

However, the deficit—the amount by which spending exceeded income—did not set a record, and that is considered good news. It was still huge—52 billion dollars—but in 1943 it was 53½ billion.

Treasury Statements Analyzed.

Net receipts, mostly taxes, will be nearly 45 billion dollars. Last year they were 34½ billion. In pre-war 1939, they were about 5 billion.

Total expenditures, not counting several billions spent by government corporations, will hit 97 billion dollars. Last year they were 88 billion. In 1939 less than 10 billion.

If net receipts are subtracted from total expenditures, the result is the deficit of 52 billion.

Of the 97 billion expenditures, war spending was about 89 billion. Adding 1½ billion spent on the war by the Reconstruction Finance corporation, the grand total of 1944 war costs is more than 90 billion.

Debt Increase Sets Peak.

To pay for the war, the government increased its public debt by a record-breaking 62 billion dollars. For the first time, three war loans were held in one year.

The total debt, including obligations guaranteed by the government, rose from 170 to 232 billion dollars.

Borrowing of 62 billion in 1944 was enough to take care of the 52 billion deficit and, in addition, raise the net treasury balance by 10 billion. This balance was 12 billion a year ago. It is about 22 billion now.

SHOE COUPONS, OTHER STAMPS TO STAND: OPA

Further Sudden Changes Denied by District Chief.

There will be no sudden cancellation of ration stamps, including the three currently valid shoe stamps, Rae E. Walters, regional price administrator, said yesterday as the local office of price administration office sought to work itself out of a welter of telephone and personal calls caused by last Saturday's edicts by Price Administrator Bowles.

Walters' announcement followed reports that Chicago shoe stores had advised customers to leave their No. 3 books with them with the assurance that holders would be protected against an overnight cancellation of airplane stamps 1 and 2, which have been good for eight and 14 months, respectively. No. 3 was validated Nov. 1.

He said the OPA had no plans to cancel any more stamps, and added that few airplane 1 and 2 stamps remain in consumers' books.

Time for Banking Stamps.

Walters and Marion W. Isbell, area director of the OPA, said they had not been advised that there will be any change in the retailers' redemption period of all red and blue stamps issued before Dec. 1 and all sugar stamps except 34, which were canceled by Washington. The stamps and sugar coupons, including canning certificates, were made invalid for consumers effective last Tuesday.

Smaller stores which do not have ration accounts at banks now have 30 days in which to turn in red and blue stamps to their suppliers, and 10 days in which to redeem sugar certificates. Large stores have 40 days for banking the stamps and 10 days for sugar coupons. Washington reports yesterday said the OPA planned to shorten these redemption periods to five days.

Isbell said his office had received complaints that three stores were continuing to sell sugar and canned vegetables on invalidated coupons, but that investigators reported "very few" stores were taking advantage of the 30 day redemption period to sell food in return for canceled stamps.

Violations Mean Suspension.

"We always have a few chiselers, but these stores are only taking needless chances," Isbell said. "If they are caught violating the regulations they face suspension from business."

Investigators will check on stores suspected of taking expired coupons and those which have extra heavy deposits must submit them for checking against previous months' deposits.

He said he did not believe stocks were being depleted seriously because most stores have refused to accept the canceled stamps.

TEACHER GROUP PROBES REPORTS OF INTIMIDATION

John J. DeBoer, former director of English practice teaching at Chicago Teachers' college, and Butler Laughlin, former principal of Lindblom High school, may be called to testify today or tomorrow before a committee of the National Education association investigating treatment of Chicago teachers. The probe is designed to determine whether there has been intimidation of teachers by the school administration or obstruction of teachers' academic freedom.

The committee of educators selected from outside Illinois by Donald Du Shane, executive secretary of the N. E. A. commission for the defense of democracy thru education, held its first meeting yesterday in the Stevens hotel. DuShane said members considered reports prepared by Harold M. Perry, the committee's investigator, who has been gathering information here several weeks.

Dr. Alonzo Myers of New York university and chairman of the N. E. A. democracy commission, said the investigators are not disposed to pre-judge the Chicago school system. He said he regretted the board of education had pre-judged the investigation when it voted against coöperation on the ground that it could serve no useful purpose and was a "fishing investigation."

Tells of Daze

MRS. NINA HOUSDEN.

Detroit, Dec. 28 (AP).—After being informed Mrs. Nina Housden had complained of a "dazed condition," Circuit Judge Ira W. Jayne today refused to accept her plea of guilt in the slaying of her husband, whose dismembered body was found in Toledo last Saturday.

Judge Jayne said he would appoint an attorney to represent Mrs. Housden and advise her how to plead to the charge of first degree murder.

Prosecutor Julian G. McIntosh told the court the 33 year old defendant had said she had been subject to constant headaches for 18 months. The prosecutor said the woman confessed she strangled her husband, Charles, in her Highland Park apartment Dec. 19.

"After her husband's death," McIntosh said, "she said she felt normal again."

Police Aid Birth

THE BABY.

Everything at the Woodlawn police station was under control at 9:30 a. m. yesterday, but a minute later Frances Watkins, 20, of 7218 Cornell av., rushed into the station to become a mother.

Sgt. Wilbur Franklin.

Before a doctor could arrive Lt. Lawrence Vodvoricka and Sgt. Wilbur Franklin had attended the birth of a 6 pound girl. Dr. Samuel J. Russel, 1501 E. 63d pl., later pronounced both mother and daughter doing well and complimented the policemen on their efficiency.

The mother and baby were taken later to County hospital. Miss Watkins said a soldier, who was killed in France, was the father of her baby.

ILLINOIS TECH BIDS FAREWELL TO VAGTBORG

A farewell dinner was given in the Chicago club last night by the trustees and senior staff members of the Illinois Institute of Technology for Harold Vagtborg, director of the Armour Research foundation, an affiliate of the institute.

Vagtborg has resigned from the Armour foundation, effective Jan. 1, to take over the directorship of the Midwest Research foundation at Kansas City, Mo. He has been on the staff of the institute since 1931 as a professor of municipal and sanitary engineering.

Speakers at the dinner praised his achievements in engineering and wished him success in his new position. The guest of honor, who was born in Copenhagen, Denmark, 40 years ago, is a graduate of the University of Illinois and of the technological institute.

Wholesale Grocer Gets Suspension in Sugar Case

John R. Allen, chief regional hearing commissioner, yesterday suspended Holleb & Co., 167 South Water market, a wholesale grocery firm, for five days after Seymour Holleb, secretary, testified that certificates covering 80,000 pounds of an alleged shortage of 147,000 pounds of sugar had been recovered since Nov. 17. He said the company never had applied for loss allowances granted for packaging and handling of sugar.

OPA DENOUNCED FOR 'SWINDLING' U.S. HOUSEWIVES

Washington, D. C., Dec. 28 (AP).—The office of price administration and Economic Stabilizer Vinson were accused today by Rep. Andresen [R., Minn.] of having swindled millions of "thrifty American housewives."

This, Andresen said in a statement, resulted when Vinson and OPA Boss Bowles "conspired to issue the new ration order which canceled unused red and blue stamps."

WFA By-Passed in Move.

Andresen, a member of the Republican congressional food study committee, said he is convinced that the war food administration was "by-passed and not consulted when the OPA fixed up this Christmas present for the American people—especially when we consider the latest report from the department of agriculture."

That report, he recalled, stated that "this year [1944] total production of food was the highest in history.

"Deliberate Cheat."

"I hate to see my government deliberately cheat patriotic Americans who are doing everything possible to help win the war and back their boys on the fighting fronts," he added. "We need more honesty on the part of our officials in their dealings with the people."

Andresen recalled a speech he made in the house last May in which he predicted that after the election "the New Deal will reinstate and make more drastic all rationing policies to further regiment and socialize the economy of our country."

FALLING WATER LEVEL PERIL TO WISCONSIN SPA

Waukesha, Wis., Dec. 28 [Special].—This famous spa of the gay '90s whose sparkling waters from wells hundreds of feet deep attracted wealthy and socially prominent health seekers from all parts of the country, is in danger of losing its position as the bottled water capital of the United States, A. P. Kuranz, manager of the Waukesha Water Utility, predicted today.

He said the famous spring water is in danger of being exhausted; that since 1936 his department has recorded a general lowering of the level of the water, the supply of which was thought in past years to be inexhaustible.

The water official said that the utility has supplies on hand for sinking its three wells 30 feet deeper, and is prepared to sink a fourth well. The three are 1,918, 1,783, and 1,907 feet deep. Bigger pumps and deeper settings can be used, he said, but the deeper the wells are dug, the faster the water recedes.

HAMMOND NABS STRANGER WITH $204 GIFT OF GAB

The stranger who visited M. L. Jenks' tavern at 512 Sibley st., Hammond, Ind., Wednesday night related to the owner that he had been around the world twice.

"He told some hair raising stories," Jenks later reported to Policeman Leo Paulik. "I was tired and fell asleep. When I woke up, $204 and a bottle of my best whisky were gone."

The policeman went to the Hammond railroad yards to which he suspected the traveler might be headed and arrested Harry Manis, 30, of Newport, Ky., in a box car. Manis had the money and whisky in his possession, police said.

OPA FORECASTS SLASH IN RETAIL PRICES OF SHOES

Washington, D. C., Dec. 28 (AP).—The office of price administration tonight predicted a cut in retail prices for shoes and shoe repairing, but said it could not estimate the extent.

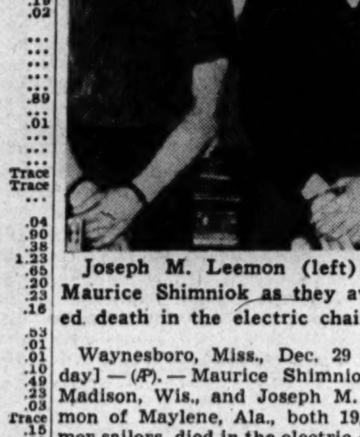

Lower ceiling prices are expected to result, the OPA said, from a reduction of producer and wholesaler prices for leather, effective Jan. 29.

Action to bring retail prices in line will be taken subsequently, the agency said.

WRIST BROKEN IN FALL.

Die for Murder

Waynesboro, Miss., Dec. 29 [Friday] — (AP). — Maurice Shimniok of Madison, Wis., and Joseph M. Leemon of Maylene, Ala., both 19, former sailors, died in the electric chair early today for the murder of former Sheriff Thomas S. Boykin of Wayne county in November, 1943.

Both men said they were ready to die and asked their parents to be brave.

Leemon went to the chair first and was pronounced dead at 1 a. m. After the first shock was administered to Shimniok nine minutes later, doctors found that he was still alive and a second shock was given. He was pronounced dead at 1:17 a. m.

Decree Denied

MRS. PHYLLIS L. JOHNSON.

Mrs. Phyllis L. Johnson, 20, of 6006 N. Paulina st., wife of Carl W. Johnson, 23, former pitcher for the Chicago Cubs baseball team, was denied a divorce by Judge Joseph Sabath in Superior court yesterday because she did not ask enough support for her children, Carol Louise, 3 years old, and Gerald, 15 months.

Mrs. Johnson, in court with Atty. Edward L. S. Arkema, charged Johnson deserted her Dec. 1, 1942. They were married March 1, 1941. Johnson, of 1628 Balmoral av., is a war plant expediter this winter, but his wife said he will pitch for a Cubs farm team in the spring. She said he spent most of his time practicing or playing ball, and had little time left for his family.

When she asked $12 a week support for the children, explaining that she planned to leave them with relatives in Seattle, Wash., while she took a job, Judge Sabath said it would not be fair to the children. He ordered Johnson to appear in court today.

LIFER WHO SLEW MOTHER-IN-LAW, SON, LOSES PLEA

Gov. Green yesterday denied executive clemency to William M. Evans, 27, who was sentenced to life imprisonment in 1941 for the murder of his mother-in-law and his son, Douglas, 2. Evans also stabbed his wife, Nedra, a former model, who has since divorced him and remarried. It was the second plea for clemency made by Evans, who is in Joliet penitentiary.

Gov. Green's order also denied clemency to 58 other prison inmates, including Art Newman, a southern Illinois gang leader, who was sentenced to life imprisonment in 1929 for the murder of Mayor Joseph Adams of West City and State Policeman Lory Price.

Other Cook county convicts whose pleas were denied were Mills Redmond, sentenced in 1935 to serve 40 years for murdering Miss Marion Cozzo, then 18, whose body he concealed in a street sewer; Samuel Hryciuk, serving a life sentence for rape; and Frank Piunti, under 25 year sentence for the murder of Policeman Harold J. Koehncke of Dolton in 1932.

FORUM DECIDES CIVIL SERVICE SHOULD BE THAT

One of the principal aims of the civil service system should be not so much the protection of the employe in his job as the providing of good service to the public, it was brought out last night at a panel discussion of civil service at the City club meeting in the La Salle hotel.

J. J. Donovan, acting director of the Civil Service assembly of the United States and Canada, presided over the panel, which included Clarence E. Ridley, director of the National City Managers' association; L. C. Gibson, chief field representative of the bureau of the budget; Joseph A. Connor, regional director of the United States civil service commission, and G. J. Klupar, Chicago welfare administrator.

The meeting was sponsored by the Chicago area chapter of the American Society for Public Administration.

MEAT PROMISED TO NEW YORKERS FOR NEW YEAR'S

New York, Dec. 28 (AP).—Hungry New Yorkers today looked to a more bountiful New Year as city officials promised at least 12,000,000 pounds of meat would be available at wholesalers next week.

As the number of closed butcher shops decreased sharply, City Markets Commissioner Henry M. Brundage announced after a meeting with industry representatives and Mayor Fiorella La Guardia that the "meat supply is substantially improved." A police survey of 6,142 butcher shops showed 1,271 closed today in comparison to 2,142 out of 6,088 closed yesterday.

Albert T. Wendel, chairman of the New York City Retail Meat Dealers' Action committee, said the 12,000,000 pounds of meat promised would help the situation "if it gets to the retail trade."

"It'll be a big help if it doesn't go to lend-lease and other channels," he added.

Mrs. Ruth Hanna Simms Makes Further Gains

Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick Simms, 64, who is convalescing in Billings hospital after a major operation performed Dec. 4, was reported "slightly better" yesterday afternoon. It was the second day on which improvement in her condition had been reported after a setback on Tuesday. Mrs. Simms, a Republican leader and publisher of two newspapers in Rockford, Ill., lives near Albuquerque, N. M.

HOLD EX-SEAMAN WHO ASSERTS HE KILLED HEIRESS

San Francisco, Cal., Dec. 28.—Nat J. L. Pieper, federal bureau of investigation chief, today said an ex-seaman in the United States navy voluntarily had confessed he killed Georgette Bauerdorf, 20, oil heiress, in Los Angeles, Cal., last Oct. 12. He was turned over to police.

John L. Sumter.

Inspectors William Hansen and Louis Lang reported after talking to the man, who gave his name as John Lehman Sumter, 22, of Cuthbert, Ga., that it appeared he had been discharged from the navy in 1940 after treatment as a mental patient. They also said the man told them he served two years in Leavenworth for forgery. They expressed some skepticism about his confession.

Sumter was carrying a clipping from a detective magazine containing an article about the slaying of Miss Bauerdorf, who was found strangled in her bathtub. She was the daughter of George Bauerdorf, wealthy oil and mining man.

Tavern Owner's Caution Saves $1,000 in Holdup

George Guraly, 53, became suspicious of two Negroes who entered his tavern at 1250 Adams st., Gary, Ind., yesterday. He transferred $1,000 from his pockets to a hiding place behind the bar. A few minutes later the men drew revolvers, took the $2 which remained in Guraly's pockets and $2 from the cash register, and missed the rest.
